GREAT BRITAIN PLUNGED INTO MAELSTROM OF WAR

Gives Germany Hours to Quit Belgium, Has Ordered Army Mobilized and Voted a Half Billion for War.

London, Aug. 4.—Great Britain today sent a practical ultimatum to Germany demanding a satisfactory reply by midnight tonight on the subject of Belgian neutrality.

KING GEORGE ORDERS HIS ARMY MOBILIZED.

London, Aug. 4.—A proclamation by King George, commanding the mobilization of the British army, was read today from the steps of the Royal Exchange. A huge crowd cheered and sang the British national anthem.

BRITISH COMMONS VOTES MONEY FOR THE WAR.

London, Aug. 4.—The house of commons today voted $525,000,000 for emergency purposes and passed several bills in five minutes without a dissenting voice.

GERMANY THREATENS BELGIUM WITH FORCE.

London, Aug. 4.—A second ultimatum sent by Germany to Belgium, declared that Germany was prepared to carry through by force of arms, if necessary, any measures she considers essential.

Germany's second ultimatum was delivered by the German minister in Brussels late last night as the reply of Germany to the refusal of Belgium to accede to Germany's first ultimatum.

London, Aug. 4.—Premier Asquith in the house of commons confirmed the sending to Germany of a request that she should give the same assurance of the neutrality of Belgium as France had done and that her reply should be sent to England before midnight.

Mr. Asquith said that a telegram had been sent early this morning to Sir Edward Goschen, British ambassador in Berlin, to the following effect:

"The king of the Belgians has appealed to his Britannic majesty's government for diplomatic intervention on behalf of Belgium. The British government is also informed that the German government has delivered to the Belgian government a note proposing friendly neutrality pending a free passage of German troops through Belgium and promising to maintain the independence and integrity of the kingdom and its possessions on the conclusions of peace, threatening in case of refusal to treat Belgium as an enemy."

Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, requested an answer within 12 hours.

Germany's Message to Britain.

Premier Asquith then read a telegram from the German foreign minister which the German ambassador in London had sent to Edward Grey today. It was as follows:

"Please dispel any distrust that may subsist on the part of the British government with regard to our intentions by repeating most positively the formal assurance that even in case of armed conflict with Belgium, Germany will under no pretensions whatever annex Belgian territory."

The reading of this telegram was greeted with derisive laughter by the members of the house.

The premier continued: "We understand that Belgium catergorically refused to assent to a flagrant violation of the law of nations.

"His majesty's government was bound to protest against this violation of a treaty to which Germany was a party in common with England and must request an assurance that the demand made upon Belgium by Germany be not proceeded with and that Belgium's neutrality be respected by Germany and we have asked for an immediate reply.

Belgium Tells of Threat.

"We received this morning from our minister in Brussels the following telegram:

"'The German minister has this morning addressed a note to the Belgian minister for foreign affairs stating that as the Belgian government has declined a well-intentioned proposal submitted to it by the imperial German government the latter deeply to its regret will be compelled to carry out, if necessary by force of arms, the measures considered indispensable in view of the [illegible]

legation here the following telegram from the Belgian minister of foreign affairs:

"'The Belgian general staff announces that Belgian territory has been violated at Vrviers, near Aix-la-Chapelle.'

"Subsequent inormation tends to show that a German force has penetrated still further into Belgian territory.

Another Note from Germany.

"We also received this note this morning from the German ambassador here: 'Please dispel any distrust that may subsist on the part of the British government with regard to our intentions by repeating most positively the formal assurance that even in case of armed conflict with Belgium, Germany will under no pretensions whatever, annex Belgian territory. The sincerity of this declaration is borne out by the fact that we have solemnly pledged our word to Holland strictly to respect her neutrality. It is obvious that we could not profitably annex Belgian territory without making territorial acquisition at the expense of Holland.

"'Please impress upon Sir Edward Grey that the German army could not remain exposed to a French attack across Belgium which was planned according to absolutely unimpeachable information. Germany has as a consequence disregarded Belgian neutrality

AMERICANS TIED UP IN GERMANY

None Will Be Allowed to Leave Until Mobilization is Complete.

Washington, Aug. 4.—No Americans can leave Germany for the present. Through the German embassy at Newport, the state department has been informed that during the progress of mobilization no foreigners will be permitted to depart.

The German order applies alike to men, women and children, although its purpose is to prevent the flight from Germany of men eligible for military service under pretext of citizenship. The inclusion of women and children in the decree is explained by the apprehension that valuable military information regarding the process of mobilization and especially the points of concentration of the German military forces [illegible]

American Cruiser Tennessee Will Carry Gold to Europe.

PLAN TO GET THE TOURISTS HOME

Measures Taken by Federal Government to Rescue the War-Bound.

Washington, Aug. 4.—President Wilson today sent to congress a special message asking for immediate appropriation of $2,500,000 for relief of Americans abroad, in accordance with the plan approved by him this morning.

The president's message follows:

"After further consideration of the existing conditions in Europe insofar as it is affecting citizens of the United States who are there without means, financial or otherwise, to return to their homes in this country, it seems incumbent upon the government to take steps at once to provide adequate means, by the chartering of vessels, or otherwise of bringing Americans out of the disturbed regions and conveying them to their homes in the United States.

"Moreover, in view of the difficulty of obtaining money upon letters of credit, with which most Americans abroad are supplied, it will be necessary to send abroad with funds which can be advanced on such evidences of credit, or used for the assistance of destitute citizens of the United States.

"In these circumstances I recommend the immediate passage by the congress of an act appropriating $2,500,000 or as much thereof as may be necessary to be placed at the disposal of the president for the relief, protection and transportation of American citizens and for personal services, rent and other expenses which may be incurred in the District of Columbia [illegible]

Missing North German Lloyd Liner, Kronprinzessin Cecelie, Shows Up Safely at Bar Harbor, Maine

PUT ABOUT AND SCUDDED TO THIS SIDE

Barr Harbor, Me., Aug. 4.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kronprinzessin Cecelie carrying more than $10,000,000 in gold and whose whereabouts have been more or less of a mystery since she sailed from New York last Tuesday, arrived in the harbor here today.

The Cecelie dropped anchor here at 6 o'clock this morning after a forced run of four days, her officers fearing capture.

With a cargo of ten millions in gold and a million in silver consigned to French and English bankers, with an estimated value of over $5,000,000 in herself, the Kronprinzessin Cecelie has constituted probably the finest sea prize ever open to capture.

Every Porthole Blanketed.

As she crept along the Maine coast into the harbor under the cover of night, each deck, at every porthole, was blanketed with canvas so that no gleam of light betrayed her whereabouts. Her four stout stacks had been tipped with black paint so she resembled an English steamship.

At one time capture seemed imminent. Captain Charles Polack reported on Sunday that he had intercepted a wireless message from one French vessel to another giving warning of the Cecelie's proximity but under the protection of a providential fog, the North German Lloyd liner escaped.

The Kronprinzessin Cecelie left New York early last Tuesday morning bound for Bremen via Plymouth and Cherbourg.

She had 350 first class, 130 second class and 736 steerage passengers. About a third of the first class are Germans who sailed to anticipate the war crisis whose sudden precipitation drove them back to America. Most of the rest are Americans. Friday night while a dance was in progress one of the passengers noticed that the position of the moon had unaccountably shifted to the port side of the ship. Before the significance was realized the captain called the men into the smoking room.

Return to America Announced.

"Gentlemen," he said, "war has been declared between Germany, France [illegible] nest hope that we shall not be intercepted by foreign war vessels."

There was nervous laughter, applause, oaths, congratulations, protests, which gave way to a grave state of apprehension as the seriousness of the situation became apparent. Electric lights were turned off and the ship was covered from prow to stern in a shroud of

FRANCE AND GERMANY DECLARE AN ENMITY

French War Minister Announces War is Declared and Germany Makes it Known to United States

ATROCITIES ARE CHARGED TO GERMANY

BULLETIN.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—A bill was introduced in the German imperial parliament today providing for the appropriation of $1,250,000,000 to meet the expenses of the war.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The French minister of war today issued the following note:

"The German ambassador has demanded his passports and diplomatic relations between France and Germany have been broken off.

"War is declared.

"The first act of the Germans, according to information from an authoritative source to the minister of war, was to execute M. Samin, former president of the War society, who lived in Metz, and to imprison all the members of that society."

GERMANY ANNOUNCES WAR.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The German embassy served notice on the United States today that a "state of war" exists between France and Germany. It is tantamount to a declaration of war, but technically different.

The notice from the German embassy at Newport is practically the same as the announcement in Berlin last night by the German premier in which he sought to place upon France full responsibility for the beginning of hostilities. The notice justifies the United States and other neutral countries in the issue of formal proclamations of neutrality and sets in motion all of the legal machinery necessary to empower the German government itself to proceed as in the case of an actual declaration of war.

The only difference noted here between the two forms is that the "state of war" announcement still relieves the German government of liability for the initiation of hostilities such as would be carried by the issue of a formal declaration of war, a point which will figure largely in the negotiations which must close hostilities in the end.

FRANCE GETTING WAR FUNDS.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The French government intends to introduce into parliament today several bills to meet the expenses of the war and to regulate business. One of the measures will authorize the Bank of France to increase its note issue to $2,400,000,000. Only July 30 the notes in circulation amounted to about $1,340,000,000. This meas-

PIZARO GIVES ODD CONTEST

Twenty Ladies to Drive Nails and Saw Wood at Pizaro's Show. Crowds Grow Larger Nightly. Office at 215 W. Berry St. Crowded Daily With People From Far and Near.

It reminds one of a carnival or circus day to see the vast crowds that attend Pizaro's lectures and concerts nightly. Never in the history of Fort Wayne has a man attracted such large crowds and seems to hold them spell-bound by his magnetic talk. Pizaro is a peculiar character and makes many friends. Pizaro's medicines seem to be helping a great many people here and hundreds are calling to thank him for what benefit they have obtained by the use of his remedies. We who are well cannot realise what days and weeks and months of suffering mean. Good health after all is worth more than anything else in the world, his medicine cures and helps the sick man, woman or child and when they are helped they are the most grateful people in the world.

ODD CONTEST.

Tonight Pizaro expects a large crowd as twenty ladies are expected to drive nails. Thursday night another big contest, ten ladies will saw wood. Every night this week Pizaro will give big features. Friday night another amateur contest.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All persons wishing to meet Pizaro's doctor must call at his office at 215 W. Berry street. Examination and consultation free to all who call this week.

LATE WAR BULLETINS.

Brussels, Aug. 4.—A special train carrying all the securities of the National bank of Belgium left here for Antwerp during the night.

Paris, Aug. 4.—A German army aeroplane last evening dropped three bombs on the French fortified town of Luneville to the southeast of Nancy. Some property damage was caused but there were no casualities. German troops continued throughout the night to harrass the French outposts along the frontier by making numerous raids into French territory. The French however, refused to be drawn beyond the six mile zone left unoccupied along the frontier.

Paris, Aug. 4.—German troops today crossed into French territory near Marsla-Tour where one of the most important battles of the Franco-Prussian war was fought August 16, 1870.

Tokio, Aug. 4.—The Japanese foreign office today issued a statement that if the war extends to the far east and England is involved in it, Japan may find it necessary to participate in fulfillment of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

London, Aug. 4.—The German cruiser Breslau bombarded the French naval station of Bona, Algeria, at 4 o'clock this morning afterward steaming off at full speed in a westerly direction, according to a dispatch received at the French embassy here.

London, Aug. 4.—Dowager Empress Marie Feodorowna of Russia is reported to have reached Copenhagen whence she will try to get to St. Petersburg by way of Sweden and Finland. She was on her way to the Russian capital from a visit to England when she was stopped in Berlin and turned back by the German authorities.

London, Aug. 4.—American firms with offices in London were overwhelmed today with orders for canned meats. The prices quoted for this article of consumption have jumped from 10 to 30 per cent. in the past few days.

London, Aug. 4.—German troops today made a further invasion of Belgian territory near Vrviers, to the east of Liege, according to a dispatch to the French embassy here from the French legation at Brussels.

Paris, Aug. 4.—Nearly 2,000 Americans are to sail for the United States on board the French liner France, whose officers have consented to give up their cabins in order to provide accommodations for passengers. Jean Jules Jusserand, the French ambassador to the United States, has booked his passage on this vessel.

Vienna, Aug. 4.—The United States embassy here has undertaken the protection of French citizens resident in Austria-Hungary.

Brussels, Aug. 4.—Rumors were in circulated today that Germany had actually declared war on Belgium. German troops crossed the frontier at Gemmenich near the junction of the Dutch-Belgian and German frontiers.

London, Aug. 4.—According to the Times some cabinet changes are immediately expected and it is virtually settled that Premier Asquith will entrust the portfolio of war to other hands, probably to Field Marshal Lord Kitchener. The idea of a coalition war cabinet is repugnant to liberal papers and according to the liberal chief whip, there is an intention to form a ministry of that sort.

Stockholm, Aug. 4.—A bill proposing a moratorium, was introduced in parliament today. There are 3,000 Russians here with no possibility of their being able to return home.

London, Aug. 4.—Viscount Morley of Blackburn, did not attend today's meeting of the British cabinet council and this was taken as an indication that he had resigned office as lord president of the council.

Brussels, Aug. 4.—The Chronique announces that the Belgian authorities have seized the wireless installation set up by the German school in the Belgian capital.

ing out of the existing disturbance in Europe.

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."

CRUISER TENNESSEE TO GO.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The armored cruiser Tennessee will sail from New York at 8 p. m. tomorrow with between five and eight millions in gold for Americans in Europe.

The sources from which all the gold will be taken had not been fully determined today, but will be arranged further by conferences between officials and New York bankers.

Assistant Secretary Breckenridge, of the war department and a representative of the American Express will sail on the Tennessee.

President Approves Plans.

President Wilson today approved the detailed plans which were drawn up last night at a conference between Secretary Bryan, Secretary McAdoo, Robert Lansing, solicitor of the state department and counsel for the American Express company, and Bejamin Strong, New York banker. Congress will be asked to empower Secretary McAdoo to appoint fiscal agents in Europe to supervise the expenditure of the $2,500,000 fund which will be in addition to the $250,000 appropriated yesterday.

A. C. Miller, of the federal reserve board, will work out the details of the relief plan and to aid him trained men from the war and navy department who are specialists in transportation will be assigned to give their full cooperation.

Will Try to Get Ships.

Mr. Miller first will get into touch with steamship companies to get their co-operation and find what vessel will be available. In order to get gold to Europe, arrangements will be made to send a United States vessel with the consent of foreign governments under the regulations of the United States to the countries involved in the war. The state department today notified diplomatic and consular officers abroad to assemble all Americans in the countries involved and have them ready to embark for home.

Officials have been told that it will be possible to get steamers from the coast wise service and arrangements are being made to charter the necessary number.

TENNESSEE IS CHOSEN.

The armored cruiser Tennessee will be used for sending gold to Europe, in accordance with the plan announced today at the white house. The nations involved in the war will be informed of the purpose for which the gold is being sent to Europe in order that no complications may follow.

Mr. Miller conferred with Secretary Garrison today over the use of army transports. Mr. Garrison explained there were twelve army transports at Galveston, three government owned and the others under charter which could be sent to European ports. The vessels would afford accommodations for thousands of refugees but only a few could be provided with cabin passage. The twenty-one military attaches at European embassies and legations would be put at work to facilitate the transportation.

President Wilson today signed the bill passed yesterday appropriating the first $250,000 for relief of Americans abroad.

ALL CHECKS WILL BE CASHED.

New York, Aug. 4.—Five million dollars gold, private funds, are immediately available for shipment to London and Paris for relief of Americans in Europe and will be sent by an American vessel, warship or otherwise, which the government may designate. Out of this fund there will be cashed travelers' checks held by stranded Americans, no matter by what American banks the checks may have been issued; and where Americans abroad do not hold travelers' checks funds will be advanced them upon their own personal checks on American banks.

Announcement to this effect was made today by Louis M. Porter, manager of the bureau of public relations of the American Express company. Mr. Porter said that the money had been raised by the express companies and the Bankers' Trust company, of this city, and that the two concerns expected definite reply tonight for their request that they be made the government's financial agents abroad and disburse the $250,000 already appropriated by congress.

"We are taking this step," Mr. Porter said, "simply because we realize that somebody must come to the relief of our countrymen abroad. We have been swamped with telegrams from all over the country asking us to help. We do not expect to profit by the misfortunes of Americans in Europe and therefore will make no charge for our services.

"We would prefer that the money should be sent by an American warship but are willing to send it by any vessel the government may charter."

TREASURE SHIP IN AMERICAN PORT

canvas. This smothered whatever beams of light escaped through chinks in the stateroom windows. According to the ship's log, she was then 46.46 north latitude, 36.21 west longitude.

Two Days Out of Plymouth.

In two days she would have docked at Plymouth. A group of financiers on board offered to buy the ship and sail her under American colors. But to all proposals the captain replied that his duty was spelled by his orders from Bremen which instructed him to turn back and save his ship. There was a stampede for the wireless, but the captain announced that no messages would be sent for fear of betraying the ship's location.

The American port which the captain would try to make was a matter for unlimited speculation. It was not until the passengers awoke this morning in sight of the green Maine hills that the liner's destination became certain. For two nights, with her head and side lights extinguished and every other illumination blotted out with canvas, the Kronprinzessin Cecelie plunged through the fog with unreduced speed and without sounding her fog horn.

Wanted to Escape Capture.

Captain Polack's explanation to a delegation of passengers who protested against fast running under such conditions was that it was his motive to save his ship from capture. He added that he did not consider the danger appreciable as he was not on the usual path.

For a time the protest against what the passengers looked upon as a disposition on the part of the captain to risk their lives threatened to take the form of a written demand that he reduce the speed of the ship.

The captain's only concession was to sound the fog horn.

When the vessel steamed safely into Bar Harbor today he received a long line of passengers, who congratulated him on his achievement. Captain Polack is a lieutenant commander in the German naval reserves.

At 9 o'clock today the ship was waiting the arrival of boarding officers. Among the passengers were Congressman A. J. Barchfeld, of Pennsylvania; Richard Bartholdt, of Missouri; C. Ledyard Blair, of New York; Gov. Charles R. Miller, of Delaware, and Samuel Newhouse, the copper magnate of Utah and New York.

Captain Polack said he was awaiting advices from his line offices in New York.

Can't Get to New York.

"I can see no possibility of taking this ship to New York from here with safety," he said. "To avoid foreign vessels we should have to keep within the three mile limit and to accomplish this, the ship would have to be built like a canoe. We have reached an American port in safety and that was more than I had dared to hope. We have been in almost constant danger of capture and we can consider ourselves extremely lucky to have come out so well.

"I know I have been criticized for making too great speed under bad weather conditions, but I have not wilfully endangered the lives of the passengers. I would rather have lost the whole ship and cargo than have assumed any such risk. Of course, aside from this consideration, my only aim has been to save my ship and cargo from capture.

"I have not been acting on my initiative but under orders from the North German Lloyd in Bremen, and although I am an officer in the German navy my duty has been to the steamship line."

Belligerents Use Words.

Col. G. F. B. Cobbett, an English military officer whose chagrin at not being able to join the army was apparent to every one on board, was one of the few English on the ship. There were a number of German officers. Oral duels and international warfare in the smokingroom helped to divert the minds of the passengers who were inclined to misgivings. To some sleep was impossible. The dark, foggy nights were long vigils until this morning's sun burst its way through the mist that has hung over the North Atlantic. The only gleam of light that relieved the dead blackness was where the ships stirred.

It took several of the ship's officers to restrain passengers from crowding into the small launches that came to the ship's side this morning. A man who managed to get a newspaper from one of the launches was all but mobbed.

Bar Harbor Excited.

The little village of Bar Harbor with its summer colony was all astir before its usual hour to witness the unprecedented spectacle of a big ocean liner anchored just off shore. The smokestacks painted by the crew the morning after the Cecelie turned on her course, led the inhabitants of the village to think that by some strange chance the Olympic had wandered into port; then word went around that it was the missing Cecelie with its famous cargo of gold, and curiosity became feverish.

LINE'S FINEST SHIP.

New York, Aug. 4.—The Kronprincessin Cecelie is the finest ship of the North German Lloyd fleet. News of her safe arrival at Bar Harbor was received at the line offices here in a telegram from Captain Polack. Until his message was received the line was apparently in the dark as to the vessel's movements since steaming out of New York harbor.

The gold aboard the vessel—more than $10,000,000—was consigned by New York bankers to London and Paris. Officers of one of the great international banks concerned, said today that the metal would now probably be landed at Bar Harbor and returned to New York by express.

GERMAN CRUISERS NEAR.

New York, Aug. 4.—The Belgian steamer Vaderland of the Red Star line arrived today from Antwerp and Dover. The steamer sailed before the war broke out so that the passengers knew only what they heard by wireless from this side.

Captain Praeger said the wireless man reported two days ago that the German cruisers Breslau and Karlsruhe [illegible] but it was thought that they were to the eastward of the liner.

ANOTHER CECELIE IN PORT.

Falmouth, Eng., Aug. 4.—The Kronprinzessin Cecelie of the Hamburg-American line, which life New York July 25 for Hamburg, put in here today. She bears the same name as the North German Lloyd steamer which reached Bar Harbor, Me., this morning.

ure is to exempt the Bank of France from paying out coin in exchange for its notes—in other words, as the semi-official summary of the bill say—"to authorize the institution of forced currency."

A second measure to be introduced will extend the moratorium to other debts, including house rent.

The government will ask for ratification of an agreement with the bank of France by which funds can be advanced by it to the government. The government also will request parliament to authorize the opening of the necessary credits to meet expenses and to obtain resources by a simple decree.

Diplomats Accuse.

Before diplomatic relations and France and Germany were formally severed last night, Baron von Schoen, the German ambassador, in an official letter to the French government, declared French aviators had flown over German and Belgian territory and that in the presence of these premediated acts of aggression by the French the German government considered itself as in a state of war with France.

Premier Viviani in reply protested against the allegations regarding the French aviators and reminded the German ambassador that France had presented a note on Saturday last in reference to the violation of French territory by Germany.

In reply to the ambassador's declaration that a state of war existed Premier Viviani asked the German government to hand to the French ambassador in Berlin his passports.

Ambassador Jules Cambon has been instructed before leaving Berlin to protset to the German government against its violation of the territory of Luxumber and against the presentation of a German ultimatum to Belgium.

Further reports from Lunaville indicate that great excitement was caused there by the dropping of bombs from a German aeroplane. One of the main thoroughfares was damaged and also a large barn but nobody was injured.

DECLINES SERVICE OF PRINCE.

Paris, Aug. 4.—President Poincare today received Prince Roland Bonaparte, who placed his services at the disposal of the French government offering to join the army as a soldier and to place his residence in the hands of the authorities for hospital purposes. The president thanked the prince for his offer but said he was confronted by the terms of the law which did not permit a member of the former French ruling house to serve in the French army and this could not now be changed in order to allow the prince to enlist.

TURNED OVER TO HERRICK.

Paris, Aug. 4.—Before leaving the capital last night the German ambassador, Baron Schoen, entrusted the affairs of the German embassy and those of Bavaria to the American ambassador, Myron T. Herrick, in accordance with instructions received when he was told to demand his passports. Arthur Hugh Frazier, second secretary of the American embassy, received the imperial seal and keys from the departing diplomat, the ceremony being witnessed officially by two French army officers.

has been perfected. All Fort Wayne citizens who were in Germany when the order for mobilization was issued are likely to be detained there for some time. This not only includes the men, but also women and children, at least until the kaiser's army has been completely mobilized. It is also believed here that the letter due from August Bruder, the jeweler, who cabled from Germany Monday, will contain this explanation of his detention there.

Reservists of the German army now in Fort Wayne are ready to respond to the call for mobilization here and are awaiting instructions from the consulate offices in this city. It is estimated that there are at least twenty-five Fort Wayne residents who may be classed as reservists of the German army.

The Homer G. Davisson party which includes Miss Clara B. Flick and Miss Mildred Flick, Mrs. Amy Randall Seavey, Miss Abbie and Miss Sophie Pfeiffer and Miss Venette Sites of this city, is supposed to be due in Cologne, Germany, August 5.

One of them is George Delfs, corner of Main and Barr streets, who has communicated with the consular office in Cincinnati seeking information and instructions.

Send Money Home.

Postoffice money orders amounting to nearly $2,000 have been sent abroad during the last twenty-four hours out of Fort Wayne. One foreigner sent $800 in money orders to his home addressed to himself, intending to cash them upon his arrival home, but it is understood that he has made different arrangements and will not return upon the date he orginally expected to start. Another consignment of money orders amounting to $500 was sent out Monday to Fort Wayne people in Germany, whose travelers' checks are being refused.

It is understood that many Fort Wayne residents who are citizens of the European countries entangled in the war situation have been sending cash to New York and ordering it cabled to relatives in Germany, England, France and Austria-Hungary.

It was rumored about the business district Tuesday, that the postal department had been instructed to cease issuing money orders for European delivery, but this is denied at the money order department at the Fort Wayne postoffice. It is also announced that foreigners who are depositors in the local branch of the postal saving bank have [illegible] lines state that there has been but little inquiry during the past twenty-four hours concerning bookings. Harry Orr, in charge of the foreign exchange department at the First National bank, says it is impossible for him to take bookings except on the Holland-American line steamship Rotterdam, classed as neutral. He says that the majority of Fort Wayne people now in Europe hold reservations for return on vessels that have been ordered to remain in port. The people now in Germany, France or Switzerland cannot get out of the country. They could get passage, Mr. Orr believes, if it were possible for them to reach Rotterdam, but they cannot secure passage on the railroads to reach that city.

Relatives Alarmed.

No records are held at the office of County Clerk William E. Gerding, to show that either C. J. Micket, the Wells street grocer, now in Germany, or Gaston Bailhe, the musician, aslo abroad, are naturalized, and local relatives and friends Tuesday expressed alarm caused by the possibilities of them being ordered into active service in their respective countries. Mr. Michel is a native of Germany, while Mr. Bailhe is a native of France.

Many May Lose Land.

Fort Wayne natives of Germany, famjliar with the laws of the nation, declare that many natives of their country now living in the United States, stand liable, under the law, to lose any land or business interests held in the old country.

They say that the law provides that men born in Germany, now residing in this country, who are between the ages of sixteen and forty-five years, may be forced to return to Germany and serve as warriors. This holds good also for those who have taken out naturalization papers. It is also said that any man between those years, who left Germany after the age of sixteen years and failed to return for the compulsory military training, will lose all land if the nation so desires under process of confiscation. Any German who left the old country and evaded military training, also loses any inheritance he may have, according to natives of Germany now residing here.

to prevent what means to her a question of life and death—a French advance through Belgium."

Have Demanded Final Answer.

Premier Asquith then said: "I have to add this on behalf of his majesty's government. We cannot regard this as in any sense a satisfactory communication. We have in reply repeated the request made last week to the German government that it should give us the same assurance regarding Belgian neutrality as was given to us by France last week.

"We have asked that the German reply to that request and a satisfactory answer to our telegram of this morning should be given before midnight tonight."

The premier concluded his grave statement amid a great outburst of cheering from all parts of the house.

BRAZIL TO SEEK RELIEF.

Rio Janiero, Aug. 4.—The Brazilian government is understood to be about to send four steamers of the Brazilian Lloyd line to the United States to bring back coal, oil and provisions.

A decree was issued today declaring a bank holiday in Brazil until August 15 after a conference had been held by the cabinet ministers and the finance committees of the Brazilian senate and chamber under the presidency of Marshal Hermes Da Fonseca, president of the republic. It was decided also to ask parliament to vote a moratorium.

SWISS ARMY MOBILIZED.

Berne, Switzerland, Aug. 4.—The military mobilization of Switzerland has been completed. Every able bodied man has responded to the colors and every railway bridge and mountain pass is occupied. The colors have extended to the commandeering of all available provisions and all means of locomotion, even bicycles have been requisitioned.

SAYS GERMANS ARE INCENSED.

London, Aug. 4.—A dispatch to the Morning Post from St. Petersburg, represents Germans in the Russian capital as incensed at the conduct of their government which to the last pretended surprise at Russia's policy and then withdrew its ambassador suddenly leaving its nationals in the lurch as the American embassy to whose care German interests were entrusted, was quite unprepared to deal with such a complex question. As a result, the correspondent says, the Germans are unable to leave Russia and having lost their employment, found themselves in a pitiful condition.

SWEDEN WOULD BE LET ALONE.

Stockholm, Aug. 4.—It was stated today that both Germany and Russia made inquiries on Sunday as to whether Sweden would remain neutral. Germany's not was brief, merely demanding to know whether Sweden was "for or against us." The ministers declined to say what reply was given but they are preparing to defend the nation's neutrality. The German ultimatum to Belgium created a deep impression here and it is believed that if a similar ultimatum was addressed to Sweden she would follow the Belgian example in refusing to aid Germany.

WILL TREAT AMERICANS WELL.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The French government, the foreign office and the military authorities have expressed to Ambassador Herrick and Consul General Thackara their desire to treat well the Americans who are still here, faciliating their departure if they wish to leave or permitting them to remain without annoyance or embarrassments that can be avoided.

RAILWAY WAR IS FULLY AVERTED

Western Managers and Enginemen and Firemen in Agreement.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Peace in the railway world west of the Mississippi for the next eighteen months, at least, was assured early today when representatives of ninety-eight railroads and 60,000 enginemen and firemen signed an agreement to submit their differences to arbitration.

It was the culminating act in efforts of the federal board of mediation to avert what President Wilson characterized as a "national disaster" and followed the president's appeal to the railroads to place patriotism above property interests and they agreed to arbitration under a plan already approved by the mediators and the employes, also they realized, and President Wilson pointed out, that all the merits of their case could not be considered.

Hearings in Chicago.

When the board of arbitration is organized its hearings will take place in Chicago. The railroads and the employes immediately will name two arbitrators each and they will select two others. If they fail to agree on that point, the board of mediation will act.

The hearings must be begun within thirty days after organization of the board and its award must be made within the next ninety days. It will become effective ten days later and continue for one year.

The questions to be submitted to the board are original demands of the employes contained in their communication to the railroads last October. Counter claims of the railroads are withdrawn.

The wage schedules and working conditions in last October are restored and they cannot be adversely affected so far as the employes are concerned by any award by the arbitrators.

PARALIZED WIFE ASKS A DIVORCE

Mrs. Finagan Says Husband Left Her When She Was Very Ill.

In a divorce complaint filed in the superior court by Mildred Finegan against Clarence Leroy Finegan, the wife charges that her husband left her on June 14 of this year, ill from the effects of a stroke of paralysis that she sustained.

She also says he went home under the influence of liquor during their married life, which began June 4, 1913, abused her and used language that she does not want to include in her complaint. She asks $2,000 alimony and C. B. Aldrich filed the action.

Repays Daughter For Care.

Under the will of Katharina Kabisch filed Tuesday in the circuit court, $500 is given to a daughter, Catherine Kabisch for services rendered the decedent during her life. The same daughter and Nettie Kabisch, another daughter, are given the use of the homestead for a year with the provision that they pay only the taxes and at the end of this term the property is to be equally divided.

Request Came Too Late.

Because of the fact that the will of Mrs. Amanda Dawson, just filed in the circuit court for probate, was not found until several weeks after her death, it was not possible to carry out the request that her body be cremated after it had been kept long enough to make certain that life was extinct. It had been buried some time before the document was discovered.

The will bequeaths to Mrs. Louisa F. Stallard, of Lafayette, a sister, all personal and real property for life and at her death goes to her children, Mary Luella Stallard, Amanda Belle Claypool, John Strange Stallard and Anna Hester Davisson. A second paragraph of the will eliminates John Stallard from any part of the estate.

Witnesses to the codicil were J. Brackenridge, R. E. Brackenridge, W. A. Croxton and Col. R. S. Robertson. The estate is said to be worth $20,000. Ernest W. Cook, of the Citizens' Trust company, filed a petition asking letters of administration. He says Mrs. Louisa F. Stallard has refused to act as administratrix, as provided in the will, and that, at her request, the company will take care of the estate. Relatives of Mrs. Dawson and their addresses follow: Mary Luella Newsom, niece, Columbus, Ind.; Louisa F. Stallard, sister, Lafayette; Amanda Belle Claypool, niece, Pine Village, Ind.; Anna Hester Davisson, niece, Lafayette. The will was drawn May 20, 1887.

Applicant Failed to Appear.

FEARS GIRL WILL CHANGE HER MIND

Monroeville Man Who Eloped to Kalamazoo Put in Rush Order for Marriage License.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 4.—"Say, can you hurry right down here and get us a license before my girl changes her mind?" was a message over the telephone that caused Deputy County Clerk William Stauffer to hurry to the court house Saturday night.

"Sorry to have to bother you, but the young woman here did not make up her mind until noon today and I am taking no chances. We have been keeping company for years and it has taken her all this time to say 'yes,' said Herman Johnson, 30 years, a machinist, of Monroeville, Ind., as he introduced Miss Tillie Harpstrite, of New Baden, same state, to the deputy clerk at the county building.

"I didn't make up my mind until Herman called me up over the 'phone and asked me to get married, and then I decided not to wait any longer," said the blushing young woman.

The pair arrived in Kalamazoo late Saturday afternoon, after the clerk's office was closed, and Johnson then started out to find the officials. He was able to locate the whereabouts of County Clerk Edward Curtenius, then on his way to his farm west of this city, but the stranger finally managed to get Mr. Stauffer on the wire.

Rev. W. P. French performed the ceremony.

Auburn, Ind., Aug. 4.—Marshal Poorman, of Waterloo, found a lad 15 years old drunk in the Lake Shore yards in that town and gave him the choice of going to jail on a charge of public intoxication or telling where he got his liquor. After some protest the lad consented and named a saloonist in Garrett as the man who sold to him. The marshal took the boy to Garrett and while in disguise the officer stood at the bar, the boy came in and asked for a pint of whisky and was served without question. The matter was taken before Prosecutor Nye here and the saloonist will be arrested and tried.

To All Old Ladies.

"They say that old folks love to live
in days long passed away,
And find their sweetest comfort in some
misty yesterday;
But somehow I don't recollect a lot of
precious things
Since all the youngsters went away and
Mary's soul took wings.
It seems when I get thinking, that the past is like a lane
Of brown, old lilac bushes that can never bloom again:
Or like some old, deserted church
where once I heard a song—
Life seems so different, somehow, when you're lingering along."
"I'm blessed with every comfort that a
lonesome soul could know,
And children grown to manhood that would hate to see me go;
They put me on a sort of throne and treat me like a queen
And all the hardships of old age the children try to screen.
But young friends are not old friends,
and the friends I used to know
Are sleeping 'neath the blossoms or the softly falling snow.
I want to leave the youngsters to their
roses and their song,
Life seems so different, somehow, when you're lingering along."

Doctor Speaks Out

to Coffee Drinkers

The Boston Advertiser of June 15, 1914, quotes Dr. D. H. Kress, of Chicago, in address as saying that tea, coffee and cocoa cause more deaths than alcohol.

"These table beverages are sapping the life of our nation. They are making us a race of weak-kidneyed, weak-livered beings, unable to reproduce ourselves. The kidneys and liver do not perform their proper functions, and the waste matter left in the system tends to bring on arteriosclerosis.

"Statistics show conclusively that as the consumption of coffee, tea and cocoa have increased, the number of nervous diseases and insanity have increased proportionately."

This strong statement from a medical authority, cannot be lightly disregarded.

It is easy to prove in one's own case whether coffee is the cause of frequent "spells" of nervousness, indigestion, biliousness, liver complaint, headche, heart disturbance and other ills.

POSTUM

—then note the difference.

Made from prime wheat and a bit of molasses, Postum is a pure food-drink, entirely free from the pernicious drugs in tea and coffee, or any other harmful substance.

In thousands of homes Postum supplies a table beverage, pleasant to the taste, and to be used freely as a rebuilder, where coffee and tea tear down.

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum, must be boiled, 15c and 25c pkgs.

Instant Postum, a soluble form, made in the cup instantly, 30c and 50c tins.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds and the cost per cup is about the same.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

John 1:40-51.

40 One of the two which heard John speak, and followed him, was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother.

41 He first findeth his own brother, Simon, and saith unto him, We have found the Messias, which is, being interpreted the Christ.

42 And he brought him to Jesus. And when Jesus beheld him, he said, Thou art Simon the son of Jona: thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation, A stone.

43 The day following Jesus would go forth into Galilee, and findeth Philip, and saith unto him, follow me.

44 Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter.

45 Philip findeth Nathanael, and saith unto him, We have found him, of whom Moses in the law, and the phophets, did write, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph.

46 And Nathanael said unto him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip saith unto him, Come and see.

47 Jesus saw Nathanael coming to him, and saith unto him, Behold an Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile!

48 Nathanael saith unto him, Whence knowest thou me? Jesus answered and said unto him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast under the fig tree, I saw thee.

49 Nathanael answered and saith unto him, Rabbi, thou art the Son of God; thou art the King of Israel.

50 Jesus answered and said unto him, Because I said unto thee, I saw thee under the fig tree, believest thou? thou shalt see greater things than these.

51 And he saith unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Hereafter ye shall see heaven open, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of man.

Playing for Their Faces.

In a time to come the unfeeling iron pen of history will grave responsibility for the wickedness of the great war into which the world's foremost nations are plunging. The monarchs who sit upon the thrones of these war nations know this. They have opened the floodgates of a bloody deluge, but each hopes to reserve to himself the plea, "Thou canst not say I did it." Germany accuses Russia. The czar retorts upon the kaiser. Each charges double-dealing. France mobilizes and waits the sign. Britain hold back and contents herself for a day with a threat. All know the blood guiltiness of this colossal strife. Each would escape it. But history will record the mad haste to arms and upon the heads of all will fall the just maledictions of civilization when devastation sits gaunt upon the continent of Europe and the whole world around feels the scorch and blight, the impoverishment and woe of this amazing, useless and unprovoked conflict of the great Christian nations. The powers are playing for their faces. Each is hesitating just enough to base a hope that conviction of the crime of the centuries may be fastened upon an adversary. But altogether they have for decades been preparing for it, altogether they are plunging into it and altogether they must bear the undying accusation of mankind that they fought in heat and lust. None can escape its guilt; none find pardon for its stupendous sin. It is a war without an issue—multiplied murder in the name of right and justice that had in no wise been violated or offended.

The country at large, the management of ninety-eight railroads and 60,000 enginement and firemen employed on the roads owe something more than perfunctory gratitude to President Wilson for the success of his efforts to prevent the threatened strike on the near one hundred lines involved in a wage dispute. Moreover, something greater is gained than the narrow escape from this calamity so lately imminent. In the face of an absolute protestation by the railway managers that there was nothing to arbitrate and that arbitration was impossible, there suddenly comes an agreement between railways and employes that insures peace for a year and a half. Efforts to keep peace are always possible, always practicable, always promising. In the face of a great national crisis the railway heads could see a way to preserve peace with their employes. The president of the United States pointed that way to them—and with the implied admonition that it would be well for them to embrace it with little ado.

During the pendancy of the amendment to the currency bill in the house Monday, republican Leader Mann rebuked a kicker. He said: "This is the time to follow the lead of men who must be in command. Let us be statesmen, put partisanship behind us and remember only the good of the country." That was a fine thing to say at the time. It would be a fine rule of action for statesmen in Washington at any time, on any occasion.

With a billion extra cash to tide this country through a war with which we had nothing to do in bringing about, in which we willingly will have no part and out of which we are bound to have our troubles, the United States of America may at least feel more or less comfortable in the pocketbook. If it will just be seen to that New York is not really the whole financial situation in North America, matters ought to be at least tolerable if not quite well.

Up to even date Austria has had a hard time, not to say she has made a rather distressing mess of it, in trying to get her best foot foremost into cocky little Servia. Perhaps if Russia had strictly minded her own business and left Servia to take care of herself she would have proved her strength to do so and Europe would have been spared the bustle of a free-for-all.

Private Corporation.

Providence Journal: "This important public work has been performed by a private corporation, though statesmen have talked about it since the nation began."

Notable Achievement.

Richmond Virginian: "The Cape Cod work has been done without the blare of trumpets or congressional oratory, but it is a most notable achievement."

Great Praise Due.

Baltimore Sun: "To the men who planned and who financed and who did the actual work of building the canal great praise is due."

Pointing the Way.

The First Deadly Battle Fought in the Air

PRETTY BILLIE, JUST 19, HUNTS, RIDES, ACTS—SHE'S A "MOVIE" MAID.

Pretty little Billie Rhodes has not been out of school more than a year. Just nineteen years ago she was born in California, and now she lives near Los Angeles in a unique bungalow. The walls of it are covered with skins—trophies of her prowess as a huntress. She is a capital rider, too.

Miss Rhodes' very first picture indicated her success and won her a permanent position with the Kalem company.

KAISER BLAMES WAR ON THE CZAR

German "White Book" Gives Text of Exchanges Between Rulers.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—The German government has issued a white book recounting the events leading up to the war and giving the texts of telegrams exchanged between the German emperor and the Russian emperor.

The government issists that it worked shoulder to shoulder with Great Britain in mediatory action and supported every proposal in Vienna from which it thought a peaceful solution could be hoped.

On July 30 the German government forwarded to Vienna the British proposal which, as a basis, laid down that Austria ought, after the invasion of Servia, which had then taken place, to dictate her conditions there. Germany assumed that Russia would accept this basis, but while negotiations were proceeding news came of Russian mobilization measures and the assembly of Russian troops on the Prussian frontier and left no doubt that Russian mobilization against Germany was in full progress. While all such measures were being denied to the German representative at St. Petersburg and even before the Austrian answer to the last British-German mediation proposal could reach Berlin, Russia ordered a general mobilization.

The German emperor, in a telegram, calling attention to the menacing character of the Russian mobilization and the continuance of his own activity in the direction of mediation.

Czar to the Kaiser.

On July 31 the Russian emperor sent the following telegram to the German emperor:

"I thank Thee from my heart for Thy mediation, which leaves a gleam of hope that even now all may end peacefully. It is technically impossible to discontinue our military operations, which has been rendered necessary by Austrian mobilization. We are far from wishing for war and so long as negotiations with Austria regarding Servia continue, my troops will not undertake any provocative action.

"I give Thee my word upon it and I trust with my strength in God's grace and hope for the success of Thy mediation at Vienna and for our countries and the peace of Europe.

"Thy devoted Nicholas."

German Emperor's Reply.

To this the German emperor replied:

"In answer to Thy appeal to my friendship and Thy prayer for my help, I undertook mediatory action between the Austro-Hungarian government and Thine. While this action was in progress Thy troops were mobilized against my ally, Austria-Hungary, in consequence of which, as I have already informed Thee, my mediation was rendered nearly illusory. Nevertheless it continued. But now I am in possession of trustworthy advices concerning the serious war preparations on my eastern frontier, as well.

"My responsibility for the safety of my empire compels me to counter measures of defense. In my endeavors for the maintenance of the peace of the world, I have gone to the extreme limit of the possible. It is not I that shall bear the responsibility for the peril which now threatens the civilized world. I lay it to Thy hand to avert it, even at this moment.

"No one menaces the honor and might of Russia, which well could have waited upon the result of my mediation. The friendship for Thee and Thy empire [illegible] by my grandfather on [illegible] Russia when it was in grave distress, especially in your last war. The peace of Europe can yet be conserved by Thee, if Russia decides to discontinue her military measures, which threaten Germany and Austria-Hungary."

Russia Already Mobilizing.

Even before this telegram reached its destination, the white book says, the mobilization of all the Russian forces, which had been ordered on the forenoon of the same day and was openly directed against Germany was in full progress. When advices regarding this mobilization reached Berlin, the German ambassador at St. Petersburg, the afternoon of July 31, was ordered to declare to Russia that Germany, as a counter measure, had declared a state of war, which was to be followed by mobilization should Russia not suspend her military measures inside of twelve hours.

At the same time the German ambassador in Paris was directed to obtain a declaration from the French government within 18 hours whether France would remain neutral in a war between Russia and Germany.

The white book concludes with a statement that Russia's mobilization showed clearly that Russia desired war

SENATE PASSES CURRENCY BILL

Measure Creating Billion Dollars of Money Now With President.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Amendments to the bank law extending issues of currency to 125 per cent. of capital and surplus of banks and trust companies in the federal reserve system were finally passed in the house today. More than a billion dollars will be available for additional circulation.

The senate promptly agreed to the amendments, which then went to the white house for the president's signature.

SITUATION IS QUIET.

New York, Aug. 4.—Conditions in the financial district settled down to further calm and quiet today. Measures taken yesterday to safeguard the general situation, including the issuance of clearing house certificates and the receipt of emergency currency from Washington for distribution among local banks were found to be increasingly effective. Distribution of the emergency currency was resumed at the sub-treasury today. Some $45,000,000 is now available and more is expected in the course of the week. The National City bank today took out $10,000,000 of this and applied for an additional $5,000,000.

Leading financial interests expressed the opinion that the situation so far as it affects the principal financial centers of this country was under control.

HOGS ATTACK MUNCIE MAN.

Emroy J. Niday, Barefoot, Races for Life From Heat-Crazed Animals.

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 4.—A drove of hogs, crazed by the heat, would have destroyed Emory J. Niday, assistant postmaster of Muncie, had they been able to get at him as he lay in a hammock beneath a tree on his farm, Niday says. The hogs, which had been acting queerly, charged him. Niday crawled into the higher part of the hammock and sat huddled there as he called for help, the animals in the meantime standing on their hind feet in an effort to reach him. Finally the hogs noticed Niday's shoes and socks, which were on the ground, and devoured them. While the attention [illegible] by the animals. Forget Birthdays and Keep Young Boston, Aug. 3.—Mrs. Judith Smith celebrated her ninety-second birthday anniversary recently by working for hours at the desk of the Equal Suffrage association offices, and making a suffrage address the same evening.

"Forget your birthdays unless you want to grow old before your time," says Mrs. Smith. "My friends remind me that I'm 92—I'd rather they'd help me to forget it. I've been working for the advancement of women for seventy years and there is so much to be done yet that I do not dare to grow old. My recipe for keeping young is to be busy with some soul-satisfying work and to keep moving forward. Do this and Old Father Time will have some trouble catching up with you."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Blocks of camphor dispersed in all corners of damp rooms in a new house will effectually banish damp in a very short time, even when fires have proved ineffectual. They should be simply laid on paper, or on the bare shelves of a damp room or linen closet. The blocks gradually decrease in size, and when they finally disappear should be replaced until their purpose is served.

Cracks in furniture should be filled with beeswax. Soften the beeswax until it becomes like puddy, then press it firmly into the cracks, and then smooth the surface over with a thin knife. Sandpaper the surrounding wood, and work some of the dust into the beeswax. This gives a finish to the wood, and when it is varnished the cracks will have disappeared. Putty used in the same way soon dries and falls out.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Loyal Moose Circle will not meet on Wednesday, August 5, but will convene on the second Wednesday in the month.

One hundred and seventy-five young people and children will take part. The character of Jack Goose, is to be delineated by George Ashley Brewster who appeared in this role last year. IN THE CITY'S CHURCHES

PLAN FOR A BIG MASS MEETING

Charter Members of Y. M. F. C. to Sign Constitution September 22.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Young Men's Forward Congress held Monday evening in the council chamber of the city hall, it was decided that a mass meeting be held on the evening of September 22 at the First Presbyterian church for the purpose of having all the charter members affix their names to the constitution, which has been drawn up in long hand by A. Sele on a parchment of paper seven feet long and three feet wide.

The members of this committee decided to let the various committees do the work of preparation for this meeting. The devotional committee is to provide a speaker for that evening, the music committee is to furnish the music and the social committee must look after the entertaining. It is thought that preceding the meeting a parade headed by a band and with other attractive features will be given. Every president has pledged himself to get all the members of his class out for that evening and if this is the case there will be 1,000 young men who will take part in this procession.

Clifford Hutchinson, chairman of the pin committee, submitted a report on samples and prices and after some discussion it was decided that a solid gold pin be purchased. This pin will be a circular one, one-half inch in diameter and in the center the letters Y. M. F. C. will be written while the name of the organization will be written in full in a circle on the outer side.

Twelve churches were represented at the meeting Monday evening and two other churches were taken into the congress, the United Brethren and Plymouth Congregational. This organization through its devotional committee is endeavoring to get every protestant church represented in the congress, including all the Lutheran churches of the city.

At the meeting is was announced what other people are thinking about the Young Men's Forward Congress. It was told that a certain Adult Bible class in this city composed of business men decided at the last meeting that the greatest movement now on foot in Fort Wayne was the Y. M. F. C. movement. Besides trying to get all young men of the city interested in the work the society is trying to place a Y. M. C. A. in Fort Wayne.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

A quick way to clean currants when making cakes is to put the fruit into a colander with a sprinkling of flour, and rub it round a few times with your hand. It is surprising how quickly the stalks are separated and come through the small holes.

If an iron is allowed to get red-hot it will never retain the heat as well again. The flat-iron is badly abused if allowed to stand on the range and in a dusty place; irons should be put away to cool as soon as done with, and then kept in a cool place away from dust till wanted again.

When washing and rinsing colored materials add a teaspoonful of Epsom salts to each gallon of water, and even the most delicate shades will neither fade nor run. Serge or merino dresses, which have been dyed black, can be safely washed in this way without any risk of the dye running.

If screws, gas fittings, the sides of bedsteads, or anything else of the kind become tightly fixed and cannot be moved, the following method will generally found to loosen them. Pour a little oil on the tight parts, and then hold a lighted candle underneath until it is warm. You will then find it is easy to separate or unscrew the fixed parts.

Cayenne pepper is excellent to rid cupboards of mice. The floor should be gone over carefully, and each hole stopped up with a piece of rag dipped in water and then in cayenne pepper.

In arranging flowers it is often difficult to make them stand up nicely. This difficulty will be overcome if a piece of wire netting be crushed up into a ball and then placed in a bowl to hold the flower stems.

WOMEN ON THRONES OF EUROPE WORTHY CONSORTS TO RULERS IN TIME OF WAR

QUEEN MARY OF ENGLAND
EMPRESS AUGUSTA VICTORIA OF GERMANY
THE TSARITSA OF RUSSIA
ARCHDUCHESS ZITA OF AUSTRIA
QUEEN HELENE OF ITALY
MME. POINCARE WIFE OF THE PRESIDENT OF FRANCE

The War Women of Europe—the consorts of the rulers whose nations are thrown into wild apprehension at the prospect of the most appalling conflict in history—are all worthy helpmeets to the men to whom they have consecrated their lives.

But in two courts—those of Austria and Servia—the first to draw the sword, the monarchs face their grave problems alone.

The Empress Elizabeth of Austria was slain by an anarchist at Geneva, Switzerland, as she was about to go aboard a steamboat.

King Peter of Servia also is a widower. In Austria the first lady of the land is the Archduchess Zita, wife of Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, heir to the throne, made so by the death of Archduke Ferdinand, who was assassinated on June 28 last. Her beauty is of more than national celebrity, and her fondness for court life and the pageants of society have made her the most active of the women who sit on the thrones of Europe. She gives the greatest care to her children and participates with the King in all the duties that devolve upon him as sovereign. When war threatens England she will be found wherever it is fitting for her to be, taking her place with the monarch in the vast tasks that will confront him.

The Tsaritsa fills her exalted position as consort to the ruler of all the Russias with quiet, simple dignity. She, too, is a devoted mother.

Mme. Poincaré, wife of the President of France, is famed for her devotion to her husband and her great interest in his political destiny. As a War Woman Mme. Poincaré will undoubtedly be her husband's stanch ally and adviser.

These are the women who will be counted upon to use all their influence for all that is best and noblest in the nations.

Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany is a commanding figure, not as a War Woman but as the model house wife of Europe, a title in which she glories.

Queen Helene of Italy is remarkable for great height, she being six feet tall. She is the companion and friend of the King as well as his Queen, and the two are constantly in each other's society. Her people call her the "beautiful good and strong."

Don't Have Pimply, Blotchy Skin

Nothing Destroys Good Looks So Quickly As Constipation.

Nor Is Anything Better for Constipation Than USOLINE.

Of course, there are other causes for a bad complexion. Biliousness makes the skin sallow, and turns the whites of the eyes yellow.

An upset stomach and dyspepsia give you a drawn, dragged-out look, and a dull, muddy skin.

Headaches cause wrinkles and black circles, and take the brightness, flash and beauty out of the most striking pair of eyes.

A torpid liver, sick kidneys, all leave their own distinctive bad effects.

But after all, the real cause of nearly all these "symptoms" and diseases is constipation.

Constipation can also be blamed for certain skin eruptions and blemishes.

You have dosed enough with pain-racking cathartics and purgatives to know that they give only temporary relief, dearly bought, because the condition persistently grows worse.

Now, leave drugs alone; give your system a chance: try USOLINE, which is a pure oil lubricant.

What USOLINE does is to soften the accumulations of poisonous wastes that have become congested in the bowels, to soothe and lubricate the passages, and make the movements natural, easy, healthy, painless and regular.

Then the constipation actually does disappear, and the complexion clears up.

You'll find USOLINE what you have so often wished for, a remedy that really does what you take it for, and leaves no bad after effects. Imported and re-refined only by OIL PRODUCTS COMPANY, New York. Sold by druggists generally, 25c. and 50c. a large bottle, and $1 a three pint tin. Also in capsules, 2 doz. in a box, 50c. Ask or write for printed matter.

SPURNS WEALTH; WEDS FOR LOVE

Would You Give Up Vast Sum of $600,000 and Do Likewise?

Boston, Aug. 4.—"I only did what any clean, square-jawed man would do. There was no temptation, no deliberation. I came to two roads; at the end of one was the palatial mansion and money, and at the other the beautiful home of love, and I chose the road of love because I knew it was the right one."

Thus Frank Palmer Speare, a man whose business, as he said, is "making men," in the office of educational director of the Boston Y. M. C. A., explained why he sacrificed a fortune of $600,000 when he decided to marry Miss Katherine May Vinton, of Stoneham.

Speare's first wife died about four years ago, and in her will left the income of her large estate to her husband on condition he should not marry again.

"Just why she put such a restriction on the I can't explain," said Speare, "unless at some time she read of such a thing in some popular novel. But I knew it all the time, and the fact is she always intended to change it, and no doubt would have but for her sudden death.

"That there are grave and serious dangers in the making of such a will is apparent. It puts a premium on a double life, for the immoral man could easily take advantage of it. But, of course, the ethical side of it never entered in my wife's head, for her action was merely a whim of fancy.

"And another side of it," continued Speare, "is that every business man should be married. The business man's crying need is a home. No hotel life for mine; it's flat and vacant. I know because I've lived it.

"I've known Miss Vinton for nearly two years; she is interested in everything that interests me, and two weeks ago when I decided to marry, the thought of the money I would lose never entered my head, so you see after all I have done nothing remarkable."

As regards the forfeiture of his legacy with its peculiar condition, Speare says that it was a condition which he might have been very willing to observe had he not had the good fortune to meet Miss Vinton. The money thus left by the late Mrs. Speare will now revert to her relatives.

HOW TO LOSE YOUR TAN, FRECKLES OR WRINKLES

A day's motoring, an afternoon on the tennis ground or golf links, a sunbath on the beach or exposure on a sea trip, often brings on a deep tan or vivid crimson or, more perplexing still, a vigorous crop of freckles. A very necessary thing then is mercolized wax, which removes tan, redness or freckles quite easily. It literally peels off the affected skin—just a little at a time, so there's no hurt or injury. As the skin comes off in almost invisible flaky particles, no trace of the treatment is shown. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggist's and use this nightly as you would cold cream, washing it off mornings. In a week or so you will have an entirely new skin, beautifully clear, transparent and of a most delicate whiteness.

Wrinkles, so apt to form at this season, may be easily and quickly removed by bathing the face in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pt. This is not only a valuable astringent, but has a beneficial tonic effect also.

SIMPLE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get about two ounces of plain powdered neroxin from any drugstore—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The powdered neroxin and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

CENTRAL LEAGUE PITCHER SOLD TO CINCINNATI AND ONE WHO HAS FOUND HIMSELF.

Paul C. Fittery worked his way into the National league from the pitching staff of the Evansville club by reason of his ability to watch runners and hold them on first and a deadly cross fire that has enabled him to strike out more than 200 batsmen in twenty-seven games. He is leading all the pitchers in the number of games won and will be sent to Cincinnati at the close of the present season, the sale having been consummated while the team was in Fort Wayne.

Fittery started with Harrisburg, Pa., in 1911, and the next year was sent to Anderson, S. C., and then to Birmingham. Birmingham sent him to Evansville in 1913, reclaimed him at the end of the season, tried him in the spring and sold him to Evansville in May of this year.

Jake Fromholz has just found himself. He started baseball in 1910 with East Liverpool in the O.-P. league and was procured by Toledo and sent to Dayton. He was returned to East Liverpool and again reclaimed by Dayton, but in 1912 he did not show good form and was released. Evansville picked him up and he began to improve in 1913, and this season's work is certain to get him a place in AA ball.

Inquiries have been made about him and an offer rejected for his services. He and Fittery have been the main factors in holding Evansville up in the race, and Manager Charley Knoll says if he had a couple of more like them at the beginning of the year the pennant would have gone to his town.

AINSWORTH GETS FAREWELL VISIT

Team Mates Go to Hospital to Tell Pitcher Good Bye for Year.

Scene—Room in Hope hospital. Earl Ainsworth in bed. Enter Bill Cramer.

Cramer—Hello, old top, how's it going tonight?

Ainsworth—Finer'n silk. Think I'll get out of here by Saturday. Cigars? Oh, just put 'em over there. Thanks.

Cramer—What's that smells so funny?

Ainsworth—Ether, kid, ether. They can never cross you on that stuff when they chuck you full of it once.

Cramer—How do you take it?

Ainsworth—Oh, you lay there on your back and they put a horse muzzle over your map and you take a couple of breaths. Then the room gets as brilliant as—well as brilliant as anything can get. Why, boy, those walls shine whiter than marble and then a little bell dings and they can do anything they want to you. They mopped me all out inside.

Cramer—Mopped you out?

Ainsworth—They sure did. Boy, I was on that old table three hours and a half and the doctors and nurses were sweeping around inside me all that time.

Cramer—Hub.

Enter Smith and Streeter—

Ainsworth—Hello, you old red-head. Monroeville beat us today?

Smith—Nope; we got that one. Ten to one or something like that.

Ainsworth—Any crowd?

Smith—Not so bad for a little town like that, was it, Fred?

Streeter—No.

Ainsworth—What kind of a park they got?

Smith—Pretty good for a little town. Of course, the diamond is just dirt without any grass and the outfield is awful rough but it's all right at that. Just like the old trolley league days. All dress in one room and one of them wash bowl baths. You know how it is. Wasn't so bad, though. Any queens? Sure. They got some fine little dolls down there and old Red'll play there any time just for fun, see?

Ainsworth—Streeter, going back to Toledo after the season?

Streeter—Sure thing.

Ainsworth—Great old place. They don't do a thing to you in that royal home of thugs and holdups. First time I hit the town I comes in with a friend of mine. He says check all your money, kid, but 10 cents and you'll be lucky if they don't get that.

Streeter—Oh, they cleaned that up pretty well now. Keep closed on Sunday, you know.

Ainsworth—One time I was walking down along the canal there and me and my friend heard some guy say: 'Let's push 'em in the canal.' Push me in the canal? Oh, I reckon not. I got out in the street and was ready to show 'em some speed, and old Red could a showed 'er too, believe me.

Streeter—I don't live around there any place. But it ain't so bad now.

Ainsworth—Hope not. I had a friend once that hits the town with a roll. Meets a guy that belongs to the same lodge and all that kind of stuff. My friend buys a drink and then the guy wants to tell him something on the quiet and he lures him into one of those little stalls, see? He takes a small drink and when he comes to he hasn't got anything left but his shoes and his socks and his union suit. This guy takes the links out of his sleeves even.

Streeter—They're getting better there now.

Ainsworth—Here comes old soup.

Old soup?

Ainsworth—Yes, soup Young. Why? Because he eats soup three times a day and would bathe and wash his sox in it if they'd let him.

Enter Young.

Ainsworth—Getting along fine. Walked around a little today. Thanks, just put 'em over there on the dresser. Much obliged.

Young—Hurt your feet when you first put 'em on the floor?

Ainsworth—Hurt? Oh, boy, did it hurt? Why, it felt like ten million electric needles sticking in your soles. Had to put my arm around the nurse to hold up.

Cramer—Must a bothered you a lot to do that.

Smith—I bet it took a long time to let loose. Was it that nurse I saw coming down the hall? If it was her, you just watch old Red get the appendictis some time soon.

Enter nurse.

Nurse—Mr. Ainsworth, can I have your watch a few minutes.

Ainsworth—Certainly, Miss Nurse; you can have everything I've got.

Nurse puts thermometer in Ainsworth's mouth.

Young—When you going home, Red?

Ainsworth—Blub, blubety, blub, blub.

Young—So soon?

Streeter—Eight o'clock, boys; time to hike.

Ainsworth—Wait till they chase you.

Chorus—Guess we'd better go.

Ainsworth—So long, fellows; drop me a postal now and then. Good luck.

All—'Night, Red. So long; good luck, old boy.

JESS WILLARD HAS PUNCH AND PATIENCE TO TAKE HEAVY WEIGHT TITLE.

(By "Kid" Howard)

There is only one kind of a fighter who will ever defeat Jack Johnson and bring back the heavyweight championship to the white race. That fighter will be the fellow with the patience and the punch.

Of all the big fellows who are now before the public there seems to be only one man who has that particular gift. That one man is Jess Willard, the big Kansan, who will shortly sail for the other side to try for a match with the negro.

Willard is not instinctively a fighter, which is his biggest asset when it comes to a ring engagement with a fighter of Johnson's ability. The fellow who tears in at the negro who stands set and flat-footed, will never beat the negro.

Willard with his six feet six inches will have a natural advantage in height. He also has a longer reach and in weight he will have a good twenty pounds.

Coupled with these natural advantages Willard is a cool, patient, unexcitable person. Willard is too good natured to take a fight seriously. Every white man who has ever boxed Johnson has hated him with a sincerity that has gotten the better of his good judgment.

Johnson will never get Willard's "goat" for the simple reason that he cannot get him sore.

Willard would sooner do most anything than fight. Fighting is not his business—it is simply a means of livelihood that he can make more money at than anything else. He would sooner be out on a stock farm looking after his horses and cattle than fooling around a gynasium and training with a lot of fighters. That feeling for the game is the one thing that will be his biggest asset when he fights for the championship of the world.

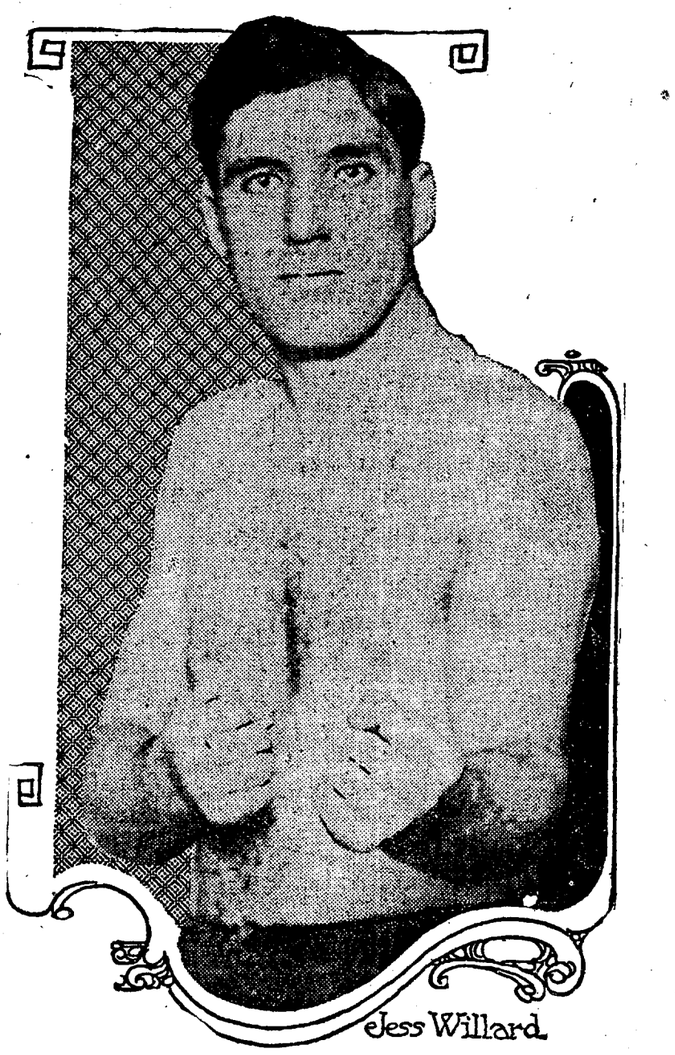
When Willard first came to Chicago a few years ago he was a big, gawky, underdeveloped fellow that resembled a prospective world's champion about as much as a dachshound does a fighting bull terrier.

Charley Cutler, the wrestler, had an athletic show at one of the summer parks in Chicago. He saw the possibilities of Willard as a ring attraction and undertook to teach him what he knew about boxing.

Cutler matched him with John Young in a ten-round bout at Fort Wayne, Ind., May 23, 1912. He stopped young in the sixth round and won two other fights within the next couple of months.

Upon his return to the city he asked the writer to see him work in the gymnasium. A wonderful improvement had taken place in the big physique of the Kansas cowboy. Bulging muscles showed on the long arms that a few months ago were soft and white; his narrow flat chest had developed at least three inches, and his fat, flabby legs had grown into symmetrical proportions. But the biggest surprise was in Willard's boxing. In less than a year's time this fellow had developed from a slow-acting, inaccurate, walloping amateur to a nimble-footed, clean hitting boxer with an eye as sharp as an eagle's, and a punch as deadly as a Mauser bullet.

Willard has everything necessary to beat Johnson—the size, the strength, the punch, and, best of all, the patience.



He has the ability, he is big enough to be game, and he has all the natural advantages that go with a bringing up on the wind-swept plains of a western ranch and the clean life of a decent married man. He can fight, for he has proven it by fifteen knockouts out of twenty-one battles. Patience and the punch is what will beat Jack Johnson, and Willard has both of the requisites.

NERVE SHOWS IN THE FLAG CHASE

Clubs That Win One-to-Nothing Games Are Leaders in Race.

(By Ernest J. Lanigan.)

Clubs that are pennant possibilities invariably make good showings in extra inning games. 1 to 0 battles and contests that are decided in the ninth spasm. That is what a veteran baseball man says, the same being Frank Bancroft, business manager of the Cincinnati Reds, and the truth of his remark is shown by the fact that in contests of these varieties the Cubs, Giants and Cardinals now having a three-handed scrap for the National league gonfalon, have been much more successful than the other five teams.

Up to Monday sixty-five games had been played in the National league in which the issue was settled in either the ninth or extra innings or on the basis of 1 to 0. The Cardinals had won eleven of these engagements and so had the Braves, but Huggins's men had dropped only seven of these combats, while Stalling's athletes had let eleven escape. The Cardinals' percentage in the Nerve league, therefore, was .611; the Braves' .500. The club that has shown the greatest aptitude for getting the decision in tight games is Chicago, with a percentage of .714, New York following with .636. The Cardinals are third with .611; the Phillies fourth, with .555; the Braves fifth, with .500; the Pirates and Reds sixth, with .353, and the Superbas eighth, with .308. The Cardinals and the Cubs have won the most games in the ninth inning (five); the Braves are setting the pace in 1 to 0 wins, with four, and the Phillies have taken the greatest number of over-time events, seven. Brooklyn still has to win a 1 to 0 contest, and Cincinnati thus far has not registered a victory in an extra inning affair. St. Louis hasn't been beaten once in the ninth.

The record of the National league teams in 1 to 0 and extra inning games and games decided in the ninth inning to July 26, inclusive, is as follows:

STANDING IN THE NERVE LEAGUE.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Cubs	10	4	.714
Giants	7	4	.636
Cardinals	11	7	.611
Phillies	10	8	.555
Braves	11	11	.500
Pirates	6	11	.353
Reds	6	11	.353
Superbas	4	9	.308
Totals	65	65	.500

Bill Sweeney, of the Cubs, has been the player most prominent in driving in the winning tallies in the tight games in which his team has participated. He has been on the break-it-up job four times, his war club bringing victory to Chicago in the ninth inning twice, in the tenth inning once and in the sixteenth inning once. National league players who have delivered hits that have broken up a pair of games are Wilson, of the Cardinals, Joseph Kelly, of the Pirates, Cravath, Luderus and Lobert, of the Phillies, and Doyle of the Giants. The last named, a Chalmers car winner two seasons ago, uses home runs with which to smash up combats. He hit for the circuit against "Bells" Adams of Pittsburg on July 17, and thus won a twenty-one inning game for the Giants, and eleven days earlier he circled for the full distance in the ninth frame of the game with the Phillies, when his team was two runs behind and with two of his mates were on the bases.

DROP TWO CLUBS OUT OF CIRCUIT

Southern Michigan May Let Go of Toledo and Jackson Soon.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 4.—Rumors of a wholesale change in the league front reached here today. It concerns the dropping of Jackson and Toledo and the cutting of the circuit to an eight club affair. James Frank, of Jackson, president of the league, and secretary of the Vet club, said today:

"Whether such a step will be taken will be determined within the next few days. It is somethwhat of a burden for the league teams to carry the homeless Toledo club. For some time we have been endeavoring to induce another team to quit, thus cutting the circuit to eight. However, no one is willing to drop out, so Jackson may take the step. The Vet club has not been drawing as well as expected but the attendance has been sufficient to warrant baseball for Jackson under ordinary circumstances."

The Jackson club is scheduled to play in South Bend next Sunday and Monday.

If the Vets drop out, Kalamazoo has made arrangements to obtain the stars of the club. The men whom the Kazoo management hopes to land are Hart, catcher; Baxter, pitcher; Brown, Dennis and Lindholm, outfielders. The move would greatly strengthen the Celery Eaters and put them in the running again.

This would also mean a decided increase in attendance at Kalamazoo. During the last two weeks the attendance in that city has exceeded the marks for a similar period in 1913, and the directors are hoping for even better things if the big shake-up materializes.

Simultatneously, J. W. Ryder, president of the club, and vice president of the league, makes the announcement that he is through with baseball.

"However," adds the magnate, "I am going to stick through the season and spend any amount of money necessary to give Kalamazoo a first-class club. My verbal agreement with the public demands that I stay until the end and I am going after the players who will put the club up in the race."

South Bend's reputation as the best drawing town in the circuit was upheld again yesterday when 2,013 people paid to see the Climbers and Crickets perform. President Frank said today that the attendance figures for this city are the best on the circuit, with Bay City and Saginaw trailing.

UNITED STATES IS DECLARED NEUTRAL

partial neutrality during the existence of the contest;

"And whereas, it is the duty of a neutral government not to permit or suffer the making of its waters subservient to the purposes of war;

Cites the Penal Code.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, in order to preserve the neutrality of the United States and of its citizens and of persons within its territory and jurisdiction and to enforce its laws and treaties and in order that all persons, being warned of the general tenor of the laws and treaties of the United States in this behalf, and of the law of nations, may thus be prevented from any violation of the same, do hereby declare and proclaim that by certain provisions of the act approved on the fourth day of March, A. D., 1909, commonly known as the penal code of the United States, the following acts are forbidden to be done, under severe penalties, within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States, to-wit:

"'1—Accepting and exercising a commission to serve either of the said belligerents by land or by sea against the other belligerent.

"'3—Hiring or retaining another person to enlist or enter himself in the service of either of the said belligerents, as a soldier, or as a marine or seaman on board of any vessel of war, letter of marque or privateer.

"'4—Hiring another person to go beyond the limits or jurisdiction of the United States with the intent to be enlisted as aforesaid.

"'5—Hiring another person to go beyond the limits of the United States with intent to be entered into service as aforesaid.

"'6—Retaining another person to go beyond the limits of the United States with intent to be enlisted as aforesaid.

Does Not Apply to Subjects.

"'7—Retaining another person to go beyond the limits of the United States with intent to be entered into service as aforesaid. (But the said act is not to be construed to extend to a citizen or subject of either belligerent who, being transiently within the United States, shall on board of any vessel of war, which, at the time of its arrival within the United States, was fitted and equipped as such vessel of war, enlist or enter himself or hire or retain another subject or citizens of the same belligerent who is transiently within the United States, to enlist or enter himself to serve such belligerent on board such vessel of war, if the United States shall then be at peace with such belligerent.)

"'8—Fitting out and arming or attempting to fit out and arm, or procuring to be fitted out and armed, or knowingly being concerned, in fitting out, or arming of any ship or vessel with intent that such ship or vessel shall be employed in the service of either of the said belligerents.

"'9—Issuing or delivering a commission within the territory or jurisdiction of the United States for any ship or vessel to the intent that she may be employed as aforesaid.

Expeditions Unlawful.

"'10—Increasing or augmenting, or procuring to be increased or augmented, or knowingly being concerned in increasing or augmenting, the force of any ship of war, cruiser, or other armed vessel, which at the time of her arrival within the United States was a ship of war, cruiser or armed vessel in the service of either of the said belligerents or belonging to the subjects of either, by adding to the number of guns, of such vessels or by changing those on board of her for guns of a larger calibre, or by the adding thereto of any equipment solely applicable to war.

"'11—Beginning or setting on foot, or providing or preparing the means for any military expedition or enterprise to be carried on from the teritory or jurisdiction of the United States by the against the territories of dominions of either of the said belligerents.'

As to Belligerent Shipping.

"And I do hereby further declare and proclaim that any frequenting and use of the waters within the territorial jurisdiction of the nited States by the armed vessels of a belligerent whether public ships or privateers for the purpose of hostile operations or as posts of observation upon the ships of war or privateers or merchant vessels of a belligerent lying within or being about to enter the jurisdiction of the United States must be regarded as unfriendly and offensive, and in violation of that neutrality which it is the determination of this government to observe; and to the end that the hazard and inconvenience of such apprehensioned practice may be, I further proclaim and declare that after the 5th day of August inst. and during the continuance of the present hostilities between Austria, Hungary and Servia and Germany and Russia, and Germany and France, no ship of war or privateer of any belligerent shall be permitted to make use of any port, harbor, roadstead or waters subject to the jurisdiction of the United States from which a vessel of an opposing belligerent (whether the same shall be a ship of war, privateer or a merchant ship) shall have previously departed, until after the expiration of at least twenty-four hours from the departure of such last mentioned vessel beyond the jurisdiction of the United States.

"If any ship of war or privateer of a belligerent shall, after the time this notification takes effect, enter any port, harbor, roadstead or waters of the United States, such vessel shall be required to depart and put to sea within twenty-four hours after her entrance into such port, harbor, roadstead or waters, except in case of stress of weather or of her requiring provisions or things necessary for the subsistence of her crew, or for repairs, in any of which cases the authorities of the near port shall require her to put to sea as soon as possible after the expiration of such period of twenty-four hours without permitting her to take on supplies beyond what may be necessary for her immediate use, and no such vessel which may have been permitted to remain within the waters of the United States for the purpose of repair shall continue within such port, harbor, roadstead or waters for a longer period than twenty-four hours after her necessary repairs shall have been completed, unless within such twenty-four hours a vessel, whether ship of war, privateer, or merchant ship of an opposing belligerent, shall have departed therefrom, in which case the time limit for the departure of such ship of war or privateer shall be extended so far as may be necessary to secure an interval of not less than twenty-four hours between such departure and that of any ship of war, privateer, or merchant ship of an opposing belligerent which may have previously quit the same port, harbor, roadstead or waters.

As to Detention of Vessels.

"No ship of war or privateer of a belligerent shall be detained in any port, harbor, roadstead, or waters of the United States more than twenty-four hours, by reason of the successive departures from such port, harbor, roadstead or waters of more than one vessel of an opposing belligerent. But if there be several vessels of opposing belligerents in the same port, harbor, roadstead or waters the order of their departure therefrom shall be so arranged as to afford the opportunity of leaving alternately to the vessels of the opposing belligerents and to cause the least detention consistent with the objects of this proclamation.

"No ship of war or privateer of a belligerent shall be permitted, while in any port, harbor, roadstead, or waters within the jurisdiction of the United States, to take in any supplies except provisions and such other things as may be requisite for the subsistence of her crew and except so much coal only as may be sufficient to carry such vessel, if without any sail power, to the nearest port of her own country, or, in case the vessel is rigged to go under sail, and may also be propelled by steam power, then, with half the quantity of coal which she would be entitled to receive, if dependent upon steam alone, and no coal shall be again supplied to any such ship of war or privateer in the same or any other port, harbor, roadstead or waters of the United States, without special permission until the expiration of three months from the time when such coal may have been last supplied to her within the waters of the United States, unless such ship of war or privateer shall since last thus supplied, have entered a port of the government to which she belongs.

Citizens Take Part at Own Peril.

"And I do further declare and proclaim that the statutes and the treaties of the United States and the law of nations alike require that no person, within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States shall take part, directly or indirectly in the said wars, but shall remain at peace with all of the said belligerents, and shall maintain a strict and impartial neutrality.

"And I do hereby enjoin all citizens of the United States, and all persons residing or being within the territory or jurisdiction thereof, to observe the laws thereof and to commit no act contrary to the provisions of the said statutes, or treaties or in violation of the law of nations in that behalf.

"And I do hereby warn all citizens of the United States and all persons residing or being within its territory or jurisdiction that, while the free and full expression of sympathies in public and private is not restricted by the laws of the United States, military forces in aid of any belligerent cannot lawfully be originated or organized within its jurisdiction and that while all persons may lawfully and without restriction by reason of the aforesaid state of war manufacture and sell within the United States arms and munitions of war, and other articles ordinarily known as contraband of war, yet they cannot carry such articles upon the high seas for the use or services of a belligerent nor can they transport soldiers and officers of a belligerent or attempt to break any blockade which may be lawfully established and maintained during the said wars without incurring the risk of hostile capture and the penalties denounced by the law of nations in that behalf.

"And I do hereby give notice that all citizens of the United States and others who may claim the protection of this government, who may misconduct themselves in the premises, will do so at their peril and that they can in no wise obtain any protection from the government of the United States against the consequences of their misconduct.

"In witness whereof, I have here unto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the City of Washington this fourth day of August, in the year of Our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fourteen and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-eighth.

INSPECTOR HERE FOR LOCAL WORK

Dairy Division Man Here to Inspect the Fort Wayne Supply.

L. B. Cook, of the dairy division of animal industry of the United States department of agriculture, is in Fort Wayne and will spend some time here instructing the local health officers and such dairymen as desire information on the subject of improving the milk supply of the city.

The work is entirely educational and the inspectors have no authority to enforce any regulations. Local milk inspectors will be given thorough instruction in the government methods of scoring milk and dairymen whose plants are subjected to inspection will receive the benefit of the extensive experience of the inspector tending to raise the standard of the production and cleanliness in the manner of handling milk for the market.

It is also probable that Mr. Cook will endeavor to interest the Fort Wayne meat and milk inspection department in a milk contest similar to those held in other cities, one of which has just closed at Muskegon, Mich. In those contests prizes are given for general excellence and instructions are tendered without cost to those who desire to raise the standard of their supplies.

The work of dairy inspection will be taken up tomorrow and will extend over such period as the time of the officer will permit.

NAMES DELANO TO RESERVE BOARD

President Appoints Former Head of Wabash Road to Place.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Frederick A. Delano, of Chicago, has accepted a place on the federal reserve board and President Wilson sent his nomination to the senate during the afternoon, and at once it was referred to the banking committee.

Mr. Delano is a financier and railroad manager, a Harvard graduate who entered the Burlington railway shops as a mechanic and became general manager of the line, later to become president of the Wabash. He now is president of the Monon system, and served for some time as a consulting engineer for the war department in the Philippine railway construction.

President Taft nominated him for a place on the industrial relations commission, and while confirmation was held up, his appointment lapsed but President Wilson renominated him and he was confirmed.

AMERICANS IN MUCH DISTRESS

The Netherlands Thronged With People Who Cannot Get Home.

London, Aug. 4.—Arriving today on what probably will be the last boat for some time from the Hook of Holland, W. C. T. Metzrath, of New Brunswick, N. J., reported that the harbor at the Hook was being mined and that countless Americans were stranded in the Netherlands. He said:

"At Hanover, Prussia, where I stopped while on my way to Berlin, I saw a woman and her two children with $2,500 in checks, but without any cash. The American consul was unable to aid her.

"Americans, however, are showing a splendid spirit and are dividing their last crust. We traveled for twenty-four hours without food, locked in the cars all night in cramped positions. There was great suffering, but the children and the women remained game.

"The Germans," Mr. Metzrath continued, "are enthusiastic for war, the men and women joining in patriotic demonstrations. A rumor that Russia had decided on peace was received with regret. One German said to me: 'It is a bad thing; we want to have it out now.'"

Wellesley Harrington, of Albany, N. Y., saw a German who was said to be trying to escape service dragged from a railroad car by soldiers. Later it was reported that the man had been shot. On leaving Berlin Mr. Harrington was on the train for thirty hours without food.

All the stations along the line had been taken in charge by the government. He had hard work proving his citizenship. The officials were suspicious and examined all his cards and letters. One American, he said, was arrested because he had a kodak and he was detained until the films were developed to show that he was not a spy.

All the tourists say the enthusiasm for war in Germany is past belief.

William Reilley, of New York, on arriving from Astend, Belgium, said his trunks had disappeared and that pickpockets had taken his money.

There was a big line of people in the street in front of the American Express company offices in London today waiting to cash checks.

Two hours were required for a person to get his money. Great crowds also thronged about the steamship offices.

The United States embassy was filled with Americans making the usual requests for money and for ships to take them home.

ARE IN BAD PLIGHT.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The scarcity of provisions in Paris and the withholding of money by the French banks today increased the seriousness of the situation insofar as it affected Americans.

Henry W. Diederich, the American consul general in Paris, today sent a cablegram to Washington asking the state department to send a relief ship to relieve the distress of American citizens. Elbert H. Gary and H. H. Harjes, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the committee formed to aid Americans in Paris, have issued a circular which reads in part as follows:

"The secretary has received the names of many hundreds of Americans who are here and he is learning their particular circumstances and desires concerning transportation, etc. The committee is obtaining the facts relating to their financial conditions and the means of departure from France. The committee asks the Americans to be patient and calm, the committee having the support of Ambassador Herrick in this matter."

KAISER SPEAKS TO PARLIAMENT

Declares Germany Forced Into War to Protect Her Prosperity.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—Emperor William opened the imperial parliament in person today. He delivered an important speech from the throne which was partly as follows: "The present situation arose not from temporary conflicts of interest or diplomatic combinations, but is the result of ill will existing for years aginst the strength and prosperity of the German empire.

"We are not pushed on by the desire of conquest. We are moved by the unbending desire to secure for ourselves and those coming after us the place on which God has put us.

"My government and, above all, my chancellor, tried until the last moment to prevent the worst happening.

"In enforced self defense, with clear conscience and clean hands we grasp the sword.

"To the peoples and races of the German empire my appeal goes forth to stand together fraternally with our allies in defense of that which we have created in peaceful work.

"Following the example of our forefathers, firm and faithful, earnest and chivalrous, humble before our God and ready to fight when in face of the enemy let us confide ourselves to the everlasting Almighty who will strengthen our defense and conduct it to a good end."

At the conclusion of his speech from the throne the emperor addressed the deputies directly saying: "Gentlemen: You have read what I said to my people the other day from the balcony of my castle. I repeat now that I no longer know any parties, I know only Germans and in order to testify that you are firmly resolved without distinction of party to stand by my side through danger and death I call upon the leaders of the different parties in this house to come forward and lay their hands in mine as a pledge."

BELGIAN RULER GROWS WARLIKE

In Address to Parliament He Calls on Belgians to Stand Firm.

Brussels, Aug. 4.—King Albert of the Belgians, presided today over a joint session of the Belgian senate and chamber of deputies. In the course of an address his majesty declared that never since 1830 had a graver situation confronted a neutral nation. He said it was imperative that every Belgian should do his duty and resign himself to every sacrifice that might be necessary in order to prevent the violation of Belgian soil.

The king proceeded:

"Our fatherland is in danger. Let me make an appeal to you my brothers. At this supreme hour the entire nation must be of one mind. I have called together the two houses of parliament so that they may support the government in declaring that we will maintain the sacred patriotism of our fathers. Long live independent Belgium!"

A scene of stirring enthusiasm followed. Deputies and senators stood and shouted in chorus the closing words of King Albert's speech.

Premier De Broqueville then made a statement as to Germany's ultimatum to Belgium, and the reply of Belgium, declaring that the government would not sacrifice the country's honor and that the nation would resist by every means in its power all encroachments on its rights. He added:

"The word is therefore 'to arms.' Upon this land of ours we shall not weaken and even if we are conquered we never shall submit. Belgium, supported by the united energy of her sons will not perish."

Another prolonged patriotic demonstration followed, the queen and her children, who were present, being loudly cheered.

M. Vanderville, the socialist leader, today joined the Belgian cabinet so that all political parties might be represented in the government.

GERMANY APPEALS TO ITALY.

Rome, Aug. 4.—Germany has made an appeal to Italy to stand with her according to Giornale D'Italia. The newspaper says the attention of the Italian government has been called to what Germany describes as hostile acts on the part of France, which the German government asserts constitute a case coming within the terms of the treaty of alliance even though on account of these acts the declaration of war came from Germany. The Giornale D'Italia says it understands the Italian government will not change its attitude of neutrality.

GERMANS MENACED NANCY.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The Temps published a resume of incidents on the Franco-German frontier. It says a number of German reconnoitering parties crossed the frontier with the object of ascertaining the strength of the French covering troops. It is assumed by the French military authorities that the Germans would have made a sudden attack in great force on Nancy if the French troops in the vicinity had been found in minor strength. While these reconnoisances were in progress the French troops kept within the three mile zone from the frontier.

ANTON PETROVICH HIS NAME.

The name given to the man found at Tolleston, on the Pennsylvania, badly hurt last Friday, turns out to be Anton Petrovich, and not the fellow mentioned in previous reports. He was a common laborer and had been working about Tolleston for two or three years. AFTER 50 YEARS THEY ARE WEDDED

War Separated Sweethearts and Each Married Another.

Kansas City, Aug. 4.—Sweethearts of long ago, separated and lost from each other for fifty years, each married in the meantime and parents of grown children, have met again and were married at 1517 Minnesota avenue, Kansas side. They are Gilbert L. King, of Ontario, Ore., and Mrs. L. Edna Gaylord, who lives here. Mr. King is 66 years old and Mrs. Gaylord is 64.

As a boy Mr. King attended school at the old log school house in Dodge county, Wisconsin, together with Miss Edna Stafford, now Mrs. Gaylord. He went to all the spelling bees and corn huskings with her and paired off with her for the kitchen dances. In 1864, when he was 16 years old, he joined the Third Wisconsin infantry as a private. After being mustered out, in 1865, he lost track of Miss Stafford, whose family had moved away.

Mr. King joined the throngs of workmen engaged in building the first transcontinental railroad, the Union Pacific. As a station agent he followed the progress of the line westward, changing his office as fast as the road progressed.

During the past thirty years Mr. King has been interested in politics in Oregon, holding public offices all that time. In 1897 he was judge of the district court at Ontario and in 1907 he was a member of the state legislature. He has now retired from public life and is devoting his interest to irrigation projects.

Two years ago Mr. King learned, through a sister, that his former sweetheart was living in Kansas City, Kas. He wrote to her. The marriage is the outcome.

Mr. King has reared a family of six children. His wife is the mother of three. It was a simple ceremony, only members of the family being invited. Mr. King will take his bride with him to live in Ontario.

What Are Loom Ends?

Every factory and mill in the manufacture of their product accumulates Mill Ends or Loom Ends, as they are commonly called. They are short ends from the looms, ½ yards to 10 yards in length. These short ends are laid aside until the end of the wearing season, then they are tied up in great bundles and disposed of by weight—so much for a hundred pounds instead of so much a yard, the price always being less than the actual cost of the raw material they are made from. LOOM ENDS accumulate in all mills, therefore careful buyers by a persistent system of buying can secure loom ends of every conceivable kind and piece of goods that is made.

PLUCKY SOLDIERS, FIGHTING TOOTH AND NAIL WHEN NECESSARY, ARE THE SERVIANS

Some of Their Wonderful Past Performances — Soldiers Who Want to Know Why.

No pluckier people live in the world than the Servians, who are about to give battle to the great Austrian empire. There are about 4,000,000 of them in Servia itself.

Back in the days of their old empire, five and six centuries ago, they showed pluck and teriffic fighting ability when opposed by heavy odds.

But let us consider what they have done in the last 110 years. For over 400 years they had been under the heel of the Turk, when, in 1840, the Turkish soldiers, or Janissaries, perpetrated a general massacre.

Among those Servians who escaped was Black (Kara) George, who organizedguerilla warfare in the mountains. In a few days he had armed the nation with rude weapons—scythes and pitchforks for the most part—and won a series of victories by sudden onsets. He proceeded to win a pitched battle and capture fortresses.

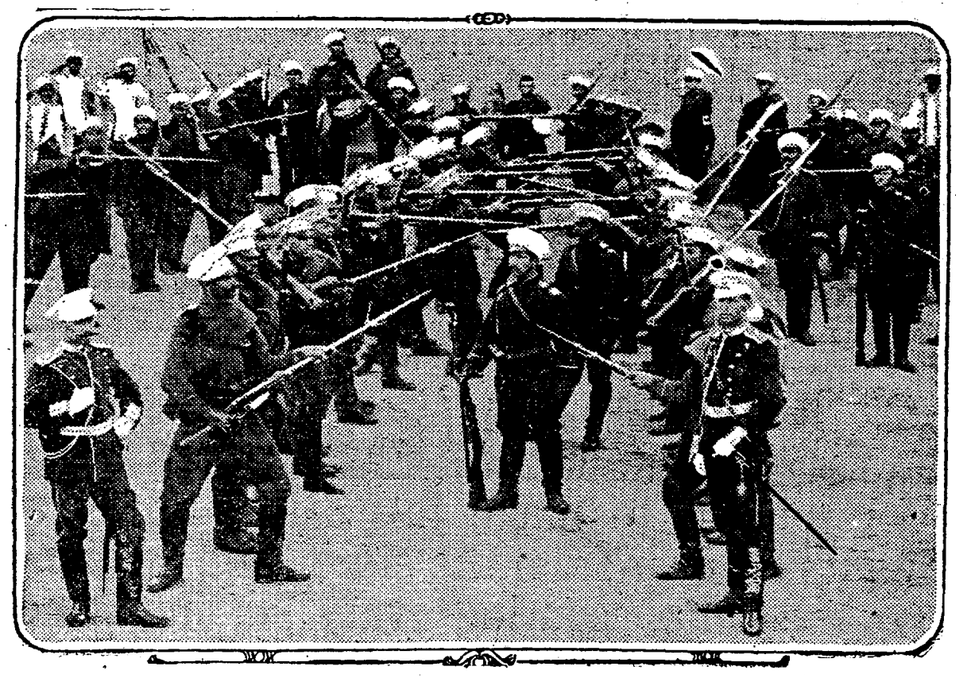
The Janissaries submitted, and the sultan invited the Servians to return to their homes with his blessing. But Kara George required more than thanks, and failed to obtain satisfaction.

The result was an open breach, and a few thousand highlanders found themselves face to face with the whole force of the Ottoman empire. A pasha was sent to subdue them.

He regarded the expedition as a soft job and boasted that all he needed was a few ropes with which to bind insubordinate peasants, or a few woollen caps and pocket knives for their propitiation. He met the Servian vanguard, and before he knew where he was at, Kara George was upon him with 10,000 men. He was put to flight and died of shame shortly after.

The Turks now set to work seriously, and Kara George was soon reduced to guerilla warfare with only some 1,500 men. He harassed an army of 80,000 men from Bosnia, and at last gave it battle at Mishar on August 4, 1806. He seemed almost superhuman.

His colossal figure towered above his comrades, his voice thundered like a hurricane; all were carried away by the example of his courage. The Bosnians were practically annihilated, and only a few scattered fugitives contrived to straggle across the frontier. The Turks gave in, and Belgrade was taken by the Servians. In 1811 Kara George had emancipated his country and assured his position as ruler. In 1813 he was driven into exile.



THE SERVIAN "TERRIBLE FOOT." WHAT THE INFANTRY LOOKS LIKE.

But the pluck of the Servians sufficed to save their land. They rallied to a new leader, Milosh Obrenovitch, the founder of the late dynasty.

The old tactics were adopted, women, children and monks becoming sharpshooters behind every rock. Milosh was soon strong enough for a battle. A desperate hand-to-hand struggle ensued. When ammunition failed the Servians fought with their daggers, even with their nails and teeth, and secured victory after performing prodigies of valor. Soon they were able to encounter the pasha of Bornia, and Milosh defeated him.

In 1876 they fought Turkey again and, though they suffered defeat, there was no sign of decay in their hereditary valor.

That defeat they paid the Turks with interest in the war of 1912. In 1913 they fought Bulgaria and inflicted a crushing defeat.

As every Servian has to go through his term of military service, the army may be regarded as the nation under arms. Nevertheless, they are by no means a surly, pugnacious crew. Foreigners living in Servia say that the soldiers are good-natured fellows who love a good time when not being hard worked.

On saints' days and other festivals officers relax and equality between them and the privates reigns.

After a religious ceremony at the barracks, where the colonel, the senior noncommissioned officer, the senior private and the chaplain broke a huge cake to the accompaniment of prayers and chants, the day was devoted to singing, dancing, eating and drinking.

It was a fine sight when about 150 men joined hands in one long coil and danced the national kolo, twisting in and out like an enormous serpent, wriggling ever faster and more furiously.

On the whole, discipline is fairly good in the Servian army but the peasant soldiers often want to know reasons before obeying orders. This is only in keeping with the independent ideas of the people.

There is no doubt about their efficiency as modern soldiers.

An English expert who was present when the artillery marched past a review was most enthusiastic about its performance, which he described as magnificent.

He was also greatly impressed by a cavalry parade at Kragujevats. The gallop in line was beautiful in its symmetry, the wheeling had the precision of machinery, and the leaping was a very dainty performance. Most noticeable was the splendid physique of the soldiers, hardened as they are by life in the open air.

Their marching and staying powers are well above the average, and their general appearance is very smart. You never see a Servian soldier who is not spick and span. The cadets of the military academy are particularly to be commended in this respect.

physician, stated recently that thousands of wives of physicians can stretch out their hands in sympathy to Mrs. Carman, accused of the murder, and understand completely the pain she suffered.

Dr. Warner Brown, eminent psychologist and professor at the University of California here, says that doctors' wives have no grounds upon which to be jealous. He said:

"Sympathy, pills and plasters—they are all handed out with equal sangfroid by the doctor to his women patients.

"If a doctor be thrown into more direct touch with the same women, they are not therefore the more likely to justly arouse the jealousy of the doctor's wife. For a medico's viewpoint is so broad and his knowledge of both men and women so comprehensive that no situation is likely to arouse in him the slightest feeling. Doctors view their patients and their patients' complaints from a matter-of-fact angle. They are apt to be surfeited with the unusual to such a degree that it is no longer novel."

NEED DOLLARS; NOT EUGENICS

Child Hygiene Expert is in Favor of Coming of Foreigners.

New York, Aug. 4.—Race suicide does not threaten the United States so long as foreigners continue to emigrate to this country, declares Dr. S. Josephine Baker, head of the city's bureau of child hygiene. Her statement is drawn out by the published fact that alien-born women i nthis city are bearing more children than their native-born sisters.

"There is nothing to make one feel pessimistic over the situation," Dr. Baker said. "There will be no race suicide in America so long as the foreigners continue to pour into our shores. Even without them I should not fear race suicide, because I believe people are as interested in babies as they ever were. In fact, they are more interested in them; they wish to give their children better, advantages than they themselves had. That is why the families are smaller now.

"I can think of two very practical reasons why this circumstance should exist. They are:

"1. Economic pressure.

"2. The desire of every parent—an American desire—to give their children more education and better training than they had.

"The reason why economic pressure makes the New York woman's family smaller than that of her foreign sister is quite evident. People who have always lived a free, open, bucolic life, and who have produced with their own hands the things they eat and wear, always have larger families than the people who dwell in the cities.

"Most of the European peasants are of the type cited. They come to this country, setle in the cities, and the pressure at once becomes greater. Instead of growing their vegetables and weaving their own clothing, they have to buy them. What a dollar will do in Europe ten will hardly do here.

"Then it does not take the foreigner long to adopt the family habits of the average American. The father and mother come here with a large family. They see Mr. Smith's family just across the way, with the girls learning music and the boys going to the gymnasium. They wish their children to do these things.

"There are so many dollars and so many children. The way to make the dollars do more for one child is to decrease the number of children. It is a question of dollars, not eugenics.

"So the next generation of the foreign family will not have so many children, but the children will have better advantages.

"Today the average American family is made up of three children and the two parents. Figures collected among college people show these men and women have families averaging two children. The Italian family which comes to New York, on the other hand, averages six children.

"The fact that our native-born women are bearing fewer children than the foreign-born women is not only true here, but is universal. As civilization advances, the size of the family decreases. But this will be true only to a certain point. At present I can not see any danger of it becoming so menacing that it will result in race suicide."

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

CHEROKEE'S DAYS AS TRIBE NEAR END

Will Become American Citizens When President Signs New Bill.

Washington, Aug. 4.—When the president signs the Indian appropriation bill the Cherokee tribe, the largest of the five civilized tribes of Indians, will be dissolved. Its members have already been merged into the white civilization of Oklahoma. In 1907, when the new state was formed, they became citizens of the state and of the nation.

To each of the 41,789 persons on the tribal rolls Mr. Cato Sells, commissioner of Indian affairs, will give $15 in cash, being their pro rata part of $600,000 of tribal funds in bank and in the hands of the government. The resignation of W. C. Rogers as principal chief has been asked for by Mr. Sells.

The Cherokees originally occupied the Appomattox basin of Virginia, but were driven southward into the Carolinas and Georgia and thence westward, when gold was discovered in their hunting grounds.

The task of converting the Cherokees from a tribal community into a body of individual landowners began in 1902, when they signed an agreement with the United States by which the government undertook to make complete rolls of all the tribesmen and divide the land and money among them.

The Curtis act, passed by congress in 1898, provided for the valuation and allotment of the lands of the five civilized tribes. In 1906 the legislative and judicial departments of the Cherokee nation passed out of existence, but the executive branch was kept up.

The task of dissolving the Cherokees, which might, in a general way, be compared with that of winding up the affairs of an immense estate, had by July 1 last progressed to such a degree that it only remained for the United States to execute a few deeds to small tracts of land. All community property has been converted into cash, and each Cherokee has received his allotment.

Agreements similar to that with the Cherokees were made with the Chickasaws, Choctaws, Creeks and Seminoles, and the work of winding up their affairs is now in progress. At its completion these four tribes also will be dissolved. The Creek and Seminole nations will be the next to cease to exist as tribal entities, possibly within a year. Thus a considerable part of the [illegible]

DRINKER GIVES UP HIS PAROLE

Unable to Quit Liquor a Convict Goes Back to Prison.

Philadelphia, Aug. 4.—Mr. "Bob," an energetic little German, who is listed on the roster of the eastern penitentiary as No. 5297, is again occupying his old cell in the institution.

No. 5297 is a voluntary prisoner and may spend the next sixteen years within the close confines of the penitentiary. That he is happy and better off as a prisoner than he would be at large is the admission he makes. The story of Mr. "Bob" is perhaps the most remarkable that ever emanated from a penal institution in this country.

Briefly, Mr. "Bob" was paroled eight months after serving four years of a twenty years' sentence in the penitentiary. Last week he returned to the prison and surrendered. He had violated the conditions of the parole and insisted that he should be locked up. His wish was granted and the prison gates once more closed upon him.

After eight months of sobriety he fell. For four days he drank heavily. Then, fearing that he would murder his boy, who is 7 years old, he surrendered.

"There is a little manhood in me yet, warden," he said when taken back into the prison. "Old rum has got me again. It was the cause of my being here, you know, for four years. I killed my wife and paid the penalty. Society gave me another chance, but I failed to make the most of my opportunities.

"If I remain out and continue drinking, I will probably kill my boy or do something equally as bad. I am not bad, but merely need protection. Society protects me from whisky in prison, but fails to do anything for me on the outside.

"And there is another element that must be considered. The parole system has worked out well for hundreds of men, but suppose that I, while on parole, committed another murder. I would not only come back for life, but penologists might shake their heads and doubt the entire parole system. My case would be pointed out as an example. The old argument might be made that once a murderer, always a murderer. Then some good chap, who has more will power to fight rum and its influences, would be blocked from a parole if he was serving time for murder."

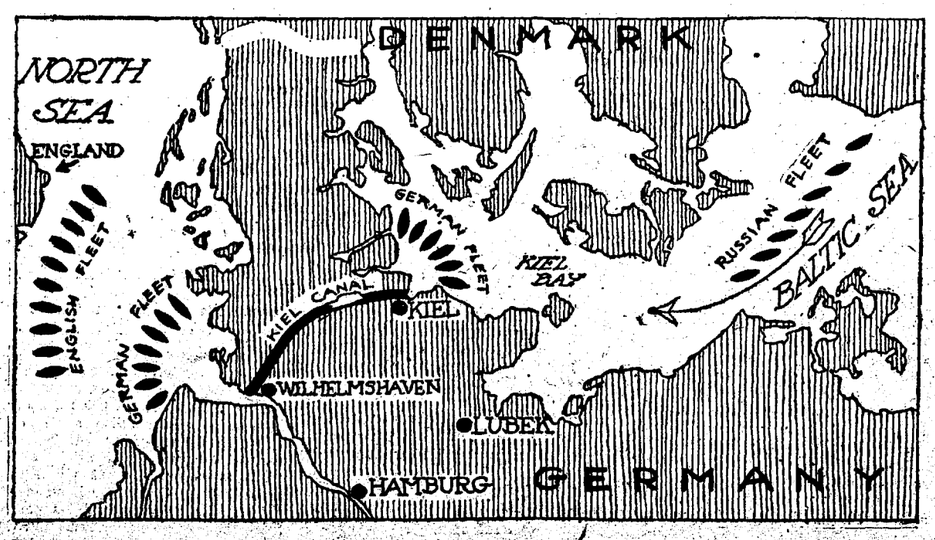
TERRIFIC AVAL BATTLE IMPENDS—ENGLAND'S AND GERMANY'S GREAT FLEETS FACE TO FACE.



The greatest naval battle in the world's history will be fought if the general war comes. England's fleet is the largest in the world. Germany's fleet is drawn up in two squadrons at either end of the Kiel canal. The eastern squadron is in the Elbe river near where that stream flows into the North sea. If the Elbe squadron is attacked by the English fleet in full force, the battleships over in Kiel bay can rush through the canal to help. If the English fleet sails all around Denmark and down to Kiel bay, the Elbe squadron can rush through the canal to help the other. The English would probably not attack in full force at either end [illegible]

TWO THOUSAND AERIAL FIGHTING SHIPS READY FOR BATTLE---PRESENT CONFLICT TO BE A WAR IN THE AIR

France Leads With 750 Aeroplanes and Dirigibles, Also Many Hydrogen Factories, Balloon Sheds, Aeroplane Camps—Germany's Air Fleet Numbers 500; Russia, 380; Italy, 200; Australia, 150; England, 130 — Terrible New Bombs from Krupp Works.

"I firmly believe that the battles in the future will be fought in the air."—General Leonard Wood, chief of staff, U. S. army.

2,110 AIRSHIPS PREPARING FOR WAR IN THE AIR.

Two thousand, one hundred and ten war aeroplanes and dirigibles owned by the six great powers of Europe are being made ready to go to war. With the exception of Germany and England, there would be little chance for sea fighting. Here is how the airships are divided:

France, 750; Germany, 500; Russia, 380; Italy, 200; Austria, 150; England, 130. Total, 2,110.

Will the present European conflict, providing the powers of the triple entente and the triple alliance are drawn into the maelstrom, be fought in the air?

A dispatch from Berlin says: "The war, if such, will be a war in the air. Two thousand, one hundred and ten aeroplanes and dirigibles, manned by trained army officers and owned by the six great powers, are being made ready for the great struggle—if the struggle comes to a fighting point."

France has 750 aerial warships, dirigibles with trained crews. Germany comes next with 500—perhaps more efficient than even the French airships and as capably manned with fighting men—scientific aviators—soldiers.

Russia comes third on the list of aerial armament with a fleet of 380. Italy has 200, Austria 150 and England 130.

This gives a total of over 2,000 airships, built on latest scientific military plans, ready to destroy each other in the air—to hurl death into cities and towns—to play the role of army and navy scouts!

France for some time has lived in constant fear that the aeroplanes of the German army would some day fly over and bring destruction to her cities and fortresses. England has never permitted the fear to die that Germany would send her powerful fleet of death-dealing aeroplanes and dirigibles over to destroy and kill.

So, the nations have feverishly added to their fleets of the air to meet such an emergency.

Air fleets have been built more rapidly than battleships. Torpedo boats have been held back to give the workmen more time for aeroplanes. It would appear as if the time has now come to make a final test of the aircraft in time of war. Experts predict it.

The German and French nations on their respective frontiers have established aeroplane camps which offers the paradoxical appearance of inland naval bases.

France has taken these precautions at Toul, Verdun, Chalons Sur Marne, Bar Le Duc and Epinal. The French government has established factories for the production of hydrogen for dirigibles at Paris, Lille, Langres, etc. Huge aeroplane and dirigible sheds have been constructed at Rheims, Issy-Les-Moulineaux Pau and Moisson.

The French aerial budget for 1911 was $1,240,000. For 1913 it was estimated at $8,500,000.

In Germany, three expeditions have been made to the Arctic regions to test the practicability of the dirigible for polar exploration. Germany has a number of hydrogen factories and many balloon sheds and aeroplane camps. Germany's air fleet numbers 500.

Russia has 380 aerial warships, Italy 200, Australia 150, England 130.

The naval Z is stationed on the North Sea at Wilhelmshaven, Germany's chief point of defense in case of conflict with England. The Z I is at Koenigsberg, on the Russian frontier. Last year Germany added nine units to its fleet of air fighters. The number is being doubled at the present time. Germany has in her army corps 400 diploma pilots who are all highly skilled aviators and soldiers. Germany has spent nearly $8,000,000 within the last year on her aerial fleet, which has added chiefly to the strength of her dirigibles. T. R. MacMechen, noted expert and writer on aviation, said recently in Everybody's Magazine:

"Some morning England, perhaps, or France, or Germany, or some other European power, will open its eyes to find its capital and the rear of its armies menaced by hostile air fleets. It will then be called upon to decide whether to accept peace on ignominious terms, or destructive war with humiliating defeat almost certain. Its only hope of success will rest in its ability to summon, without loss of time, an air navy of its own sufficiently strong to destroy the enemy's or drive it across the border."

An exact science has now been made of bomb dropping from on high—gunners on the biggest battleships in the world are no more skillful in their work and in their precision than are the men who have studied the destruction of property and human life from a swaying airship.

From the Krupp factory there is now turned out a terrible fire-bomb that sheds a bright light, not only during its flight, but after it strikes the earth. It immediately ignites any inflammable material with which it comes in contact—its explosion is terrific.

A searchlight has been perfected which will suspend 500 feet below the airship so that the gunners are aided in directing their fire where it will do the most damage.

Another Krupp bomb explodes high in the air and destroys airships sailing below the ship from which it is thrown overboard. It also emits dense smoke which gives the aeroplane time to escape from return fire.

In recent aeroplane maneuvers in Germany, a torch was attached to a long wire and hung from a moving aeroplane. This firebrand dragged through towns and over sun-baked fields, starts a conflagration which burns up entire communities and subjects the invaders to but small danger.

Again, the issue of a battle may rest on the valuable information which aeroplanes are able to bring to headquarters.

In a few hours a fleet of air-dreadnoughts can sail to the center of France or England from the interior of Germany.

More damage can be done with the German aerial fleet in six hours than with the Germany navy in six weeks, according to experts.

BIG LOSS IN FARM FIRE.

Spontaneous Combustion Causes Blaze on Sorg Farm.

Spontaneous combustion in a mow of new hay is believed to be the cause of a blaze discovered at 8 o'clock Monday evening in the barn on the farm of Theodore Sorg, seven miles south of the city on the Winchester road. The structure was consumed with all its contents and it is estimated that the loss will exceed $3,000. Only $500 insurance was held on the building and its contents. Twelve hogs, a machine shed and a large store of hay and grain were lost in the flames and only a few horses and two buggies were saved. The farm is occupied by Joseph Barva.

The motor chemical of the city fire department made a run to the fire but unable to save the building the firemen

NEW PORTABLE SCHOOLS.

Board Hopes to Relieve Congestion at Opening of New Term.

In regular session Monday night members of the city school board ordered two portable school buildings, to be used at the opening of the coming term in relieving congestion anticipated because of the construction of two new schools. The new portables will be placed near the site of the old Harmer school, and when that building is completed they will be kept permanently by the board for future use in case of unexpected congestion. Each building is to contain one large room with suitable ventilation facilities.

These numbered tags will greatly facilitate the judges' work. Each judge will work independently of the other and after having listed such numbered costumes as he thinks most worthy as prize winners, the three judges will then compare notes and make their decision. These numbered tags will be furnished by Manager Williams at the Bijou building and should be put on by the wearers as soon as the park is reached because the judges will be upon the ground at 2:00 p. m. CHICAGO GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Wheat advanced sharply today as a result of improved prospects for a speedy renewal of exports to Europe. The course of the British government in guaranteeing war risks on shipments from this country was supplemented by similar action on the part of importing firms in Germany.

The close, nevertheless, was strong and 2½@2⅝c net higher on account of late reports of export buying.

The opening, which ranged from ½c lower to ¼@⅜c higher, was followed by a rise of 2½c to 3⅝c compared with last night's. September touched as high as 90c, December 94c and May $1.

Closing prices were strong, 2½c to 2⅝c above last night.

Hot dry weather threatening serious crop damage lifted corn. After starting ⅛c to ⅞c higher, prices continued to ascend, and in some cases gained as much as 3½c, September reaching 70c.

Although oats opened lower under pressure of hedging, a substantial advance ensued. The cause was sympathy with the bullish course of other grain.

Provisions rallied moderately from yesterday's depression. It was freely predicted that the decline in hog prices would cut down receipts and lead to a sarcity of provisions, especially meats.

CLAIM CONTROL OF NEXT HOUSE

Republican Chairmen of Seven States Meet in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Republican state chairmen in seven states, in conference here issued a statement last night predicting republican gains this year in their states big enough to give control of congress to the republicans if the same ratio were to prevail throughout the country.

The conference was called by Will H. Hays, chairman for Indiana. The others present were T. J. Sherrard, of West Virginia, W. L. Parmenter, of Ohio, Roy O. West, of Illinois, A. J. Groesbeck, of Michigan, E. J. Dithmar, of Wisconsin, and Charles A. Rawson, of Iowa. The state chairman of Missouri was absent because of the primary in his state.

The democratic tariff bill was attacked in the statement.

WOMEN ARE VOTING.

Kansas Is Holding Its Fourth State-Wide Primary.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 4.—Kansas is holding its fourth state-wide primary today. Women are voting for all offices for the first time. The names of 300,000 of them are upon the poll books and they are represented by several state and congressional candidates. The women's organizations have forced every candidate to declare himself on national prohibition and national suffrage.

An unusual feature was the fact that candidates for the supreme and district courts ran on a non-partisan ticket and a woman, Mrs. Lizzie S. Sheldon, of Lawrence, appeared as a candidate for justice of the supreme court. Congressman Victor Murdock, of Wichita, is the progressive candidate for United States senator, and Henry J. Allen heads the ticket for governor.

Joseph L. Brostow is having strong opposition in the republican primaries in his effort to return to the United States senate. Charles Curtis, of Topeka, A. M. Harvey, of Topeka, and H. H. Tucker, of Kansas City, oppose him.

Seven democrats seek the senatorial nomination.

George H. Hodges has no opposition for renomination as a democrat for governor, nor has Arthur Capper, of Topeka, for the same office as a republican.

LITTLE HUSBAND CAUSED TROUBLE

Everding Family Affairs Again Aired in City Court.

With her mountainous frame towering head and shoulders above the diminutive form of her former husband, Mrs. Pearl Everding, of Baker street, appeared before Judge Kerr in the municipal court Tuesday morning and instituted surety of peace proceedings against the little man. She said he threatened to shoot her many times. She also admitted that she had threatened to kill him, and before the argument had all been submitted, it was shown that both had numerous grievances and it is safe to say that the usual audience back of the spectators' rail was given a big "ear full." The husband pleaded not guilty to the charge and said he visited his former wife's home only to get his children away from her, charging that her home was conducted on a low moral standard and that it was no place for his two daughters to be reared. In placing Everding under a $200 surety of peace bond, the court said:

"I've no doubt Mrs. Everding but what you could take care of yourself, but if you feel afraid of him, I will have to place him under this bond, because he might attempt to harm you sometime and while this will tend to protect you from injury, it will not keep him away from your house because of an order in the superior court, awarding Mr. Everding the permission to visit his children twice each week."

Everding once filed a cross complaint against his wife's suit for divorce and was awarded a decree, according to evidence submitted. Later they remarried and the separation now was obtained by Mrs. Everding.

A Nice, New Certificate.

Beautifully enclosed in a portion of a ream of nice, white tissue paper, a new and officially signed marriage certificate was presented Judge Kerr to show him that Albert Gaines and Queenie Glover were married Monday. They were in court Monday after having been arrested for living together unmarried. They told the judge they had agreed to get married, so after potting change to the amount of $2 they got a license and Justice of the Peace Grabner tied the knot Monday afternoon.

Negro Goes to Jail.

James Williams, a bad colored man who came here from Kalamazoo a week or so ago, was fined $10 and costs and given a jail sentence of twenty days after pleading guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct. He also pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying concealed weapons and this case against him was continued indefinitely. Williams was ordered to stay away from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boyer, on Eureka street, where he had been living with a woman who was not his wife. He went back to the house Monday night and started a row and was chased away by Boyer, who shot at him with an old rifle. He then came down town and secured a revolver, returned to the house but was apprehended and arrested by Detective Sergeants William Pappert and Charles Spillner and Officer Joe Degitz.

Drunks Let Go.

Charles Black, charged with public intoxication, was let go and John Walters, who took $5 from him was turned loose also after he had returned the money. Walters said he was so drunk that he did not remember of having taken the money from Black. Jack Ross, arrested for the second time this summer while on a big drunk was given another chance and promised to return to his work at noon. John Rummel, who got into an argument about the payment for a sandwich at the Harmon restaurant was fined $1 and costs.

KAISER HAS UNTIL MIDNIGHT TO QUIT BELGIAN SOIL

GERMANY AND FRANCE IN ACTUAL STATE OF WAR NOW

GREAT BRITAIN PLUNGED INTO MAELSTROM OF WAR

Gives Germany Hours to Quit Belgium, Has Ordered Army Mobilized and Voted a Half Billion for War.

London, Aug. 4.—Great Britain today sent a practical ultimatum to Germany demanding a satisfactory reply by midnight tonight on the subject of Belgian neutrality.

KING GEORGE ORDERS HIS ARMY MOBILIZED.

London, Aug. 4.—A proclamation by King George, commanding the mobilization of the British army, was read today from the steps of the Royal Exchange. A huge crowd cheered and sang the British national anthem.

BRITISH COMMONS VOTES MONEY FOR THE WAR.

London, Aug. 4.—The house of commons today voted $525,000,000 for emergency purposes and passed several bills in five minutes without a dissenting voice.

GERMANY THREATENS BELGIUM WITH FORCE.

London, Aug. 4.—A second ultimatum sent by Germany to Belgium, declared that Germany was prepared to carry through by force of arms, if necessary, any measures she considers essential.

Germany's second ultimatum was delivered by the German minister in Brussels late last night as the reply of Germany to the refusal of Belgium to accede to Germany's first ultimatum.

London, Aug. 4.—Premier Asquith in the house of commons confirmed the sending to Germany of a request that she should give the same assurance of the neutrality of Belgium as France had done and that her reply should be sent to England before midnight.

Mr. Asquith said that a telegram had been sent early this morning to Sir Edward Goschen, British ambassador in Berlin, to the following effect:

"The king of the Belgians has appealed to his Britannic majesty's government for diplomatic intervention on behalf of Belgium. The British government is also informed that the German government has delivered to the Belgian government a note proposing friendly neutrality pending a free passage of German troops through Belgium and promising to maintain the independence and integrity of the kingdom and its possessions on the conclusions of peace, threatening in case of refusal to treat Belgium as an enemy."

Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, requested an answer within 12 hours.

Germany's Message to Britain.

Premier Asquith then read a telegram from the German foreign minister which the German ambassador in London had sent to Edward Grey today. It was as follows:

"Please dispel any distrust that may subsist on the part of the British government with regard to our intentions by repeating most positively the formal assurance that even in case of armed conflict with Belgium, Germany will under no pretensions whatever annex Belgian territory."

The reading of this telegram was greeted with derisive laughter by the members of the house.

The premier continued: "We understand that Belgium catergorically refused to assent to a flagrant violation of the law of nations.

"His majesty's government was bound to protest against this violation of a treaty to which Germany was a party in common with England and must request an assurance that the demand made upon Belgium by Germany be not proceeded with and that Belgium's neutrality be respected by Germany and we have asked for an immediate reply.

Belgium Tells of Threat.

"We received this morning from our minister in Brussels the following telegram:

"'The German minister has this morning addressed a note to the Belgian minister for foreign affairs stating that as the Belgian government has declined a well-intentioned proposal submitted to it by the imperial German government the latter deeply to its regret will be compelled to carry out, if necessary by force of arms, the measures considered indispensable in view of the French menace.'"

Mr. Asquith continued: "Immediately after we received from the Belgian legation here the following telegram from the Belgian minister of foreign affairs:

"'The Belgian general staff announces that Belgian territory has been violated at Vvviers, near Aix-la-Chapelle.'

"Subsequent inormation tends to show that a German force has penetrated still further into Belgian territory.

Another Note from Germany.

"We also received this note this morning from the German ambassador here: 'Please dispel any distrust that may subsist on the part of the British government with regard to our intentions by repeating most positively the formal assurance that even in case of armed conflict with Belgium, Germany will under no pretensions whatever, annex Belgian territory. The sincerity of this declaration is borne out by the fact that we have solemnly pledged our word to Holland strictly to respect her neutrality. It is obvious that we could not profitably annex Belgian territory without making territorial acquisition at the expense of Holland.

"'Please impress upon Sir Edward Grey that the German army could not remain exposed to a French attack across Belgium which was planned according to absolutely unimpeachable information. Germany has as a consequence disregarded Belgian neutrality

RELIEF FOR AMERICANS

American Cruiser Tennessee Will Carry Gold to Europe.

Measures Taken by Federal Government to Rescue the War-Bound.

Washington, Aug. 4.—President Wilson today sent to congress a special message asking for immediate appropriation of $2,500,000 for relief of Americans abroad, in accordance with the plan approved by him this morning.

The president's message follows:

"After further consideration of the existing conditions in Europe insofar as it is affecting citizens of the United States who are there without means, financial or otherwise, to return to their homes in this country, it seems incumbent upon the government to take steps at once to provide adequate means, by the chartering of vessels, or otherwise of bringing Americans out of the disturbed regions and conveying them to their homes in the United States.

"Moreover, in view of the difficulty of obtaining money upon letters of credit, with which most Americans abroad are supplied, it will be necessary to send abroad with funds which can be advanced on such evidences of credit, or used for the assistance of destitute citizens of the United States.

"In these circumstances I recommend the immediate passage by the congress of an act appropriating $2,500,000 or as much thereof as may be necessary to be placed at the disposal of the president for the relief, protection and transportation of American citizens and for personal services, rent and other expenses which may be incurred in the District of Columbia or elsewhere connected with or growing out of the present European war, and for such purposes as he may designate, and to cause to be issued therefor such amounts of bonds of the United States bearing interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum, payable quarterly, redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after 10 years from the date of issue, as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this act, and the sum hereby appropriated, and the bonds authorized to be issued, shall be paid and delivered upon warrants drawn by the secretary of the treasury upon the requisition of the president.

"I earnestly recommend the passage of this act at the earliest possible moment, and express the fervent hope that we shall not be intercepted by foreign war vessels."

There was nervous laughter, applause, oaths, congratulations, protests, which gave way to a grave state of apprehension as the seriousness of the situation became apparent. Electric lights were turned off and the ship was covered from prow to stern in a shroud of

AMERICANS TIED UP IN GERMANY

None Will Be Allowed to Leave Until Mobilization is Complete.

Washington, Aug. 4.—No Americans can leave Germany for the present. Through the German embassy at Newport, the state department has been informed that during the progress of mobilization no foreigners will be permitted to depart.

The German order applies alike to men, women and children, although its purpose is to prevent the flight from Germany of men eligible for military service under pretext of citizenship. The inclusion of women and children in the decree is explained by the apprehension that valuable military information regarding the process of mobilization and especially the points of concentration of the German military forces might be conveyed to the enemy by women.

Missing North German Lloyd Liner, Kronprinzessin Cecelie, Shows Up Safely at Bar Harbor, Maine

PUT ABOUT AND SCUDDED TO THIS SIDE

Barr Harbor, Me., Aug. 4.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kronprinzessin Cecelie carrying more than $10,000,000 in gold and whose whereabouts have been more or less of a mystery since she sailed from New York last Tuesday, arrived in the harbor here today.

The Cecelie dropped anchor here at 6 o'clock this morning after a forced run of four days, her officers fearing capture.

With a cargo of ten millions in gold and a million in silver consigned to French and English bankers, with an estimated value of over $5,000,000 in herself, the Kronprinzessin Cecelie has constituted probably the finest sea prize ever open to capture.

Every Porthole Blanketed.

As she crept along the Maine coast into the harbor under the cover of night, each deck, at every porthole, was blanketed with canvas so that no gleam of light betrayed her whereabouts. Her four stout stacks had been tipped with black paint so she resembled an English steamship.

At one time capture seemed imminent. Captain Charles Polack reported on Sunday that he had intercepted a wireless message from one French vessel to another giving warning of the Cecelie's proximity but under the protection of a providential fog, the North German Lloyd liner escaped.

The Kronprinzessin Cecelie left New York early last Tuesday morning bound for Bremen via Plymouth and Cherbourg.

She had 350 first class, 130 second class and 736 steerage passengers. About a third of the first class are Germans who sailed to anticipate the war crisis whose sudden precipitation drove them back to America. Most of the rest are Americans. Friday night while a dance was in progress one of the passengers noticed that the position of the moon had unaccountably shifted to the port side of the ship. Before the significance was realized the captain called the men into the smoking room.

Return to America Announced.

"Gentlemen," he said, "war has been declared between England, France, Germany and Austria; wa are going back to America. We have enough coal for our return home and it is my earnest hope that we shall not be intercepted by foreign war vessels."

Attempt to Get Over the River Save Into Servia Fails.

Paris, Aug. 4.—A dispatch from Nish, Servia, to the Matin says the Austrian troops were defeated with heavy loss in a battle against the Servians on Sunday near Semendria.

Three regiments of Austrian infantry, comprising nearly ten thousand men, supported by heavy artillery, advanced against the Servians, but were repulsed, leaving many of their number dead and wounded on the field. A large force of Austria ntroops, aided by a flotilla of monitors composed of twenty vessels, has been trying for the last six days to cross the river Save into Servian territory but has not succeeded in landing.

FRANCE AND GERMANY DECLARE AN ENMITY

French War Minister Announces War is Declared and Germany Makes it Known to United States

BULLETIN.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—A bill was introduced in the German imperial parliament today providing for the appropriation of $1,250,000,000 to meet the expenses of the war.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The French minister of war today issued the following note:

"The German ambassador has demanded his passports and diplomatic relations between France and Germany have been broken off.

"War is declared.

"The first act of the Germans, according to information from an authoritative source to the minister of war, was to execute M. Samin, former president of the War society, who lived in Metz, and to imprison all the members of that society."

GERMANY ANNOUNCES WAR.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The German embassy served notice on the United States today that a "state of war" exists between France and Germany. It is tantamount to a declaration of war, but technically different.

The notice from the German embassy at Newport is practically the same as the announcement in Berlin last night by the German premier in which he sought to place upon France full responsibility for the beginning of hostilities. The notice justifies the United States and other neutral countries in the issue of formal proclamations of neutrality and sets in motion all of the legal machinery necessary to empower the German government itself to proceed as in the case of an actual declaration of war.

The only difference noted here between the two forms is that the "state of war" announcement still relieves the German government of liability for the initiation of hostilities such as would be carried by the issue of a formal declaration of war, a point which will figure largely in the negotiations which must close hostilities in the end.

FRANCE GETTING WAR FUNDS.

Paris, Aug. 4. The French government intends to introduce into parliament today several bills to meet the expenses of the war and to regulate business. One of the measures will authorize the Bank of France to increase its note issue to $2,400,000,000. Only July 30 the notes in circulation amounted to about $1,340,000,000. This meas-

Fear held by Fort Wayne people regarding the safety of relatives and friends detained in Germany and other European countries was relieved Tuesday morning by press dispatches explaining that the detention is only temporary until the mobilization of troops

Twenty Ladies to Drive Nails and Saw Wood at Pizaro's Show. Crowds Grow Larger Nightly. Office at 215 W. Berry St. Crowded Daily With People From Far and Near.

It reminds one of a carnival or circus day to see the vast crowds that attend Pizaro's lectures and concerts nightly. Never in the history of Fort Wayne has a man attracted such large crowds and seems to hold them spell-bound by his magnetic talk. Pizaro is a peculiar character and makes many friends. Pizaro's medicines seem to be helping a great many people here and hundreds are calling to thank him for what benefit they have obtained by the use of his remedies. We who are well cannot realize what days and weeks and months of suffering mean. Good health after all is worth more than anything else in the world, his medicine cures and helps the sick man, woman or child and when they are helped they are the most grateful people in the world.

ODD CONTEST.

Tonight Pizaro expects a large crowd as twenty ladies are expected to drive nails. Thursday night another big contest, ten ladies will saw wood. Every night this week Pizaro will give big features. Friday night another amateur contest.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All persons wishing to meet Pizaro's doctor must call at his office at 215 W. Berry street. Examination and consultation free to all who call this week.

LATE WAR BULLETINS.

Brussels, Aug. 4.—A special train carrying all the securities of the National bank of Belgium left here for Antwerp during the night.

Paris, Aug. 4.—A German army aeroplane last evening dropped three bombs on the French fortified town of Luneville to the southeast of Nancy. Some property damage was caused but there were no casualities. German troops continued throughout the night to harrass the French outposts along the frontier by making numerous raids into French territory. The French however, refused to be drawn beyond the six mile zone left unoccupied along the frontier.

Paris, Aug. 4.—German troops today crossed into French territory near Marsla-Tour where one of the most important battles of the Franco-Prussian war was fought August 16, 1870.

Tokio, Aug. 4.—The Japanese foreign office today issued a statement that if the war extends to the far east and England is involved in it, Japan may find it necessary to participate in fulfillment of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

London, Aug. 4.—The German cruiser Breslau bombarded the French naval station of Bona, Algeria, at 4 o'clock this morning afterward steaming off at full speed in a westerly direction, according to a dispatch received at the French embassy here.

London, Aug. 4.—Dowager Empress Marie Feodorowna of Russia is reported to have reached Copenhagen whence she will try to get to St. Petersburg by way of Sweden and Finland. She was on her way to the Russian capital from a visit to England when she was stopped in Berlin and turned back by the German authorities.

London, Aug. 4.—American firms with offices in London were overwhelmed today with orders for canned meats. The prices quoted for this article of consumption have jumped from 10 to 30 per cent. in the past few days.

London, Aug. 4.—German troops today made a further invasion of Belgian territory near Vrviers, to the east of Liege, according to a dispatch to the French embassy here from the French legation at Brussels.

Paris, Aug. 4.—Nearly 2,000 Americans are to sail for the United States on board the French liner France, whose officers have consented to give up their cabins in order to provide accommodations for passengers. Jean Jules Jusserand, the French ambassador to the United States, has booked his passage on this vessel.

Vienna, Aug. 4.—The United States embassy here has undertaken the protection of French citizens resident in Austria-Hungary.

Brussels, Aug. 4.—Rumors were in circulated today that Germany had actually declared war on Belgium. German troops crossed the frontier at Gemmenich near the junction of the Dutch-Belgian and German frontiers.

London, Aug. 4.—According to the Times some cabinet changes are immediately expected and it is virtually settled that Premier Asquith will entrust the portfolio of war to other hands, probably to Field Marshal Lord Kitchener. The idea of a coalition war cabinet is repugnant to liberal papers and according to the liberal chief whip, there is no intention to form a ministry of that sort.

Stockholm, Aug. 4.—A bill proposing a moratorium, was introduced in parliament today. There are 3,000 Russians here with no possibility of their being able to return home.

London, Aug. 4.—Viscount Morley of Blackburn, did not attend today's meeting of the British cabinet council and this was taken as an indication that he had resigned office as lord president of the council.

Brussels, Aug. 4.—The Chronique announces that the Belgian authorities have seized the wireless installation set up by the German school in the Belgian capital.

RELIEF FOR AMERICANS

ing out of the existing disturbance in Europe.

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."

CRUISER TENNESSEE TO GO.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The armored cruiser Tennessee will sail from New York at 8 p. m. tomorrow with between five and eight millions in gold for Americans in Europe.

The sources from which all the gold will be taken had not been fully determined today, but will be arranged further by conferences between officials and New York bankers.

Assistant Secretary Breckenridge, of the war department and a representative of the American Express will sail on the Tennessee.

President Approves Plans.

President Wilson today approved the detailed plans which were drawn up last night at a conference between Secretary Bryan, Secretary McAdoo, Robert Lansing, solicitor of the state department and counsel for the American Express company, and Bejamin Strong, New York banker. Congress will be asked to empower Secretary McAdoo to appoint fiscal agents in Europe to supervise the expenditure of the $2,500,000 fund which will be in addition to the $250,000 appropriated yesterday.

A. C. Miller, of the federal reserve board, will work out the details of the relief plan and to aid him trained men from the war and navy department who are specialists in transportation will be assigned to give their full cooperation.

Will Try to Get Ships.

Mr. Miller first will get into touch with steamship companies to get their co-operation and find what vessel will be available. In order to get gold to Europe, arrangements will be made to send a United States vessel with the consent of foreign governments under the regulations of the United States to the countries involved in the war. The state department today notified diplomatic and consular officers abroad to assemble all Americans in the countries involved and have them ready to embark for home.

Officials have been told that it will be possible to get steamers from the coast wise service and arrangements are being made to charter the necessary number.

TENNESSEE IS CHOSEN.

The armored cruiser Tennessee will be used for sending gold to Europe, in accordance with the plan announced today at the white house. The nations involved in the war will be informed of the purpose for which the gold is being sent to Europe in order that no complications may follow.

Mr. Miller conferred with Secretary Garrison today over the use of army transports. Mr. Garrison explained there were twelve army transports at Galveston, three government owned and the others under charter which could be sent to European ports. The vessels would afford accommodations for thousands of refugees but only a few could be provided with cabin passage. The twenty-one military attaches at European embassies and legations would be put at work to facilitate the transportation.

President Wilson today signed the bill passed yesterday appropriating the first $250,000 for relief of Americans abroad.

ALL CHECKS WILL BE CASHED.

New York, Aug. 4.—Five million dollars gold, private funds, are immediately available for shipment to London and Paris for relief of Americans in Europe and will be sent by an American vessel, warship or otherwise, which the government may designate. Out of this fund there will be cashed travelers' checks held by stranded Americans, no matter by what American banks the checks may have been issued; and where Americans abroad do not hold travelers' checks funds will be advanced them upon their own personal checks on American banks.

Announcement to this effect was made today by Louis M. Porter, manager of the bureau of public relations of the American Express company. Mr. Porter said that the money had been raised by the express companies and the Bankers' Trust company, of this city, and that the two concerns expected definite reply tonight for their request that they be made the government's financial agents abroad and disburse the $250,000 already appropriated by congress.

"We are taking this step," Mr. Porter said, "simply because we realize that somebody must come to the relief of our countrymen abroad. We have been swamped with telegrams from all over the country asking us to help. We do not expect to profit by the misfortunes of Americans in Europe and therefore will make no charge for our services.

"We would prefer that the money should be sent by an American warship but are willing to send it by any other vessel or vessels the government may designate."

TREASURE SHIP IN AMERICAN PORT

canvas. This smothered whatever beams of light escaped through chinks in the stateroom windows. According to the ship's log, she was then 40.46 north latitude, 39.21 west longitude.

Two Days Out of Plymouth.

In two days she would have docked at Plymouth. A group of financiers on board offered to buy the ship and sail her under American colors. But to all proposals the captain replied that his duty was spelled by his orders from Bremen which instructed him to turn back and save his ship. There was a stampede for the wireless, but the captain announced that no messages would be sent for fear of betraying the ships location.

The American port which the captain would try to make was a matter for unlimited speculation. It was not until the passengers awoke this morning in sight of the green Maine hills that the liner's destination became certain. For two nights, with her head and side lights extinguished and every other illumination blotted out with canvas, the Kronprinzessin Cecelie plunged through the fog with unreduced speed and without sounding her fog horn.

Wanted to Escape Capture.

Captain Polack's explanation to a delegation of passengers who protested against fast running under such conditions was that it was his motive to save his ship from capture. He added that he did not consider the danger appreciable as he was not on the usual path.

For a time the protest against what the passengers looked upon as a disposition on the part of the captain to risk their lives threatened to take the form of a written demand that he reduce the speed of the ship.

The captain's only concession was to sound the fog horn.

When the vessel steamed safely into Bar Harbor today he received a long line of passengers, who congratulated him on his achievement. Captain Polack is a lieutenant commander in the German naval reserves.

At 2 o'clock today the ship was waiting the arrival of boarding officers. Among the passengers were Congressman A. J. Barchfeld, of Pennsylvania; Richard Bartholdt, of Missouri; C. Ledyard Blair, of New York; Gov. Charles R. Miller, of Delaware, and Samuel Newhouse, the copper magnate of Utah and New York.

Captain Polack said he was awaiting advices from his line offices in New York.

Can't Get to New York.

"I can see no possibility of taking this ship to New York from here with safety," he said. "To avoid foreign vessels we should have to keep within the three mile limit and to accomplish this, the ship would have to be built like a canoe. We have reached an American port in safety and that was more than I had dared to hope. We have been in almost constant danger of capture and we can consider ourselves extremely lucky to have come out so well.

"I know I have been criticized for making too great speed under bad weather conditions, but I have not wilfully endangered the lives of the passengers. I would rather have lost the whole ship and cargo than have assumed any such risk. Of course, aside from this consideration, my only aim has been to save my ship and cargo from capture.

"I have not been acting on my initiative but under orders from the North German Lloyd in Bremen, and although I am an officer in the German navy my duty has been to the steamship line."

Belligerents Use Words.

Col. G. F. R. Cobbett, an English military officer whose chagrin at not being able to join the army was apparent to every one on board, was one of the few English on the ship. There were a number of German officers. Oral duels and international warfare in the smokingroom helped to divert the minds of the passengers who were inclined to misgivings. To some sleep was impossible. The dark, foggy nights were long vigils until this morning's sun burst its way through the mist that has hung over the North Atlantic. The only gleam of light that relieved the dead blackness was where the ships stirred.

It took several of the ship's officers to restrain passengers from crowding into the small launches that came to the ship's side this morning. A man who managed to get a newspaper from one of the launches was all but mobbed.

Bar Harbor Excited.

The little village of Bar Harbor with its summer colony was all astir before its usual hour to witness the unprecedented spectacle of a big ocean liner anchored just off shore. The smokestacks painted by the crew the morning after the Cecelie turned on her course, led the inhabitants of the village to think that by some strange chance the Olympic had wandered into port; then word went around that it was the missing Cecelie with its famous cargo of gold, and curiosity became feverish.

LINE'S FINEST SHIP.

New York, Aug. 4.—The Kronprincessin Cecelie is the finest ship of the North German Lloyd fleet. News of her safe arrival at Bar Harbor was received at the line offices here in a telegram from Captain Polack. Until his message was received the line was apparently in the dark as to the vessel's movements since steaming out of New York harbor.

The gold aboard the vessel—more than $10,000,000—was consigned by New York bankers to London and Paris. Officers of one of the great international banks concerned, said today that the metal would now probably be landed at Bar Harbor and returned to New York by express.

GERMAN CRUISERS NEAR.

New York, Aug. 4.—The Belgian steamer Vaderland of the Red Star line arrived today from Antwerp and Dover. The steamer sailed before the war broke out so that the passengers knew only what they heard by wireless from this side.

Captain Praeger said the wireless man reported two days ago that the German cruisers Dresden and Karlesruhe were in the vicinity talking in code. Their positions could not be ascertained but it was thought that they were to the eastward of the liner.

ANOTHER CECELIE IN PORT.

Falmouth, Eng., Aug. 4.—The Kronprinzessin Cecelie of the Hamburg-American line, which life New York July 25 for Hamburg, put in here today. She bears the same name as the North German Lloyd steamer which reached Bar Harbor, Me., this morning.

FRANCE AND GERMANY DECLARE AN ENMITY

ure is to exempt the Bank of France from paying out coin in exchange for its notes—in other words, as the semi-official summary of the bill say—"to authorize the institution of forced currency."

A second measure to be introduced will extend the moratorium to other debts, including house rent.

The government will ask for ratification of an agreement with the bank of France by which funds can be advanced by it to the government. The government also will request parliament to authorize the opening of the necessary credits to meet expenses and to obtain resources by a simple decree.

Diplomats Accuse.

Before diplomatic relations and France and Germany were formally severed last night, Baron von Schoen the German ambassador, in an official letter to the French government, declared French aviators had flown over German and Belgian territory and that in the presence of these premeditated acts of aggression by the French the German government considered itself as in a state of war with France.

Premier Viviani in reply protested against the allegations regarding the French aviators and reminded the German ambassador that France had presented a note on Saturday last in reference to the violation of French territory by Germany.

In reply to the ambassador's declaration that a state of war existed Premier Viviani asked the German government to hand to the French ambassador in Berlin his passports.

Ambassador Jules Cambon has been instructed before leaving Berlin to protset to the German government against its violation of the territory of Luxumber and against the presentation of a German ultimatum to Belgium.

Further reports from Luneville indicate that great excitement was caused there by the dropping of bombs from a German aeroplane. One of the main thoroughfares was damaged and also a large barn but nobody was injured.

DECLINES SERVICE OF PRINCE.

Paris, Aug. 4.—President Poincare today received Prince Roland Bonaparte, who placed his services at the disposal of the French government offering to join the army as a soldier and to place his residence in the hands of the authorities for hospital purposes. The president thanked the prince for his offer but said he was confronted by the terms of the law which did not permit a member of the former French ruling house to serve in the French army and this could not now be changed in order to allow the prince to enlist.

TURNED OVER TO HERRICK.

Paris, Aug. 4.—Before leaving the capital last night the German ambassador, Baron Schoen, entrusted the affairs of the German embassy and those of Bavaria to the American ambassador, Myron T. Herrick, in accordance with instructions received when he was told to demand his passports. Arthur Hugh Frazier, second secretary of the American embassy, received the imperial seal and keys from the departing diplomat, the ceremony being witnessed officially by two French army officers.

has been perfected. All Fort Wayne citizens who were in Germany when the order for mobilization was issued are likely to be detained there for some time. This not only includes the men, but also women and children, at least until the kaiser's army has been completely mobilized. It is also believed here that the letter due from August Bruder, the jeweler, who cabled from Germany Monday, will contain this explanation of his detention there.

Reservists of the German army now in Fort Wayne are ready to respond to the call for mobilization here and are awaiting instructions from the consulate offices in this city. It is estimated that there are at least twenty-five Fort Wayne residents who may be classed as reservists of the German army.

The Homer G. Davisson party which includes Miss Clara B. Flick and Miss Mildred Flick, Mrs. Amy Randall Seavey, Miss Abbie and Miss Sophie Pfeiffer and Miss Venette Sites of this city, is supposed to be due in Cologne, Germany, August 5.

One of them is George Delfs, corner of Main and Barr streets, who has communicated with the consular office in Cincinnati seeking information and instructions.

Send Money Home.

Postoffice money orders amounting to nearly $2,000 have been sent abroad during the last twenty-four hours out of Fort Wayne. One foreigner sent $800 in money orders to his home addressed to himself, intending to cash them upon his arrival home, but it is understood that he has made different arrangements and will not return upon the date he originally expected to start. Another consignment of money orders amounting to $500 was sent out Monday to Fort Wayne people in Germany, whose travelers' checks are being refused.

It is understood that many Fort Wayne residents who are citizens of the European countries entangled in the war situation have been sending cash to New York and ordering it cabled to relatives in Germany, England, France and Austria-Hungary.

It was rumored about the business district Tuesday that the postal department had been instructed to cease issuing money orders for European delivery, but this is denied at the money order department at the Fort Wayne postoffice. It is also announced that foreigners who are depositors in the local branch of the postal saving bank have not withdrawn any of their funds.

Take No Bookings.

Fort Wayne agencies of steamship lines state that there has been but little inquiry during the past twenty-four hours concerning bookings. Harry Orr, in charge of the foreign exchange department at the First National bank, says it is impossible for him to take bookings except on the Holland-American line steamship Rotterdam, classed as neutral. He says that the majority of Fort Wayne people now in Europe hold reservations for return on vessels that have been ordered to remain in port. The people now in Germany, France or Switzerland cannot get out of the country. They could get passage, Mr. Orr believes, if it were possible for them to reach Rotterdam, but they cannot secure passage on the railroads to reach that city.

Relatives Alarmed.

No records are held at the office of County Clerk William E. Gerding, to show that either C. J. Micket, the Wells street grocer, now in Germany, or Gaston Bailhe, the musician, also abroad, are naturalized, and local relatives and friends Tuesday expressed alarm caused by the possibilities of them being ordered into active service in their respective countries. Mr. Michel is a native of Germany, while Mr. Bailhe is a native of France.

Many May Lose Land.

Fort Wayne natives of Germany, familiar with the laws of the nation, declare that many natives of their country now living in the United States, stand liable, under the law, to lose any land or business interests held in the old country.

They say that the law provides that men born in Germany, now residing in this country, who are between the ages of sixteen and forty-five years, may be forced to return to Germany and serve as warriors. This holds good also for those who have taken out naturalization papers. It is also said that any man between those years, who left Germany after the age of sixteen years and failed to return for the compulsory military training, will lose all land if the nation so desires under process of confiscation. Any German who left the old country and evaded military training, also loses any inheritance he may have, according to natives of Germany now residing here.

to prevent what means to her a question of life and death—a French advance through Belgium."

Have Demanded Final Answer.

Premier Asquith then said: "I have to add this on behalf of his majesty's government. We cannot regard this as in any sense a satisfactory communication. We have in reply repeated the request made last week to the German government that it should give us the same assurance regarding Belgian neutrality as was given to us by France last week.

"We have asked that the German reply to that request and a satisfactory answer to our telegram of this morning should be given before midnight tonight."

The premier concluded his grave statement amid a great outburst of cheering from all parts of the house.

BRAZIL TO SEEK RELIEF.

Rio Janiero, Aug. 4.—The Brazilian government is understood to be about to send four steamers of the Brazilian Lloyd line to the United States to bring back coal, oil and provisions.

A decree was issued today declaring a bank holiday in Brazil until August 15 after a conference had been held by the cabinet ministers and the finance committees of the Brazilian senate and chamber under the presidency of Marshal Hermes Da Fonseca, president of the republic. It was decided also to ask parliament to vote a moratorium.

The minister of finance suggested besides these measures the issue of a decree declaring unconvertible the bills of the conversion fund so as to prevent gold going out of the country. These measures have been taken owing to the urgent necessity of assisting Brazilian commerce during the critical situation brought about by the events in Europe.

SWISS ARMY MOBILIZED.

Berne, Switzerland, Aug. 4.—The military mobilization of Switzerland has been completed. Every able bodied man has responded to the colors and every railway bridge and mountain pass is occupied. The colors have extended to the commandeering of all available provisions and all means of locomotion, even bicycles have been requisitioned.

SAYS GERMANS ARE INCENSED.

London, Aug. 4.—A dispatch to the Morning Post from St. Petersburg, represents Germans in the Russian capital as incensed at the conduct of their government which to the last pretended surprise at Russia's policy and then withdrew its ambassador suddenly leaving its nationals in the lurch as the American embassy to whose care German interests were entrusted, was quite unprepared to deal with such a complex question. As a result, the correspondent says, the Germans are unable to leave Russia and having lost their employment, found themselves in a pitiful condition.

SWEDEN WOULD BE LET ALONE.

Stockholm, Aug. 4.—It was stated today that both Germany and Russia made inquiries on Sunday as to whether Sweden would remain neutral. Germany's not was brief, merely demanding to know whether Sweden was "for or against us." The ministers declined to say what reply was given but they are preparing to defend the nation's neutrality. The German ultimatum to Belgium created a deep impression here and it is believed that if a similar ultimatum was addressed to Sweden she would follow the Belgian example in refusing to aid Germany.

WILL TREAT AMERICANS WELL.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The French government, the foreign office and the military authorities have expressed to Ambassador Herrick and Consul General Thackara their desire to treat well the Americans who are still here, facilitating their departure if they wish to leave or permitting them to remain without annoyance or embarrassments that can be avoided.

RAILWAY WAR IS FULLY AVERTED

Western Managers and Enginemen and Firemen in Agreement.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Peace in the railway world west of the Mississippi for the next eighteen months, at least, was assured early today when representatives of ninety-eight railroads and 60,000 enginemen and firemen signed an agreement to submit their differences to arbitration.

It was the culminating act in efforts of the federal board of mediation to avert what President Wilson characterized as a "national disaster" and followed the president's appeal to the railroads to place patriotism above property interests and they agreed to arbitration under a plan already approved by the mediators and the employes, also they realized, and President Wilson pointed out, that all the merits of their case could not be considered.

Hearings in Chicago.

When the board of arbitration is organized its hearings will take place in Chicago. The railroads and the employes immediately will name two arbitrators each and they will select two others. If they fail to agree on that point, the board of mediation will act.

The hearings must be begun within thirty days after organization of the board and its award must be made within the next ninety days. It will become effective ten days later and continue for one year.

The questions to be submitted to the board are original demands of the employes contained in their communication to the railroads last October. Counter claims of the railroads are withdrawn.

The wage schedules and working conditions in last October are restored and they cannot be adversely affected so far as the employes are concerned by any award by the arbitrators.

PARALIZED WIFE ASKS A DIVORCE

Mrs. Finagan Says Husband Left Her When She Was Very Ill.

In a divorce complaint filed in the superior court by Mildred Finegan against Clarence Leroy Finegan, the wife charges that her husband left her on June 14 of this year, ill from the effects of a stroke of paralysis that she sustained.

She also says he went home under the influence of liquor during their married life, which began June 4, 1913, abused her and used language that she does not want to include in her complaint. She asks $2,000 alimony and C. B. Aldrich filed the action.

Repays Daughter For Care.

Under the will of Katharina Kabisch filed Tuesday in the circuit court, $500 is given to a daughter, Catherine Kabisch for services rendered the decedent during her life. The same daughter and Nettie Kabisch, another daughter, are given the use of the homestead for a year with the provision that they pay only the taxes and at the end of this term the property is to be equally divided.

Request Came Too Late.

Because of the fact that the will of Mrs. Amanda Dawson, just filed in the circuit court for probate, was not found until several weeks after her death, it was not possible to carry out the request that her body be cremated after it had been kept long enough to make certain that life was extinct. It had been buried some time before the document was discovered.

The will bequeaths to Mrs. Louisa F. Stallard, of Lafayette, a sister, all personal and real property for life and at her death goes to her children, Mary Luella Stallard, Amanda Belle Claypool, John Strange Stallard and Anna Hester Davisson. A second paragraph of the will eliminates John Stallard from any part of the estate.

Witnesses to the codicil were J. Brackenridge, R. E. Brackenridge, W. A. Croxton and Col. R. S. Robertson. The estate is said to be worth $20,000. Ernest W. Cook, of the Citizens' Trust company, filed a petition asking letters of administration. He says Mrs. Louisa F. Stallard has refused to act as administratrix, as provided in the will, and that, at her request, the company will take care of the estate. Relatives of Mrs. Dawson and their addresses follow: Mary Luella Newsom, niece, Columbus, Ind.; Louisa F. Stallard, sister, Lafayette; Amanda Belle Claypool, niece, Pine Village, Ind.; Anna Hester Davisson, niece, Lafayette. The will was drawn May 20, 1887.

FEARS GIRL WILL CHANGE HER MIND

Monroeville Man Who Eloped to Kalamazoo Put in Rush Order for Marriage License.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 4.—"Say, can you hurry right down here and get us a license before my girl changes her mind?" was a message over the telephone that caused Deputy County Clerk William Stauffer to hurry to the court house Saturday night.

"Sorry to have to bother you, but the young woman here did not make up her mind until noon today and I am taking no chances. We have been keeping company for years and it has taken her all this time to say 'yes,' said Herman Johnson, 30 years, a machinist, of Monroeville, Ind., as he introduced Miss Tillie Harpstrite, of New Baden, same state, to the deputy clerk at the county building.

"I didn't make up my mind until Herman called me up over the 'phone and asked me to get married, and then I decided not to wait any longer,' said the blushing young woman.

The pair arrived in Kalamazoo late Saturday afternoon, after the clerk's office was closed, and Johnson then started out to find the officials. He was unable to locate the whereabouts of County Clerk Edward Curtenius, then on his way to his farm west of this city, but the stranger finally managed to get Mr. Stauffer on the wire.

Rev. W. P. French performed the ceremony.

Doctor Speaks Out

to Coffee Drinkers

The Boston Advertiser of June 15, 1914, quotes Dr. D. H. Kress, of Chicago, in address as saying that tea, coffee and cocoa cause more deaths than alcohol.

"These table beverages are sapping the life of our nation. They are making us a race of weak-kidneyed, weak-livered beings, unable to reproduce ourselves. The kidneys and liver do not perform their proper functions, and the waste matter left in the system tends to bring on arteriosclerosis.

"Statistics show conclusively that as the consumption of coffee, tea and cocoa have increased, the number of nervous diseases and insanity have increased proportionately."

This strong statement from a medical authority, cannot be lightly disregarded.

It is easy to prove in one's own case whether coffee is the cause of frequent "spells" of nervousness, indigestion, biliousness, liver complaint, headche, heart disturbance and other ills.

To All Old Ladies.

"They say that old folks love to live
in days long passed away,
And find their sweetest comfort in some
misty yesterday;
But somehow I don't recollect a lot of
precious things
Since all the youngsters went away and
Mary's soul took wings.
It seems when I get thinking, that the past is like a lane
Of brown, old lilac bushes that can
never bloom again:
Or like some old, deserted church
where once I heard a song—
Life seems so different, somehow, when you're lingering along."
"I'm blessed with every comfort that a
lonesome soul could know,
And children grown to manhood that
would hate to see me go;
They put me on a sort of throne and
treat me like a queen
And all the hardships of old age the
children try to screen.
But young friends are not old friends,
and the friends I used to know
Are sleeping 'neath the blossoms or the softly falling snow.
I want to leave the youngsters to their
roses and their song,
Life seems so different, somehow, when you're lingering along."

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

John 1:40-51.

40 One of the two which heard John speak, and followed him, was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother.

41 He first findeth his own brother, Simon, and saith unto him, We have found the Messias, which is, being interpreted the Christ.

42 And he brought him to Jesus. And when Jesus beheld him, he said, Thou art Simon the son of Jona: thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation, A stone.

43 The day following Jesus would go forth into Galilee, and findeth Philip, and saith unto him, follow me.

44 Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter.

45 Philip findeth Nathanael, and saith unto him, We have found him, of whom Moses in the law, and the phophets, did write, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph.

46 And Nathanael said unto him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip saith unto him, Come and see.

47 Jesus saw Nathanael coming to him, and saith unto him, Behold an Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile!

48 Nathanael saith unto him, Whence knowest thou me? Jesus answered and said unto him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast under the fig tree, I saw thee.

49 Nathanael answered and saith unto him, Rabbi, thou art the Son of God; thou art the King of Israel.

50 Jesus answered and said unto him, Because I said unto thee, I saw thee under the fig tree, believest thou? thou shalt see greater things than these.

51 And he saith unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Hereafter ye shall see heaven open, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of man.

Playing for Their Faces.

In a time to come the unfeeling iron pen of history will grave responsibility for the wickedness of the great war into which the world's foremost nations are plunging. The monarchs who sit upon the thrones of these war nations know this. They have opened the floodgates of a bloody deluge, but each hopes to reserve to himself the plea, "Thou canst not say I did it." Germany accuses Russia. The czar retorts upon the kaiser. Each charges double-dealing. France mobilizes and waits the sign. Britain hold back and contents herself for a day with a threat. All know the blood guiltiness of this colossal strife. Each would escape it. But history will record the mad haste to arms and upon the heads of all will fall the just maledictions of civilization when devastation sits gaunt upon the continent of Europe and the whole world around feels the scorch and blight, the impoverishment and woe of this amazing, useless and unprovoked conflict of the great Christian nations. The powers are playing for their faces. Each is hesitating just enough to leise a hope that conviction of the crime of the centuries may be fastened upon an adversary. But altogether they have for decades been preparing for it, altogether they are plunging into it and altogether they must bear the undying accusation of mankind that they fought in heat and lust. None can escape its guilt; none find pardon for its stupendous sin. It is a war without an issue—multiplied murder in the name of right and justice that had in no wise been violated or offended.

The country at large, the management of ninety-eight railroads and 60,000 enginemen and firemen employed on the roads owe something more than perfunctory gratitude to President Wilson for the success of his efforts to prevent the threatened strike on the near one hundred lines involved in a wage dispute. Moreover, something greater is gained than the narrow escape from this calamity so lately imminent. In the face of an absolute protestation by the railway managers that there was nothing to arbitrate and that arbitration was impossible, there suddenly comes an agreement between railways and employes that insures peace for a year and a half. Efforts to keep peace are always possible, always practicable, always promising. In the face of a great national crisis the railway heads could see a way to preserve peace with their employes. The president of the United States pointed that way to them—and with the implied admonition that it would be well for them to embrace it with little ado.

During the pendancy of the amendment to the currency bill in the house Monday, republican Leader Mann rebuked a kicker. He said: "This is the time to follow the lead of men who must be in command. Let us be statesmen, put partisanship behind us and remember only the good of the country." That was a fine thing to say at the time. It would be a fine rule of action for statesmen in Washington at any time, on any occasion.

With a billion extra cash to tide this country through a war with which we had nothing to do in bringing about, in which we willingly will have no part and out of which we are bound to have our troubles, the United States of America may at least feel more or less comfortable in the pocketbook. If it will just be seen to that New York is not really the whole financial situation in North America, matters ought to be at least tolerable if not quite well.

Up to even date Austria has had a hard time, not to say she has made a rather distressing mess of it, in trying to get her best foot foremost into cocky little Servia. Perhaps if Russia had strictly minded her own business and left Servia to take care of herself she would have proved her strength to do so and Europe would have been spared the blight of a free-for-all.

PRESS ON OPENING OF CAPE COD CANAL.

Perils No More.

Springfield Republican: "It is not easy to realize that the ancient perils of 'rounding the cape' are to be no more. What those have been the men of the life saving stations there have known years out of mind."

Private Corporation.

Providence Journal: "This important public work has been performed by a private corporation, though statesmen have talked about it since the nation began."

Notable Achievement.

Obviously Necessary.

Philadelphia Press: "It is strange that American coastwise shipping should have been forced to wait until this late day for the construction of one of the most obviously necessary canals along the Atlantic seaboard."

Great Praise Due.

Baltimore Sun: "To the men who planned and who financed and who did the actual work of building the canal great praise is due."

Pointing the Way.

Philadelphia Inquirer: "The Cape Cod canal is welcomed as pointing the way to large things. It should impress congress with the desirability of taking up the Atlantic inland waterways project in earnest."

Great Traffic.

German "White Book" Gives Text of Exchanges Between Rulers.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—The German government has issued a white book recounting the events leading up to the war and giving the texts of telegrams exchanged between the German emperor and the Russian emperor.

The government insists that it worked shoulder to shoulder with Great Britain in mediatory action and supported every proposal in Vienna from which it thought a peaceful solution could be hoped.

On July 30 the German government forwarded to Vienna the British proposal which, as a basis, laid down that Austria ought, after the invasion of Servia, which had then taken place, to dictate her conditions there. Germany assumed that Russia would accept this basis, but while negotiations were proceeding news came of Russian mobilization measures and the assembly of Russian troops on the Prussian frontier and left no doubt that Russian mobilization against Germany was in full progress. While all such measures were being denied to the German representative at St. Petersburg and even before the Austrian answer to the last British-German mediation proposal could reach Berlin, Russia ordered a general mobilization.

The German emperor, in a telegram, calling attention to the menacing character of the Russian mobilization and the continuance of his own activity in the direction of mediation.

Czar to the Kaiser.

On July 31 the Russian emperor sent the following telegram to the German emperor:

"I thank Thee from my heart for Thy mediation, which leaves a gleam of hope that even now all may end peacefully. It is technically impossible to discontinue our military operations, which has been rendered necessary by Austrian mobilization. We are far from wishing for war and so long as negotiations with Austria regarding Servia continue, my troops will not undertake any provocative action.

"I give Thee my word upon it and I trust with my strength in God's grace and hope for the success of Thy mediation at Vienna and for our countries and the peace of Europe.

"Thy devoted Nicholas."

German Emperor's Reply.

To this the German emperor replied:

"In answer to Thy appeal to my friendship and Thy prayer for my help, I undertook mediatory action between the Austro-Hungarian government and Thine. While this action was in progress Thy troops were mobilized against my ally, Austria-Hungary, in consequence of which, as I have already informed Thee, my mediation was rendered nearly illusory. Nevertheless it continued. But now I am in possession of trustworthy advices concerning the serious war preparations on my eastern frontier, as well.

"My responsibility for the safety of my empire compels me to counter measures of defense. In my endeavors for the maintenance of the peace of the world, I have gone to the extreme limit of the possible. It is not I that shall bear the responsibility for the peril which now threatens the civilized world. I lay it to Thy hand to avert it, even at this moment.

"No one menaces the honor and might of Russia, which well could have waited upon the result of my mediation. The friendship for Thee and Thy empire bequeathed to me by my grandfather on his death bed, has always been sacred to me, and I have remained true to Russia when it was in grave distress, especially in your last war. The peace of Europe can yet be conserved by Thee, if Russia decides to discontinue her military measures, which threaten Germany and Austria-Hungary."

Russia Already Mobilizing.

Even before this telegram reached its destination, the white book says, the mobilization of all the Russian forces, which had been ordered on the forenoon of the same day and was openly directed against Germany was in full progress. When advices regarding this mobilization reached Berlin, the German ambassador at St. Petersburg, the afternoon of July 31, was ordered to declare to Russia that Germany, as a counter measure, had declared a state of war, which was to be followed by mobilization should Russia not suspend her military measures inside of twelve hours.

At the same time the German ambassador in Paris was directed to obtain a declaration from the French government within 18 hours whether France would remain neutral in a war between Russia and Germany.

The white book concludes with a statement that Russia's mobilization showed clearly that Russia desired war

SENATE PASSES CURRENCY BILL

Measure Creating Billion Dollars of Money Now With President.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Amendments to the bank law extending issues of currency to 125 per cent. of capital and surplus of banks and trust companies in the federal reserve system were finally passed in the house today. More than a billion dollars will be available for additional circulation.

The senate promptly agreed to the amendments, which then went to the white house for the president's signature.

SITUATION IS QUIET.

New York, Aug. 4.—Conditions in the financial district settled down to further calm and quiet today. Measures taken yesterday to safeguard the general situation, including the issuance of clearing house certificates and the receipt of emergency currency from Washington for distribution among local banks were found to be increasingly effective. Distribution of the emergency currency was resumed at the sub-treasury today. Some $45,000,000 is now available and more is expected in the course of the week. The National City bank today took out $10,000,000 of this and applied for an additional $5,000,000.

Leading financial interests expressed the opinion that the situation so far as it affects the principal financial centers of this country was under control.

HOGS ATTACK MUNCIE MAN.

Emroy J. Niday, Barefoot, Races for Life From Heat-Crazed Animals.

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 4.—A drove of hogs, crazed by the heat, would have destroyed Emory J. Niday, assistant postmaster of Muncie, had they been able to get at him as he lay in a hammock beneath a tree on his farm, Niday says. The hogs, which had been acting queerly, charged him. Niday crawled into the higher part of the hammock and sat huddled there as he called for help, the animals in the meantime standing on their hind feet in an effort to reach him. Finally the hogs noticed Niday's shoes and socks, which were on the ground, and devoured them. While the attention of the hogs was thus distracted Niday leaped from the hammock and raced at top speed for the nearest fence, pursued by the animals. He fell over the fence in safety, and, barefooted, hurried to town in his automobile.

Forget Birthdays and Keep Young

Boston, Aug. 3.—Mrs. Judith Smith celebrated her ninety-second birthday anniversary recently by working for hours at the desk of the Equal Suffrage association offices, and making a suffrage address the same evening.

"Forget your birthdays unless you want to grow old before your time," says Mrs. Smith. "My friends remind me that I'm 92—I'd rather they'd help me to forget it. I've been working for the advancement of women for seventy years and there is so much to be done yet that I do not dare to grow old. My recipe for keeping young is to be busy with some soul-satisfying work and to keep moving forward. Do this and Old Father Time will have some trouble catching up with you."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Blocks of camphor dispersed in all corners of damp rooms in a new house will effectually banish damp in a very short time, even when fires have proved ineffectual. They should be simply laid on paper, or on the bare shelves of a damp room or linen closet. The blocks gradually decrease in size, and when they finally disappear should be replaced until their purpose is served.

Cracks in furniture should be filled with beeswax. Soften the beeswax until it becomes like puddy, then press it firmly into the cracks, and then smooth the surface over with a thin knife. Sandpaper the surrounding wood, and work some of the dust into the beeswax. This gives a finish to the wood, and when it is varnished the cracks will have disappeared. Putty used in the same way soon dries and falls out.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Loyal Moose Circle will not meet on Wednesday, August 5, but will convene on the second Wednesday in the month.

Dr. K. L. Seamen will return home next Saturday morning from Philadelphia where he is attending an osteopathic association meeting.

WINONA BOOSTERS MAKE BIG SWING

Saturday Night Club Takes Trolley Ride—General News of Winona.

Winona Lake, Ind., Aug. 4.—The Saturday Night club conducted an excursion over the Winona interurban line yesterday. A special car carrying forty Winona boosters and the Rogers Winona band made the round trip to Peru returning by way of Goshen. The party stopped at every station along the line and distributed Winona literature. Enthusiastic speeches were made by leaders of the party and brief band concerts were given for the benefit of the citizens. This method of publicity was employed last year with results that were altogether satisfactory.

Conspicuous in the group are the faces of Mrs. Oliver R. Williamson, Mrs. E. R. Graham, Mrs. C. E. Vickers, Miss Carrie B. Sharp, Mrs. D. B. Wells and Mrs. R. A. Matthews. Rev. A. Christy Brown preached in the First Presbyterian church of Fort Wayne last Sunday.

Evangelist Bob Jones arrived at the park yesterday with his family and is occupying the Hiawassee, Frank Wilbur Main's cottage on McDonald island.

One of the big attractions of the week is "The Lost Princess," the children's operetta, that is given under the direction of Mrs. Hortense Reynolds, of Des Moines, Iowa. One hundred and seventy-five young people and children will take part. The character of Jack Goose, is to be delineated by George Ashley Brewster who appeared in this role last year. He will take this part in both performances of the play.

Dr. John B. Donaldson, pastor of the Presbyterian church at LaPorte, is in Winona. He is a golf enthusist and spends most of his time while at Winona on the links.

PLAN FOR A BIG MASS MEETING

Charter Members of Y. M. F. C. to Sign Constitution September 22.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Young Men's Forward Congress held Monday evening in the council chamber of the city hall, it was decided that a mass meeting be held on the evening of September 22 at the First Presbyterian church for the purpose of having all the charter members affix their names to the constitution, which has been drawn up in long hand by A. Sele on a parchment of paper seven feet long and three feet wide.

The members of this committee decided to let the various committees do the work of preparation for this meeting. The devotional committee is to provide a speaker for that evening, the music committee is to furnish the music and the social committee must look after the entertaining. It is thought that preceding the meeting a parade headed by a band and with other attractive features will be given. Every president has pledged himself to get all the members of his class out for that evening and if this is the case there will be 1,000 young men who will take part in this procession.

Clifford Hutchinson, chairman of the pin committee, submitted a report on samples and prices and after some discussion it was decided that a solid gold pin be purchased. This pin will be a circular one, one-half inch in diameter and in the center the letters Y. M. F. C. will be written while the name of the organization will be written in full in a circle on the outer side.

Twelve churches were represented at the meeting Monday evening and two other churches were taken into the congress, the United Brethren and Plymouth Congregational. This organization through its devotional committee is endeavoring to get every protestant church represented in the congress, including all the Lutheran churches of the city.

At the meeting is was announced what other people are thinking about the Young Men's Forward Congress. It was told that a certain Adult Bible class in this city composed of business men decided at the last meeting that the greatest movement now on foot in Fort Wayne was the Y. M. F. C. movement. Besides trying to get all young men of the city interested in the work the society is trying to place a Y. M. C. A. in Fort Wayne.

A quick way to clean currants when making cakes is to put the fruit into a colander with a sprinkling of flour, and rub it round a few times with your hand. It is surprising how quickly the stalks are separated and come through the small holes.

If an iron is allowed to get red-hot it will never retain the heat as well again. The flat-iron is badly abused if allowed to stand on the range and in a dusty place; irons should be put away to cool as soon as done with, and then kept in a cool place away from dust till wanted again.

When washing and rinsing colored materials add a teaspoonful of Epsom salts to each gallon of water, and even the most delicate shades will neither fade nor run. Serge or merino dresses, which have been dyed black, can be safely washed in this way without any risk of the dye running.

If screws, gas fittings, the sides of bedsteads, or anything else of the kind become tightly fixed and cannot be moved, the following method will generally found to loosen them. Pour a little oil on the tight parts, and then hold a lighted candle underneath until it is warm. You will then find it is easy to separate or unscrew the fixed parts.

Cayenne pepper is excellent to rid cupboards of mice. The floor should be gone over carefully, and each hole stopped up with a piece of rag dipped in water and then in cayenne pepper.

In arranging flowers it is often difficult to make them stand up nicely. This difficulty will be overcome if a piece of wire netting be crushed up into a ball and then placed in a bowl to hold the flower stems.

WOMEN ON THRONES OF EUROPE WORTHY CONSORTS TO RULERS IN TIME OF WAR

QUEEN MARY OF ENGLAND
THE TSARITSA OF RUSSIA
ARCHDUCHESS ZITA OF AUSTRIA
QUEEN HELENE OF ITALY.
MME. POINCARE, WIFE OF THE PRESIDENT OF FRANCE

The War Women of Europe—the consorts of the rulers whose nations are thrown into wild apprehension at the prospect of the most appalling conflict in history—are all worthy helpmeets to the men to whom they have consecrated their lives.

But in two courts—those of Austria and Servia—the first to draw the sword, the monarchs face their grave problems alone.

The Empress Elizabeth of Austria was slain by an anarchist at Geneva, Switzerland, as she was about to go aboard a steamboat.

King Peter of Servia also is a widower. In Austria the first lady of the land is the Archduchess Zita, wife of Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, heir to the throne, made so by the death of Archduke Ferdinand, who was assassinated on June 28 last. Her beauty is of more than national celebrity, and her fondness for court life and the gayeties of society have made her a great favorite in Vienna.

Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany is a commanding figure, not as a War Woman but as the model house wife of Europe, a title in which she glories.

Queen Helene of Italy is remarkable for her resplendent beauty and her great height, she being six feet tall. She is the companion and friend of the King as well as his Queen, and the two are constantly in each other's society. Her people call her the "beautiful, good and loving."

Queen Mary of England is perhaps the most active of the women who sit on the thrones of Europe. She gives the greatest care to her children and participates with the King in all the duties that devolve upon him as sovereign. When war threatens England she will be found wherever it is fitting for her to be, taking her place with the monarch in the vast tasks that will confront him.

The Tsaritsa fills her exalted position as consort to the ruler of all the Russias with quiet, simple dignity. She, too, is a devoted mother.

Mme. Poincaré, wife of the President of France, is famed for her devotion to her husband and her great interest in his political destiny. As a War Woman Mme. Poincaré will undoubtedly be her husband's stanch ally and adviser.

These are the women who will be counted upon to use all their influence for all that is best and noblest in the struggle if Europe is called upon to bear arms, brother against brother.

Don't Have Pimply, Blotchy Skin

Nothing Destroys Good Looks So Quickly As Constipation.

Nor Is Anything Better for Constipation Than USOLINE.

Of course, there are other causes for a bad complexion. Biliousness makes the skin sallow, and turns the whites of the eyes yellow.

An upset stomach and dyspepsia give you a drawn, dragged-out look, and a dull, muddy skin.

Headaches cause wrinkles and black circles, and take the brightness, flash and beauty out of the most striking pair of eyes.

A torpid liver, sick kidneys, all leave their own distinctive bad effects.

But after all, the real cause of nearly all these "symptoms" and diseases is constipation.

Constipation can also be blamed for certain skin eruptions and blemishes.

You have dosed enough with pain-packing cathartics and purgatives to know that they give only temporary relief, dearly bought, because the condition persistently grows worse.

Now, leave drugs alone; give your system a chance; try USOLINE, which is a pure oil lubricant.

What USOLINE does is to soften the accumulations of poisonous wastes that have become congested in the bowels, to soothe and lubricate the passages, and make the movements natural, easy, healthy, painless and regular.

Then the constipation actually does disappear, and the complexion clears up.

You'll find USOLINE what you have so often wished for, a remedy that really does what you take it for, and leaves no bad after effects. Imported and re-refined only by OIL PRODUCTS COMPANY, New York. Sold by druggists generally, 25c, and 50c, a large bottle, and $1 a three pint tin. Also in capsules, 2 doz. in a box, 50c. Ask or write for printed matter.

SPURNS WEALTH; WEDS FOR LOVE

Would You Give Up Vast Sum of $600,000 and Do Likewise?

Boston, Aug. 4.—"I only did what any clean, square-jawed man would do. There was no temptation, no deliberation. I came to two roads; at the end of one was the palatial mansion and money, and at the other the beautiful home of love, and I chose the road of love because I knew it was the right one."

Thus Frank Palmer Speare, a man whose business, as he said, is "making men," in the office of educational director of the Boston Y. M. C. A., explained why he sacrificed a fortune of $600,000 when he decided to marry Miss Katherine May Vinton, of Stoneham.

Katherine Vinton

Speare's first wife died about four years ago, and in her will left the income of her large estate to her husband on condition he should not marry again.

"Just why she put such a restriction on me I can't explain," said Speare, "unless at some time she read of such a thing in some popular novel. But I knew it all the time, and the fact is she always intended to change it, and no doubt would have but for her sudden death.

"That there are grave and serious dangers in the making of such a will is apparent. It puts a premium on a double life, for the immoral man could easily take advantage of it. But, of course, the ethical side of it never entered in my wife's head, for her action was merely a whim of fancy.

"And another side of it," continued Speare, "is that every business man should be married. The business man's crying need is a home. No hotel life for mine; it's flat and vacant. I know because I've lived it.

"I've known Miss Vinton for nearly two years; she is interested in everything that interests me, and two weeks ago when I decided to marry, the thought of the money I would lose never entered my head, so you see after all I have done nothing remarkable."

As regards the forfeiture of his legacy with its peculiar condition, Speare says that it was a condition which he might have been very willing to observe had he not had the good fortune to meet Miss Vinton. The money thus left by the late Mrs. Speare will now revert to her relatives.

HOW TO LOSE YOUR TAN, FRECKLES OR WRINKLES

A day's motoring, an afternoon on the tennis ground or golf links, a sunbath on the beach or exposure on a sea trip, often brings on a deep tan or vivid crimson or, more perplexing still, a vigorous crop of freckles. A very necessary thing then is mercolized wax, which removes tan, redness or freckles quite easily. It literally peels off the affected skin—just a little at a time, so there's no hurt or injury. As the skin comes off in almost invisible flaky particles, no trace of the treatment is shown. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggist's and use this nightly as you would cold cream, washing it off mornings. In a week or so you will have an entirely new skin, beautifully clear, transparent and of a most delicate whiteness.

Wrinkles, so apt to form at this season, may be easily and quickly removed by bathing the face in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pt. This is not only a valuable astringent, but has a beneficial tonic effect also.

SIMPLE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get about two ounces of plain powdered peroxin from any drugstore—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The powdered peroxin and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

Paul C. Fittery worked his way into the National league from the pitching staff of the Evansville club by reason of his ability to watch runners and hold them on first and a deadly cross fire that has enabled him to strike out more than 200 batsmen in twenty-seven games. He is leading all the pitchers in the number of games won and will be sent to Cincinnati at the close of the present season, the sale having been consummated while the team was in Fort Wayne.

Fittery started with Harrisburg, Pa., in 1911, and the next year was sent to Anderson, S. C., and then to Birmingham. Birmingham sent him to Evansville in 1913, reclaimed him at the end of the season, tried him in the spring and sold him to Evansville in May of this year.

Jake Fromholz has just found himself. He started baseball in 1910 with East Liverpool in the O.-P. league and was procured by Toledo and sent to Dayton. He was returned to East Liverpool and again reclaimed by Dayton, but in 1912 he did not show good form and was released. Evansville picked him up and he began to improve in 1913, and this season's work is certain to get him a place in AA ball.

Inquiries have been made about him and an offer rejected for his services. He and Fittery have been the main factors in holding Evansville up in the race, and Manager Charley Knoll says if he had a couple of more like them at the beginning of the year the pennant would have gone to his town.

AINSWORTH GETS FAREWELL VISIT

Team Mates Go to Hospital to Tell Pitcher Good Bye for Year.

Scene—Room in Hope hospital. Earl Ainsworth in bed. Enter Bill Cramer.

Cramer—Hello, old top, how's it going tonight?

Ainsworth—Finer'n silk. Think I'll get out of here by Saturday. Cigars? Oh, just put 'em over there. Thanks.

Cramer—What's that smells so funny?

Ainsworth—Ether, kid, ether. They can never cross you on that stuff when they chuck you full of it once.

Cramer—How do you take it?

Ainsworth—Oh, you lay there on your back and they put a horse muzzle over your map and you take a couple of breaths. Then the room gets as brilliant as—well as brilliant as anything can get. Why, boy, those walls shine whiter than marble and then a little bell dings and they can do anything they want to you. They mopped me all out inside.

Cramer—Mopped you out?

Ainsworth—They sure did. Boy, I was on that old table three hours and a half and the doctors and nurses were sweeping around inside me all that time.

Cramer—Huh.

Enter Smith and Streeter.

Ainsworth—Hello, you old red-head. Monroeville beat us today?

Smith—Nope; we got that one. Ten to one or something like that.

Ainsworth—Any crowd?

Smith—Not so bad for a little town like that, was it, Fred?

Streeter—No.

Ainsworth—What kind of a park they got?

Smith—Pretty good for a little town. Of course, the diamond is just dirt without any grass and the outfield is awful rough but it's all right at that. Just like the old trolley league days. All dress in one room and one of them wash bowl baths. You know how it is. Wasn't so bad, though. Any queens? Sure. They got some fine little dolls down there and old Red'll play there any time just for fun, see?

Ainsworth—Streeter, going back to Toledo after the season?

Streeter—Sure thing.

Ainsworth—Great old place. They don't do a thing to you in that royal home of thugs and holdups. First time I hit the town I comes in with a friend of mine. He says check all your money, kid, but 10 cents and you'll be lucky if they don't get that.

Streeter—Oh, they cleaned that up pretty well now. Keep closed on Sunday, you know.

Ainsworth—One time I was walking down along the canal there and me and my friend heard some guy say: 'Let's push 'em in the canal.' Push me in the canal? Oh, I reckon not. I got out in the street and was ready to show 'em some speed, and old Red could a showed 'er too, believe me.

Streeter—I don't live around there any place. But it ain't so bad now.

Ainsworth—Hope not. I had a friend once that hits the town with a roll. Meets a guy that belongs to the same lodge and all that kind of stuff. My friend buys a drink and then the guy wants to tell him something on the quiet and he lures him into one of these little stalls, see? He takes a small drink and when he comes to he hasn't got anything left but his shoes and his socks and his union suit. This guy takes the links out of his sleeves even.

Streeter—They're getting better there now.

Ainsworth—Here comes old soup.

Old soup?

Ainsworth—Yes, soup Young. Why? Because he eats soup three times a day and would bathe and wash his sox in it if they'd let him.

Enter Young.

Ainsworth—Getting along fine. Walked around a little today. Thanks, just put 'em over there on the dresser. Much obliged.

Young—Hurt your feet when you first put 'em on the floor?

Ainsworth—Hurt? Oh, boy, did it hurt? Why, it felt like ten million electric needles sticking in your soles. Had to put my arm around the nurse to hold up.

Cramer—Must a bothered you a lot to do that.

Smith—I bet it took a long time to let loose. Was it that nurse I saw coming down the hall? If it was her, you just watch old Red get the appendicitis some time soon.

Enter nurse.

Nurse—Mr. Ainsworth, can I have your watch a few minutes.

Ainsworth—Certainly, Miss Nurse; you can have everything I've got.

Nurse puts thermometer in Ainsworth's mouth.

Young—When you going home, Red?

Ainsworth—Blub, blubety, blub, blub.

Young—So soon?

Streeter—Eight o'clock, boys; time to hike.

Ainsworth—Wait till they chase you.

Chorus—Guess we'd better go.

Ainsworth—So long, fellows; drop me a postal now and then. Good luck.

All—Night, Red. So long; good luck, old boy.

JESS WILLARD HAS PUNCH AND PATIENCE TO TAKE HEAVY WEIGHT TITLE.

(By "Kid" Howard)

There is only one kind of a fighter who will ever defeat Jack Johnson and bring back the heavyweight championship to the white race. That fighter will be the fellow with the patience and the punch.

Of all the big fellows who are now before the public there seems to be only one man who has that particular gift. That one man is Jess Willard, the big Kansan, who will shortly call for the other side to try for a match with the negro.

Willard is not instinctively a fighter, which is his biggest asset when it comes to a ring engagement with a fighter of Johnson's ability. The fellow who tears in at the negro who stands set and flat-footed, will never beat the negro.

Willard with his six feet six inches will have a natural advantage in height. He also has a longer reach and in weight he will have a good twenty pounds.

Coupled with these natural advantages Willard is a cool, patient, unexcitable person. Willard is too good natured to take a fight seriously. Every white man who has ever boxed Johnson has hated him with a sincerity that has gotten the better of his good judgment.

Johnson will never get Willard's "goat" for the simple reason that he cannot get him sore.

Willard would sooner do most anything than fight. Fighting is not his business—it is simply a means of livelihood that he can make more money at than anything else. He would sooner be out on a stock farm looking after his horses and cattle than fooling around a gymnasium and training with a lot of fighters. That feeling for the game is the one thing that will be his biggest asset when he fights for the championship of the world.

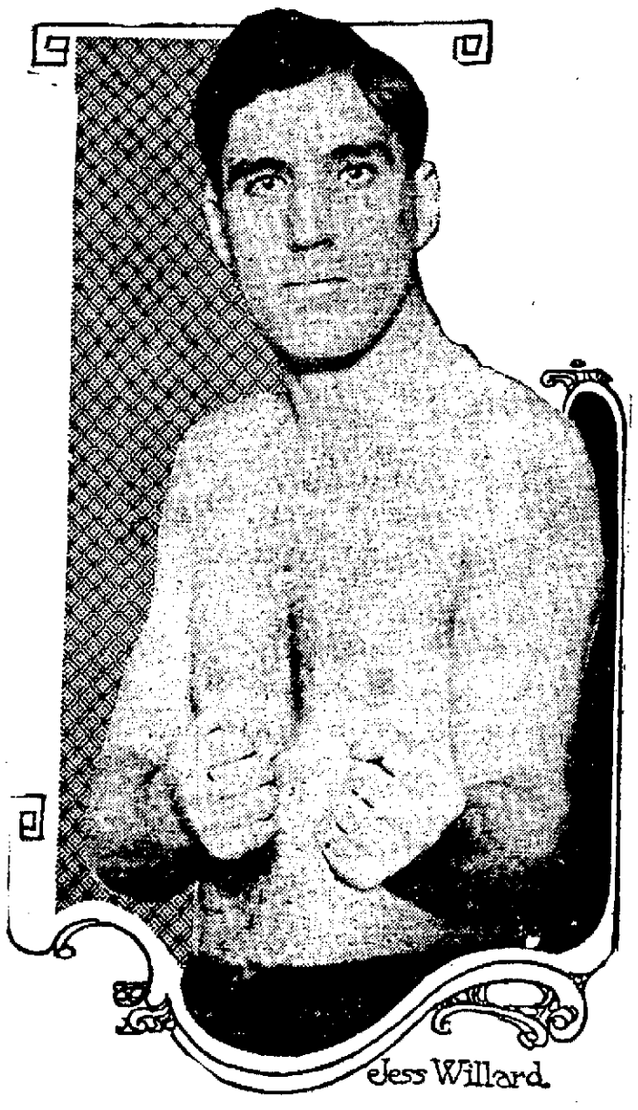
When Willard first came to Chicago a few years ago he was a big, gawky, underdeveloped fellow that resembled a prospective world's champion about as much as a dachshound does a fighting bull terrier.

Charley Cutler, the wrestler, had an athletic show at one of the summer parks in Chicago. He saw the possibilities of Willard as a ring attraction and undertook to teach him what he knew about boxing.

Cutler matched him with John Young in a ten-round bout at Fort Wayne, Ind., May 22, 1912. He stopped young in the sixth round and won two other fights within the next couple of months.

Upon his return to the city he asked the writer to see him work in the gymnasium. A wonderful improvement had taken place in the big physique of the Kansas cowboy. Bulging muscles showed on the long arms that a few months ago were soft and white; his narrow flat chest had developed at least three inches, and his fat, flabby legs had grown into symmetrical proportions. But the biggest surprise was in Willard's boxing. In less than a year's time this fellow had developed from a slow-acting, inaccurate, walloping amateur to a nimble-footed, clean hitting boxer with an eye as sharp as an eagle's, and a punch as deadly as a Mauser bullet.

Willard has everything necessary to beat Johnson—the size, the strength, the punch, and, best of all, the patience.



He has the ability, he is big enough to be game, and he has all the natural advantages that go with a bringing up on the wind-swept plains of a western ranch and the clean life of a decent married man. He can fight, for he has proven it by fifteen knockouts out of twenty-one battles. Patience and the punch is what will beat Jack Johnson, and Willard has both of the requisites.

NERVE SHOWS IN THE FLAG CHASE

Clubs That Win One-to-Nothing Games Are Leaders in Race.

Clubs that are pennant possibilities invariably make good showings in extra inning games, 1 to 0 battles and contests that are decided in the ninth spasm. That is what a veteran baseball man says, the same being Frank Bancroft, business manager of the Cincinnati Reds, and the truth of his remark is shown by the fact that in contests of these varieties the Cubs, Giants and Cardinals now having a three-handed scrap for the National league gonfalon, have been much more successful than the other five teams.

Up to Monday sixty-five games had been played in the National league in which the issue was settled in either the ninth or extra innings or on the basis of 1 to 0. The Cardinals had won eleven of these engagements and so had the Braves, but Huggins's men had dropped only seven of these combats, while Stalling's athletes had let eleven escape. The Cardinals' percentage in the News league, therefore, was .611; the Braves' .500. The club that has shown the greatest aptitude for getting the decision in tight games is Chicago, with a percentage of .714. New York following with .636. The Cardinals are third with .611; the Phillies fourth, with .555; the Braves fifth, with .500; the Pirates and Reds sixth, with .353, and the Superbas eighth, with .308. The Cardinals and the Cubs have won the most games in the ninth inning (five); the Braves are setting the pace in 1 to 0 wins, with four, and the Phillies have taken the greatest number of overtime events, seven. Brooklyn still has to win a 1 to 0 contest, and Cincinnati thus far has not registered a victory in an extra inning affair. St. Louis hasn't been beaten once in the ninth.

The record of the National league teams in 1 to 0 and extra inning games and games decided in the ninth inning to July 26, inclusive, is as follows:

STANDING IN THE NERVE LEAGUE.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Per.
Cubs	10	4	.714
Giants	7	4	.636
Cardinals	11	7	.611
Phillies	10	8	.555
Braves	11	11	.500
Pirates	6	11	.353
Reds	6	11	.353
Superbas	4	9	.308
Totals	65	65	.500

Bill Sweeney, of the Cubs, has been the player most prominent in driving in the winning tallies in the tight games in which his team has participated. He has been on the break-it-up job four times, his war club bringing victory to Chicago in the ninth inning twice, in the tenth inning once and in the sixteenth inning once. National league players who have delivered hits that have broken up a pair of games are Wilson, of the Cardinals, Joseph Kelly, of the Pirates, Cravath, Luderus and Lobert, of the Phillies, and Doyle of the Giants. The last named, a Chalmers car winner two seasons ago, uses home runs with which to smash up combats. He hit for the circuit against "Babe" Adams of Pittsburg on July 17, and thus won a twenty-one inning game for the Giants, and eleven days earlier he clouted for the full distance in the ninth frame of the game with the Phillies, when his team was two runs behind and when two of his mates were on the bases.

DROP TWO CLUBS OUT OF CIRCUIT

Southern Michigan May Let Go of Toledo and Jackson Soon.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 4.—Rumors of a wholesale change in the league front reached here today. It concerns the dropping of Jackson and Toledo and the cutting of the circuit to an eight club affair. James Frank, of Jackson, president of the league, and secretary of the Vet club, said today:

"Whether such a step will be taken will be determined within the next few days. It is somethwhat of a burden for the league teams to carry the homeless Toledo club. For some time we have been endeavoring to induce another team to quit, thus cutting the circuit to eight. However, no one is willing to drop out, so Jackson may take the step. The Vet club has not been drawing as well as expected but the attendance has been sufficient to warrant baseball for Jackson under ordinary circumstances."

The Jackson club is scheduled to play in South Bend next Sunday and Monday.

If the Vets drop out, Kalamazoo has made arrangements to obtain the stars of the club. The men whom the Kazoo management hopes to land are Hart, catcher; Baxter, pitcher; Brown, Dennis and Lindholm, outfielders. The move would greatly strengthen the Celery Eaters and put them in the running again.

This would also mean a decided increase in attendance at Kalamazoo. During the last two weeks the attendance in that city has exceeded the marks for a similar period in 1913, and the directors are hoping for even better things if the big shake-up materializes.

Simultaneously, J. W. Ryder, president of the club, and vice president of the league, makes the announcement that he is through with baseball.

"However," adds the magnate, "I am going to stick through the season and spend any amount of money necessary to give Kalamazoo a first-class club. My verbal agreement with the public demands that I stay until the end and I am going after the players who will put the club up in the race."

South Bend's reputation as the best drawing town in the circuit was upheld again yesterday when 2,013 people paid to see the Climbers and Crickets perform. President Frank said today that the attendance figures for this city are the best on the circuit, with Bay City and Saginaw trailing.

UNITED STATES IS DECLARED NEUTRAL

partial neutrality during the existence of the contest;

"And whereas, it is the duty of a neutral government not to permit or suffer the making of its waters subservient to the purposes of war:

Cites the Penal Code.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, in order to preserve the neutrality of the United States and of its citizens and of persons within its territory and jurisdiction and to enforce its laws and treaties and in order that all persons, being warned of the general tenor of the laws and treaties of the United States in this behalf, and of the law of nations, may thus be prevented from any violation of the same, do hereby declare and proclaim that by certain provisions of the act approved on the fourth day of March, A. D., 1909, commonly known as the penal code of the United States, the following acts are forbidden to be done, under severe penalties, within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States, to-wit:

"'1—Accepting and exercising a commission to serve either of the said belligerents by land or by sea against the other belligerent.

"'3—Hiring or retaining another person to enlist or enter himself in the service of either of the said belligerents, as a soldier, or as a marine or seaman on board of any vessel of war, letter of marque or privateer.

"'4—Hiring another person to go beyond the limits or jurisdiction of the United States with the intent to be enlisted as aforesaid.

"'5—Hiring another person to go beyond the limits of the United States with intent to be entered into service as aforesaid.

"'6—Retaining another person to go beyond the limits of the United States with intent to be enlisted as aforesaid.

Does Not Apply to Subjects.

"'7—Retaining another person to go beyond the limits of the United States with intent to be entered into service as aforesaid. (But the said act is not to be construed to extend to a citizen or subject of either belligerent who, being transiently within the United States, shall on board of any vessel of war, which, at the time of its arrival within the United States, was fitted and equipped as such vessel of war, enlist or enter himself or hire or retain another subject or citizens of the same belligerent who is transiently within the United States, to enlist or enter himself to serve such belligerent on board such vessel of war, if the United States shall then be at peace with such belligerent.)

"'8—Fitting out and arming or attempting to fit out and arm, or procuring to be fitted out and armed, or knowingly being concerned, in fitting out, or arming of any ship or vessel with intent that such ship or vessel shall be employed in the service of either of the said belligerents.

"'9—Issuing or delivering a commission within the territory or jurisdiction of the United States for any ship or vessel to the intent that she may be employed as aforesaid.

Expeditions Unlawful.

"'10—Increasing or augmenting, or procuring to be increased or augmented, or knowingly being concerned in increasing or augmenting, the force of any ship of war, cruiser, or other armed vessel, which at the time of her arrival within the United States was a ship of war, cruiser or armed vessel in the service of either of the said belligerents or belonging to the subjects of either, by adding to the number of guns, of such vessels or by changing those on board of her for guns of a larger calibre or by the adding thereto of any equipment solely applicable to war.

"'11—Beginning or setting on foot, or providing or preparing the means for any military expedition or enterprise to be carried on from the teritory or jurisdiction of the United States by the against the territories or dominions of either of the said belligerents.'

As to Belligerent Shipping.

"And I do hereby further declare and proclaim that any frequenting and use of the waters within the territorial jurisdiction of the nited States by the armed vessels of a belligerent whether public ships or privateers for the purpose of hostile operations or as posts of observation upon the ships of war or privateers or merchant vessels of a belligerent lying within or being about to enter the jurisdiction of the United States must be regurded as unfriendly and offensive, and in violation of that neutrality which it is the determination of this government to observe; and to the end that the hazard and inconvenience of such apprehensioned practice may be, I further proclaim and declare that after the 5th day of August inst. and during the continuance of the present hostilities between Austria, Hungary and Servia and Germany and Russia, and Germany and France, no ship of war or privateer of any belligerent shall be permitted to make use of any port, harbor, roadstead or waters subject to the jurisdiction of the United States from which a vessel of an opposing belligerent (whether the same shall be a ship of war, privateer or a merchant ship) shall have previously departed, until after the expiration of at least twenty-four hours from the departure of such last mentioned vessel beyond the jurisdiction of the United States.

"If any ship of war or privateer of a belligerent shall, after the time this notification takes effect, enter any port, harbor, roadstead or waters of the United States, such vessel shall be required to depart and put to sea within twenty-four hours after her entrance into such port, harbor, roadstead or waters, except in case of stress of weather or of her requiring provisions or things necessary for the subsistence of her crew, or for repairs, in any of which cases the authorities of the near port shall require her to put to sea as soon as possible after the expiration of such period of twenty-four hours without permitting her to take on supplies beyond what may be necessary for her immediate use, and no such vessel which may have been permitted to remain within the waters of the United States for the purpose of repair shall continue within such port, harbor, roadstead or waters for a longer period than twenty-four hours after her necessary repairs shall have been completed, unless within such twenty-four hours a vessel, whether ship of war, privateer, or merchant ship of an opposing belligerent, shall have departed therefrom, in which case the time limit for the departure of such ship of war or privateer shall be extended so far as may be necessary to secure an interval of not less than twenty-four hours between such departure and that of any ship of war, privateer, or merchant ship of an opposing belligerent which may have previously quit the same port, harbor, roadstead or waters.

As to Detention of Vessels.

"No ship of war or privateer of a belligerent shall be detained in any port, harbor, roadstead, or waters of the United States more than twenty-four hours, by reason of the successive departures from such port, harbor, roadstead or waters of more than one vessel of an opposing belligerent. But if there be several vessels of opposing belligerents in the same port, harbor, roadstead or waters the order of their departure therefrom shall be so arranged as to afford the opportunity of leaving alternately to the vessels of the opposing belligerents and to cause the least detention consistent with the objects of this proclamation.

"No ship of war or privateer of a belligerent shall be permitted, while in any port, harbor, roadstead, or waters within the jurisdiction of the United States, to take in any supplies except provisions and such other things as may be requisite for the subsistence of her crew and except so much coal only as may be sufficient to carry such vessel, if without any sail power, to the nearest port of her own country, or, in case the vessel is rigged to go under sail, and may also be propelled by steam power, then, with half the quantity of coal which she would be entitled to receive, if dependent upon steam alone, and no coal shall be again supplied to any such ship of war or privateer in the same or any other port, harbor, roadstead or waters of the United States, without special permission until the expiration of three months from the time when such coal may have been last supplied to her within the waters of the United States, unless such ship of war or privateer shall, since last thus supplied, have entered a port of the government to which she belongs.

Citizens Take Part at Own Peril.

"And I do further declare and proclaim that the statutes and the treaties of the United States and the law of nations alike require that no person, within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States shall take part, directly or indirectly in the said wars, but shall remain at peace with all of the said belligerents, and shall maintain a strict and impartial neutrality.

"And I do hereby enjoin all citizens of the United States, and all persons residing or being within the territory or jurisdiction of the United States to observe the laws thereof and to commit no act contrary to the provisions of the said statutes, or treaties or in violation of the law of nations in that behalf.

"And I do hereby warn all citizens of the United States and all persons residing or being within its territory or jurisdiction that, while the free and full expression of sympathies in public and private is not restricted by the laws of the United States, military forces in aid of any belligerent cannot lawfully be originated or organized within its jurisdiction and that while all persons may lawfully and without restriction by reason of the aforesaid state of war manufacture and sell within the United States arms and munitions of war, and other articles ordinarily known as contraband of war, yet they cannot carry such articles upon the high seas for the use or services of a belligerent nor can they transport soldiers and officers of a belligerent or attempt to break any blockade which may be lawfully established and maintained during the said wars without incurring the risk of hostile capture and the penalties denounced by the law of nations in that behalf.

"And I do hereby give notice that all citizens of the United States and others who may claim the protection of this government, who may misconduct themselves in the premises, will do so at their peril and that they can in no wise obtain any protection from the government of the United States against the consequences of their misconduct.

"In witness whereof, I have here unto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the City of Washington this fourth day of August, in the year of Our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fourteen and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-eighth.

INSPECTOR HERE FOR LOCAL WORK

Dairy Division Man Here to Inspect the Fort Wayne Supply.

L. B. Cook, of the dairy division of animal industry of the United States department of agriculture, is in Fort Wayne and will spend some time here instructing the local health officers and such dairymen as desire information on the subject of improving the milk supply of the city.

The work is entirely educational and the inspectors have no authority to enforce any regulations. Local milk inspectors will be given thorough instruction in the government methods of scoring milk and dairymen whose plants are subjected to inspection will receive the benefit of the extensive experience of the inspector tending to raise the standard of the production and cleanliness in the manner of handling milk for the market.

It is also probable that Mr. Cook will endeavor to interest the Fort Wayne meat and milk inspection department in a milk contest similar to those held in other cities, one of which has just closed at Muskegon, Mich. In those contests prizes are given for general excellence and instructions are tendered without cost to those who desire to raise the standard of their supplies.

The work of dairy inspection will be taken up tomorrow and will extend over such period as the time of the officer will permit.

NAMES DELANO TO RESERVE BOARD

President Appoints Former Head of Wabash Road to Place.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Frederick A. Delano, of Chicago, has accepted a place on the federal reserve board and President Wilson sent his nomination to the senate during the afternoon, and at once it was referred to the banking committee.

Mr. Delano is a financier and railroad manager, a Harvard graduate who entered the Burlington railway shops as a mechanic and became general manager of the line, later to become president of the Wabash. He now is president of the Monon system, and served for some time as a consulting engineer for the war department in the Philippine railway construction.

President Taft nominated him for a place on the industrial relations commission, and while confirmation was held up, his appointment lapsed but President Wilson renominated him and he was confirmed.

AMERICANS IN MUCH DISTRESS

The Netherlands Thronged With People Who Cannot Get Home.

London, Aug. 4. Arriving today on what probably will be the last boat for some time from the Hook of Holland, W. C. T. Metzrath, of New Brunswick, N. J., reported that the harbor at the Hook was being mined and that countless Americans were stranded in the Netherlands. He said:

"At Hanover, Prussia, where I stopped while on my way to Berlin, I saw a woman and her two children with $2,500 in checks, but without any cash. The American consul was unable to aid her.

"Americans, however, are showing a splendid spirit and are dividing their last crust. We traveled for twenty-four hours without food, locked in the cars all night in cramped positions. There was great suffering, but the children and the women remained game.

"The Germans," Mr. Metzrath continued, "are enthusiastic for war, the men and women joining in patriotic demonstrations. A rumor that Russia had decided on peace was received with regret. One German said to me: 'It is a bad thing; we want to have it out now.'"

Wellesley Harrington, of Albany, N. Y., saw a German who was said to be trying to escape service dragged from a railroad car by soldiers. Later it was reported that the man had been shot. On leaving Berlin Mr. Harrington was on the train for thirty hours without food.

All the stations along the line had been taken in charge by the government. He had hard work proving his citizenship. The officials were suspicious and examined all his cards and letters. One American, he said, was arrested because he had a kodak and he was detained until the films were developed to show that he was not a spy.

All the tourists say the enthusiasm for war in Germany is past belief.

William Reilley, of New York, on arriving from Astend, Belgium, said his trunks had disappeared and that pickpockets had taken his money.

There was a big line of people in the street in front of the American Express company offices in London today waiting to cash checks.

Two hours were required for a person to get his money. Great crowds also thronged about the steamship offices.

The United States embassy was filled with Americans making the usual requests for money and for ships to take them home.

ARE IN BAD PLIGHT.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The scarcity of provisions in Paris and the withholding of money by the French banks today increased the seriousness of the situation insofar as it affected Americans.

Henry W. Diederich, the American consul general in Paris, today sent a cablegram to Washington asking the state department to send a relief ship to relieve the distress of American citizens. Elbert H. Gary and H. H. Harjes, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the committee formed to aid Americans in Paris, have issued a circular which reads in part as follows:

"The secretary has received the names of many hundreds of Americans who are here and he is learning their particular circumstances and desires concerning transportation, etc. The committee is obtaining the facts relating to their financial conditions and the means of departure from France. The committee asks the Americans to be patient and calm, the committee having the support of Ambassador Herrick in this matter."

KAISER SPEAKS TO PARLIAMENT

Declares Germany Forced Into War to Protect Her Prosperity.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—Emperor William opened the imperial parliament in person today. He delivered an important speech from the throne which was partly as follows: "The present situation arose not from temporary conflicts of interest or diplomatic combinations, but is the result of ill will existing for years against the strength and prosperity of the German empire.

"We are not pushed on by the desire of conquest. We are moved by the unbending desire to secure for ourselves and those coming after us the place on which God has put us.

"My government and, above all, my chancellor, tried until the last moment to prevent the worst happening.

"In enforced self defense, with clear conscience and clean hands we grasp the sword.

"To the peoples and races of the German empire my appeal goes forth to stand together fraternally with our allies in defense of that which we have created in peaceful work.

"Following the example of our forefathers, firm and faithful, earnest and chivalrous, humble before our God and ready to fight when in face of the enemy let us confide ourselves to the everlasting Almighty who will strengthen our defense and conduct it to a good end."

At the conclusion of his speech from the throne the emperor addressed the deputies directly saying: "Gentlemen: You have read what I said to my people the other day from the balcony of my castle. I repeat now that I no longer know any parties, I know only Germans and in order to testify that you are firmly resolved without distinction of party to stand by my side through danger and death I call upon the leaders of the different parties in this house to come forward and lay their hands in mine as a pledge."

BELGIAN RULER GROWS WARLIKE

In Address to Parliament He Calls on Belgians to Stand Firm.

Brussels, Aug. 4.—King Albert of the Belgians, presided today over a joint session of the Belgian senate and chamber of deputies. In the course of an address his majesty declared that never since 1830 had a graver situation confronted a neutral nation. He said it was imperative that every Belgian should do his duty and resign himself to every sacrifice that might be necessary in order to prevent the violation of Belgian soil.

The king proceeded:

"Our fatherland is in danger. Let me make an appeal to you my brothers. At this supreme hour the entire nation must be of one mind. I have called together the two houses of parliament so that they may support the government in declaring that we will maintain the sacred patriotism of our fathers. Long live independent Belgium!"

A scene of stirring enthusiasm followed. Deputies and senators stood and shouted in chorus the closing words of King Albert's speech.

Premier De Broqueville then made a statement as to Germany's ultimatum to Belgium, and the reply of Belgium, declaring that the government would not sacrifice the country's honor and that the nation would resist by every means in its power all encroachments on its rights. He added:

"The word is therefore 'to arms.' Upon this land of ours we shall not weaken and even if we are conquered we never shall submit. Belgium, supported by the united energy of her sons will not perish."

Another prolonged patriotic demonstration followed, the queen and her children, who were present, being loudly cheered.

M. Vanderville, the socialist leader, today joined the Belgian cabinet so that all political parties might be represented in the government.

GERMANY APPEALS TO ITALY.

Rome, Aug. 4.—Germany has made an appeal to Italy to stand with her according to Giornale D'Italia. The newspaper says the attention of the Italian government has been called to what Germany describes as hostile acts on the part of France, which the German government asserts constitute a case coming within the terms of the treaty of alliance even though on account of these acts the declaration of war came from Germany. The Giornale D'Italia says it understands the Italian government will not change its attitude of neutrality.

GERMANS MENACED NANCY.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The Temps published a resume of incidents on the Franco-German frontier. It says a number of German reconnoitering parties crossed the frontier with the object of ascertaining the strength of the French covering troops. It is assumed by the French military authorities that the Germans would have made a sudden attack in great force on Nancy if the French troops in the vicinity had been found in minor strength. While these reconnoisances were in progress the French troops kept within the three mile zone from the frontier.

VETERAN MACHINIST INJURED.

John Shuster, one of the veterans in point of service in the Pennsylvania machine shop, was thrown from his bicycle last evening while en route to his home out on the New Haven road. Mr. Shuster was born in 1846 and has worked in the Pennsylvania machine shop ever since 1869.

While at work in the Pennsylvania boiler shop yesterday afternoon, M. Wefel, one of the boilermakers, was struck in the side with a piece of pipe which fell from a scaffold at the side of a boiler. He was attended by the company's surgeon and then sent to his home.

MOULDER IS INJURED.

James Baughman, one of the car wheel moulders at the Bass works, sustained injuries to one of his feet at 5 o'clock last evening which will disable him for several days. A part of the machinery in the shop fell on the foot, bruising it. Dr. McEvoy, who attended the injured man, found no bones broken.

HAD FOOT INJURED.

A heavy wrench fell upon one of the feet of Machinist George VanHorn as he was at work in the Pennsylvania erecting shop yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The foot was bruised and particularly one of the toes, which may have sustained a fracture of a bone.

AFTER 50 YEARS THEY ARE WEDDED

War Separated Sweethearts and Each Married Another.

Kansas City, Aug. 4.—Sweethearts of long ago, separated and lost from each other for fifty years, each married in the meantime and parents of grown children, have met again and were married at 1517 Minnesota avenue, Kansas side. They are Gilbert L. King, of Ontario, Ore., and Mrs. L. Edna Gaylord, who lives here. Mr. King is 66 years old and Mrs. Gaylord is 64.

As a boy Mr. King attended school at the old log school house in Dodge county, Wisconsin, together with Miss Edna Stafford, now Mrs. Gaylord. He went to all the spelling bees and corn huskings with her and paired off with her for the kitchen dances. In 1864, when he was 16 years old, he joined the Third Wisconsin infantry as a private. After being mustered out, in 1865, he lost track of Miss Stafford, whose family had moved away.

Mr. King joined the throngs of workmen engaged in building the first transcontinental railroad, the Union Pacific. As a station agent he followed the progress of the line westward, changing his office as fast as the road progressed.

During the past thirty years Mr. King has been interested in politics in Oregon, holding public offices all that time. In 1897 he was judge of the district court at Ontario and in 1907 he was a member of the state legislature. He has now retired from public life and is devoting his interest to irrigation projects.

Two years ago Mr. King learned, through a sister, that his former sweetheart was living in Kansas City, Kas. He wrote to her. The marriage is the outcome.

Mr. King has reared a family of six children. His wife is the mother of three. It was a simple ceremony, only members of the family being invited. Mr. King will take his bride with him to live in Ontario.

What Are Loom Ends?

Every factory and mill in the manufacture of their product accumulates Mill Ends or Loom Ends, as they are commonly called. They are short ends from the looms, ½ yards to 10 yards in length. These short ends are laid aside until the end of the wearing season, then they are tied up in great bundles and disposed of by weight—so much for a hundred pounds instead of so much a yard, the price always being less than the actual cost of the raw material they are made from. LOOM ENDS accumulate in all mills, therefore careful buyers by a persistent system of buying can secure loom ends of every conceivable kind and piece of goods that is made.

PLUCKY SOLDIERS, FIGHTING TOOTH AND NAIL WHEN NECESSARY, ARE THE SERVIANS

Some of Their Wonderful Past Performances — Soldiers Who Want to Know Why.

No pluckier people live in the world than the Servians, who are about to give battle to the great Austrian empire. There are about 4,000,000 of them in Servia itself.

Back in the days of their old empire, five and six centuries ago, they showed pluck and terrific fighting ability when opposed by heavy odds.

But let us consider what they have done in the last 110 years. For over 400 years they had been under the heel of the Turk, when, in 1840, the Turkish soldiers, or Janissaries, perpetrated a general massacre.

Among those Servians who escaped was Black (Kara) George, who organizedguerilla warfare in the mountains. In a few days he had armed the nation with rude weapons—scythes and pitchforks for the most part—and won a series of victories by sudden onsets. He proceeded to win a pitched battle and capture fortresses.

The Janissaries submitted, and the sultan invited the Servians to return to their homes with his blessing. But Kara George required more than thanks, and failed to obtain satisfaction.

The result was an open breach, and a few thousand highlanders found themselves face to face with the whole force of the Ottoman empire. A pasha was sent to subdue them.

He regarded the expedition as a soft job and boasted that all he needed was a few ropes with which to bind insubordinate peasants, or a few woollen caps and pocket knives for their propitiation. He met the Servian vanguard, and before he knew where he was at, Kara George was upon him with 10,000 men. He was put to flight and died of shame shortly after.

The Turks now set to work seriously, and Kara George was soon reduced to guerilla warfare with only some 1,500 men. He harassed an army of 30,000 men from Bosnia, and at last gave it battle at Mishar on August 4, 1806. He seemed almost superhuman.

His colossal figure towered above his comrades, his voice thundered like a hurricane; all were carried away by the example of his courage. The Bosnians were practically annihilated, and only a few scattered fugitives contrived to struggle across the frontier. The Turks gave in, and Belgrade was taken by the Servians. In 1811 Kara George had emancipated his country and assured his position as ruler. In 1813 he was driven into exile.

But the pluck of the Servians sufficed to save their land. They rallied to a new leader, Milosh Obrenovitch, the founder of the late dynasty.

The old tactics were adopted, women, children and monks becoming sharpshooters behind every rock. Milosh was soon strong enough for a battle. A desperate hand-to-hand struggle ensued. When ammunition failed the Servians fought with their daggers, even with their nails and teeth, and secured victory after performing prodigies of valor. Soon they were able to encounter the pasha of Bosnia, and Milosh defeated him.

In 1876 they fought Turkey again and, though they suffered defeat, there was no sign of decay in their hereditary valor.

That defeat they paid the Turks with interest in the war of 1912. In 1913 they fought Bulgaria and inflicted a crushing defeat.

As every Servian has to go through his term of military service, the army may be regarded as the nation under arms. Nevertheless, they are by no means a surly, pugnacious crew. Foreigners living in Servia say that the soldiers are good-natured fellows who love a good time when not being hard worked.

On saints' days and other festivals officers relax and equality between them and the privates reigns.

After a religious ceremony at the barracks, where the colonel, the senior noncommissioned officer, the senior private and the chaplain broke a huge cake to the accompaniment of prayers and chants, the day was devoted to singing, dancing, eating and drinking.

It was a fine sight when about 150 men joined hands in one long coil and danced the national kolo, twisting in and out like an enormous serpent, wriggling ever faster and more furiously.

On the whole, discipline is fairly good in the Servian army, but the peasant soldiers often want to know reasons before obeying orders. This is only in keeping with the independent ideas of the people.

There is no doubt about their efficiency as modern soldiers.

An English expert who was present when the artillery marched past a review was most enthusiastic about its performance, which he described as magnificent.

He was also greatly impressed by a cavalry parade at Kragujevats. The gallop in line was beautiful in its symmetry, the wheeling had the precision of machinery, and the leaping was a very dainty performance. Most noticeable was the splendid physique of the soldiers, hardened as they are by life in the open air.

Their marching and staying powers are well above the average, and their general appearance is very smart. You never see a Servian soldier who is not spick and span. The cadets of the military academy are particularly to be commended in this respect.

NEED DOLLARS, NOT EUGENICS

Child Hygiene Expert is in Favor of Coming of Foreigners.

New York, Aug. 4.—Race suicide does not threaten the United States so long as foreigners continue to emigrate to this country, declares Dr. S. Josephine Baker, head of the city's bureau of child hygiene. Her statement is drawn out by the published fact that alien-born women i nthis city are bearing more children than their native-born sisters.

"There is nothing to make one feel pessimistic over the situation," Dr. Baker said. "There will be no race suicide in America so long as the foreigners continue to pour into our shores. Even without them I should not fear race suicide, because I believe people are as interested in babies as they ever were. In fact, they are more interested in them; they wish to give their children better advantages than they themselves had. That is why the families are smaller now.

"I can think of two very practical reasons why this circumstance should exist. They are:

"1. Economic pressure.

"2. The desire of every parent—an American desire—to give their children more education and better training than they had.

"The reason why economic pressure makes the New York woman's family smaller than that of her foreign sister is quite evident. People who have always lived a free, open, bucolic life, and who have produced with their own hands the things they eat and wear, always have larger families than the people who dwell in the cities.

"Most of the European peasants are of the type cited. They come to this country, settle in the cities, and the pressure at once becomes greater. Instead of growing their vegetables and weaving their own clothing, they have to buy them. What a dollar will do in Europe ten will hardly do here.

"Then it does not take the foreigner long to adopt the family habits of the average American. The father and mother come here with a large family. They see Mr. Smith's family just across the way, with the girls learning music and the boys going to the gymnasium. They wish their children to do these things.

"There are so many dollars and so many children. The way to make the dollars do more for one child is to decrease the number of children. It is a question of dollars, not eugenics.

"So the next generation of the foreign family will not have so many children, but the children will have better advantages.

"Today the average American family is made up of three children and the two parents. Figures collected among college people show these men and women have families averaging two children. The Italian family which comes to New York, on the other hand, averages six children.

"The fact that our native-born women are bearing fewer children than the foreign-born women is not only true here, but is universal. As civilization advances, the size of the family decreases. But this will be true only to a certain point. At present I can not see any danger of it becoming so menacing that it will result in race suicide."

HAVE NO CAUSE FOR JEALOUSY

Fears of Doctors' Suspicious Wives Groundless, Says Dr. Brown.

Berkeley, Cal., Aug. 4.—Discussing the Carman murder case, Mrs. G. Ver-

DR. WARREN BROWN.

Tyler, widow of a prominent New York physician, stated recently that thousands of wives of physicians can stretch out their hands in sympathy to Mrs. Carman, accused of the murder, and understand completely the pain she suffered.

Dr. Warner Brown, eminent psychologist and professor at the University of California here, says that doctors' wives have no grounds upon which to be jealous. He said:

"Sympathy, pills and plasters—they are all handed out with equal sangfroid by the doctor to his women patients.

"If a doctor be thrown into more direct touch with the same women, they are not therefore the more likely to justly arouse the jealousy of the doctor's wife. For a medico's viewpoint is so broad and his knowledge of both men and women so comprehensive that no situation is likely to arouse in him the slightest feeling. Doctors view their patients and their patients' complaints from a matter-of-fact angle. They are apt to be surfeited with the unusual to such a degree that it is no longer novel."

CHEROKEE'S DAYS AS TRIBE NEAR END

Will Become American Citizens When President Signs New Bill.

Washington, Aug. 4.—When the president signs the Indian appropriation bill the Cherokee tribe, the largest of the five civilized tribes of Indians, will be dissolved. Its members have already been merged into the white civilization of Oklahoma. In 1907, when the new state was formed, they became citizens of the state and of the nation.

To each of the 41,789 persons on the tribal rolls Mr. Cato Sells, commissioner of Indian affairs, will give $15 in cash, being their pro rata part of $600,000 of tribal funds in bank and in the hands of the government. The resignation of W. C. Rogers as principal chief has been asked for by Mr. Sells.

The Cherokees originally occupied the Appomattox basin of Virginia, but were driven southward into the Carolinas and Georgia and thence westward, when gold was discovered in their hunting grounds.

The task of converting the Cherokees from a tribal community into a body of individual landowners began in 1902, when they signed an agreement with the United States by which the government undertook to make complete rolls of all the tribesmen and divide the land and money among them.

The Curtis act, passed by congress in 1898, provided for the valuation and allotment of the lands of the five civilized tribes. In 1906 the legislative and judicial departments of the Cherokee nation passed out of existence, but the executive branch was kept up.

The task of dissolving the Cherokees, which might, in a general way, be compared with that of winding up the affairs of an immense estate, had by July 1 last progressed to such a degree that it only remained for the United States to execute a few deeds to small tracts of land. All community property has been converted into cash, and each Cherokee has received his allotment.

Agreements similar to that with the Cherokees were made with the Chickasaws, Choctaws, Creeks and Seminoles, and the work of winding up their affairs is now in progress. At its completion these four tribes also will be dissolved. The Creek and Seminole nations will be the next to cease to exist as tribal entities, possibly within a year. Thus a considerable part of the remnant of American Indians is gradually merging into the body of American citizenship.

DRINKER GIVES UP HIS PAROLE

Unable to Quit Liquor a Convict Goes Back to Prison.

Philadelphia, Aug. 4.—Mr. "Bob," an energetic little German, who is listed on the roster of the eastern penitentiary as No. 5297, is again occupying his old cell in the institution.

No. 5297 is a voluntary prisoner and may spend the next sixteen years within the close confines of the penitentiary. That he is happy and better off as a prisoner than he would be at large is the admission he makes. The story of Mr. "Bob" is perhaps the most remarkable that ever emanated from a penal institution in this country.

Briefly, Mr. "Bob" was paroled eight months after serving four years of a twenty years' sentence in the penitentiary. Last week he returned to the prison and surrendered. He had violated the conditions of the parole and insisted that he should be locked up. His wish was granted and the prison gates once more closed upon him.

After eight months of sobriety he fell. For four days he drank heavily. Then, fearing that he would murder his boy, who is 7 years old, he surrendered.

"There is a little manhood in me yet, warden," he said when taken back into the prison. "Old rum has got me again. It was the cause of my being here, you know, for four years. I killed my wife and paid the penalty. Society gave me another chance, but I failed to make the most of my opportunities.

"If I remain out and continue drinking, I will probably kill my boy or do something equally as bad. I am not bad, but merely need protection. Society protects me from whisky in prison, but fails to do anything for me on the outside.

"And there is another element that must be considered. The parole system has worked out well for hundreds of men, but suppose that I, while on parole, committed another murder. I would not only come back for life, but penologists might shake their heads and doubt the entire parole system. My case would be pointed out as an example. The old argument might be made that once a murderer, always a murderer. Then some good chap, who has more will power to fight rum and its influences, would be blocked from a parole if he was serving time for murder."

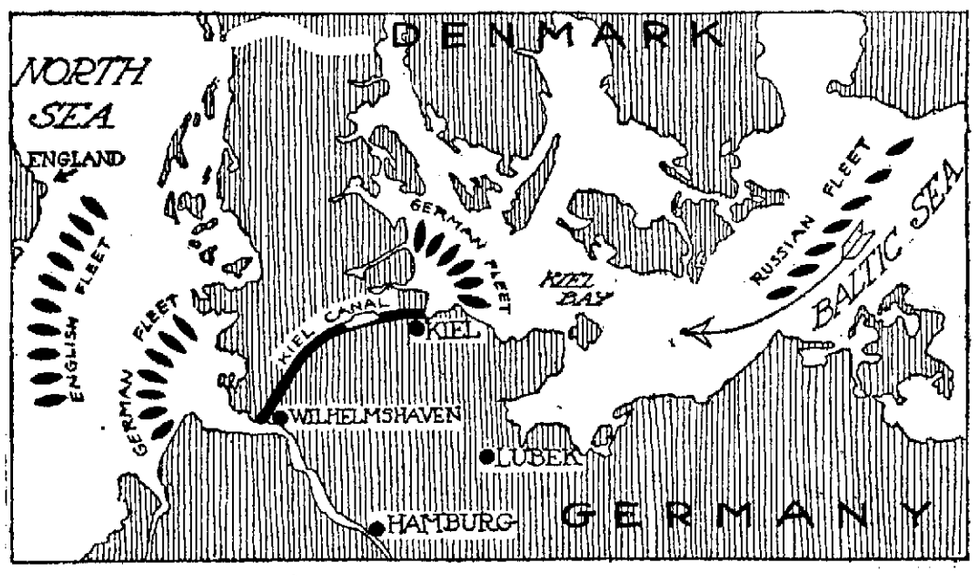
TERRIFIC AVAL BATTLE IMPENDS—ENGLAND'S AND GERMANY'S GREAT FLEETS FACE TO FACE.



The greatest naval battle in the world's history will be fought if the general war comes. England's fleet is the largest in the world. Germany's fleet is drawn up in two squadrons at either end of the Kiel canal. The eastern squadron is in the Elbe river near where that stream flows into the North sea. If the Elbe squadron is attacked by the English fleet in full force, the battleships over in Kiel bay can rush through the canal to help. If the English fleet sails all around Denmark and down to Kiel bay, the Elbe squadron can rush through the canal to help the other. The English would probably not attack in full force at either end.

Another probability would be a division of the big and strong English fleet, one squadron sailing around Denmark to Kiel bay and being joined for the battle by the Russian Baltic fleet, and the other squadron, reinforced by the French fleet, attacking simultaneously the German squadron in the Elbe.

TWO THOUSAND AERIAL FIGHTING SHIPS READY FOR BATTLE--PRESENT CONFLICT TO BE A WAR IN THE AIR

France Leads With 750 Aeroplanes and Dirigibles, Also Many Hydrogen Factories, Balloon Sheds, Aeroplane Camps—Germany's Air Fleet Numbers 500; Russia, 380; Italy, 200; Australia, 150; England, 130 — Terrible New Bombs from Krupp Works.

"I firmly believe that the battles in the future will be fought in the air."—General Leonard Wood, chief of staff, U. S. army.

2,110 AIRSHIPS PREPARING FOR WAR IN THE AIR.

Two thousand, one hundred and ten war aeroplanes and dirigibles owned by the six great powers of Europe are being made ready to go to war. With the exception of Germany and England, there would be little chance for sea fighting. Here is how the airships are divided:

France, 750; Germany, 500; Russia, 380; Italy, 200; Austria, 150; England, 130. Total, 2,110.

Will the present European conflict, providing the powers of the triple entente and the triple alliance are drawn into the maelstrom, be fought in the air?

A dispatch from Berlin says: "The war, if such, will be a war in the air. Two thousand, one hundred and ten aeroplanes and dirigibles, manned by trained army officers and owned by the six great powers, are being made ready for the great struggle—if the struggle comes to a fighting point."

France has 750 aerial warships, dirigibles with trained crews. Germany comes next with 500—perhaps more efficient than even the French airships and as capably manned with fighting men scientific aviators soldiers.

Russia comes third on the list of aerial armament with a fleet of 380. Italy has 200, Austria 150 and England 130.

This gives a total of over 2,000 airships, built on latest scientific military plans, ready to destroy each other in the air—to hurl death into cities and towns to play the role of army and navy scouts!

France for some time has lived in constant fear that the aeroplanes of the German army would some day fly over and bring destruction to her cities and fortresses. England has never permitted the fear to die that Germany would send her powerful fleet of death-dealing aeroplanes and dirigibles over to destroy and kill.

So, the nations have feverishly added to their fleets of the air to meet such an emergency.

Air fleets have been built more rapidly than battleships. Torpedo boats have been held back to give the workmen more time for aeroplanes. It would appear as if the time has now come to make a final test of the aircraft in time of war. Experts predict it.

The German and French nations on their respective frontiers have established aeroplane camps which offers the paradoxical appearance of inland naval bases.

France has taken these precautions at Toul, Verdun, Chalons Sur Marne, Bar Le Duc and Epinal. The French government has established factories for the production of hydrogen for dirigibles at Paris, Lille, Langres, etc. Huge aeroplane and dirigible sheds have been constructed at Rheims, Issy-Les-Moulineaux Pau and Moisson.

The French aerial budget for 1911 was $1,240,000. For 1913 it was estimated at $8,500,000.

In Germany, these preparations have been even more actively engaged in. Four huge military Zeppelins with full crews are kept almost constantly in the air, training themselves in the art of defense, experimenting in military tactics high up in the clouds.

The naval Z is stationed on the North Sea at Wilhelmshaven, Germany's chief point of defense in case of conflict with England. The Z 1 is at Koenigsberg, on the Russian frontier. Last year Germany added nine units to its fleet of air fighters. The number is being doubled at the present time. Germany has in her army corps 400 diploma pilots who are all highly skilled aviators and soldiers. Germany has spent nearly $8,000,000 within the last year on her aerial fleet, which has added chiefly to the strength of her dirigibles. T. R. MacMechen, noted expert and writer on aviation, said recently in Everybody's Magazine:

"Some morning England, perhaps, or France, or Germany, or some other European power, will open its eyes to find its capital and the rear of its armies menaced by hostile air fleets. It will then be called upon to decide whether to accept peace on ignominious terms, or destructive war with humiliating defeat almost certain. Its only hope of success will rest in its ability to summon, without loss of time, an air navy of its own sufficiently strong to destroy the enemy's or drive it across the border."

An exact science has now been made of bomb dropping from on high—gunners on the biggest battleships in the world are no more skillful in their work and in their precision than are the men who have studied the destruction of property and human life from a swaying airship.

From the Krupp factory there is now turned out a terrible fire-bomb that sheds a bright light, not only during its flight, but after it strikes the earth. It immediately ignites any inflammable material with which it comes in contact—its explosion is terrific.

A searchlight has been perfected which will suspend 500 feet below the airship so that the gunners are aided in directing their fire where it will do the most damage.

Another Krupp bomb explodes high in the air and destroys airships sailing below the ship from which it is thrown overboard. It also emits dense smoke which gives the aeroplane time to escape from return fire.

In recent aeroplane maneuvers in Germany, a torch was attached to a long wire and hung from a moving aeroplane. This firebrand dragged through towns and over sun-baked fields, starts a conflagration which burns up entire communities and subjects the invaders to but small danger.

Again, the issue of a battle may rest on the valuable information which aeroplanes are able to bring to headquarters.

In a few hours a fleet of air-dreadnoughts can sail to the center of France or England from the interior of Germany.

More damage can be done with the German aerial fleet in six hours than with the Germany navy in six weeks, according to experts.

BIG LOSS IN FARM FIRE.

Spontaneous Combustion Causes Blaze on Sorg Farm.

Spontaneous combustion in a mow of new hay is believed to be the cause of a blaze discovered at 8 o'clock Monday evening in the barn on the farm of Theodore Sorg, seven miles south of the city on the Winchester road. The structure was consumed with all its contents and it is estimated that the loss will exceed $3,000. Only $500 insurance was held on the building and its contents. Twelve hogs, a machine shed and a large store of hay and grain were lost in the flames and only a few horses and two buggies were saved. The farm is occupied by Joseph Barva.

The motor chemical of the city fire department made a run to the fire, but unable to save the building, the firemen devoted their efforts to keep the flames from communicating with the residence.

NEW PORTABLE SCHOOLS.

Board Hopes to Relieve Congestion at Opening of New Term.

In regular session Monday night members of the city school board ordered two portable school buildings, to be used at the opening of the coming term in relieving congestion anticipated because of the construction of two new schools. The new portables will be placed near the site of the old Harmer school, and when that building is completed they will be kept permanently by the board for future use in case of unexpected congestion. Each building is to contain one large room with suitable ventilation facilities.

Deputy Revenue Collector Thomas J. McLaughlin left Monday for Indianapolis where he will attend to some business.

Hard Times Parade Judges.

W. H. Rohan, of the Old National bank; B. J. Griswold, of the Fort Wayne Sentinel, and A. W. Heit, of the Heit-Miller-Lau company, are the judges who will select the prize winners in the Hard Times Parade on Woman's day, Wednesday, August 5th. Costumes will be picked out by number, as every participant in the parade will wear a numbered tag, three inches square, upon the left breast. These numbered tags will greatly facilitate the judges' work. Each judge will work independently of the other and after having listed such numbered costumes as he thinks most worthy as prize winners, the three judges will then compare notes and make their decision. These numbered tags will be furnished by Manager Williams at the Bijou building and should be put on by the wearers as soon as the park is reached because the judges will be upon the ground at 2:00 p. m. Messrs. Rohan, Griswold and Heit will also select the prize winners among the Robison park employes.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Wheat advanced sharply today as a result of improved prospects for a speedy renewal of exports to Europe. The course of the British government in guaranteeing war risks on shipments from this country was supplemented by similar action on the part of importing firms in Germany.

The close, nevertheless, was strong and 2½@2¾c net higher on account of late reports of export buying.

The opening, which ranged from ½c lower to ¼@⅝c higher, was followed by a rise of 2¾c to 3⅝c compared with last night's. September touched as high as 90c, December 91c and May $1.

Closing prices were strong, 2¾c to 2⅝c above last night.

Hot dry weather threatening serious crop damage lifted corn. After starting ⅛c to ⅞c higher, prices continued to ascend, and in some cases gained as much as 3½c, September reaching 70c.

Although oats opened lower under pressure of hedging, a substantial advance ensued. The cause was sympathy with the bullish course of other grain.

Provisions rallied moderately from yesterday's depression. It was freely predicted that the decline in hog prices would cut down receipts and lead to a scarcity of provisions, especially meats.

CLAIM CONTROL OF NEXT HOUSE

Republican Chairmen of Seven States Meet in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Republican state chairmen in seven states in conference here issued a statement last night predicting republican gains this year in their states big enough to give control of congress to the republicans if the same ratio were to prevail throughout the country.

The conference was called by Will H. Hays, chairman for Indiana. The others present were T. J. Sherrard, of West Virginia, W. L. Parmenter, of Ohio, Roy O. West, of Illinois, A. J. Groesbeck, of Michigan, E. J. Dithmar, of Wisconsin, and Charles A. Rawson, of Iowa. The state chairman of Missouri was absent because of the primary in his state.

The democratic tariff bill was attacked in the statement.

WOMEN ARE VOTING.

Kansas Is Holding Its Fourth State-Wide Primary.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 4.—Kansas is holding its fourth state-wide primary today. Women are voting for all offices for the first time. The names of 300,000 of them are upon the poll books and they are represented by several state and congressional candidates. The women's organizations have forced every candidate to declare himself on national prohibition and national suffrage.

An unusual feature was the fact that candidates for the supreme and district courts ran on a non-partisan ticket and a woman, Mrs. Lizzie S. Sheldon, of Lawrence, appeared as a candidate for justice of the supreme court. Congressman Victor Murdock, of Wichita, is the progressive candidate for United States senator, and Henry J. Allen heads the ticket for governor.

Joseph L. Brostow is having strong opposition in the republican primaries in his effort to return to the United States senate. Charles Curtis, of Topeka, A. M. Harvey, of Topeka, and H. H. Tucker, of Kansas City, oppose him.

Seven democrats seek the senatorial nomination.

George H. Hodges has no opposition for renomination as a democrat for governor, nor has Arthur Capper, of Topeka, for the same office as a republican.

SUBURBAN PROPERTIES, located at station stops on interurbans out of Fort Wayne is my special business. Its history that no real estate grows in value more rapidly than interurban stuff close to a live city. The interurban will get you out and in just as quick as your city car will get you home. Your tract will raise more than your living, your taxes and upkeep will not eat you up. Get your money into stuff that'll befriend you when old age and adversity overtakes you. I'll sell you 5 acres at $1,000, 10 acres at $1,500, and so on, just about the price you'll have to pay for a good city lot. I have three beautiful tracts with new buildings, extra fine locations, ready for sale now at very attractive prices. Let's talk it over together.
